GREAT BATTLE FOR RIVER LINE HAS BEGUN

INVADERS OF ITALY FIGHTING TO CROSS THE TAGLIAMENTO

Austro-German Forces Lose No Time
In Opening Battle to Smash
Cadorna's New Line.

ALLIES PLAN BIG COUNTER OFFENSIVE

(By The Associated Press.)
The battle of the Tagliamento has been begun by the artillery. The Austro-German invaders of northern Italy have opened fire from the easily side of the river upon General Cadorna's position on the westerly bank of the stream, to which the Italian armies have effected a retreat during the ten days that have elapsed since their Isonzo front was broken.

Cadorna's artillery is replying, Rome announces today, and the struggle for the river line is on.

Apparently the Teutonic attempt to force a crossing of the stream is not to be long delayed. The Italian statement announces the advance of Austro-German patrols from the main enemy positions to the river bank. They were met there by Italian machine gun fire and repulsed. Uncertainty exists, however, as to whether the Italian high command has planned a definite stand on the Tagliamento line or if merely a delaying action is intended to afford time for preparation of a stronger line at the Livense, ten to fifteen miles further west, or at the Piave, approximately twenty-five miles from the Tagliamento. The next day or two seems likely to resolve this doubt.

FOE REACHES BANKS.

Rome, Nov. 2.—Austro-German patrols have advanced to the banks of the Tagliamento river, along which the Italians are making a stand. The war office announces that these patrols were repulsed.

A COUNTER OFFENSIVE.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Thursday, Nov. 1.—Italian and allied troops are preparing for a counter offensive. A great battle based on the line of the Tagliamento is forecast. Not only is the main body of the Italian army intact after having dealt several blows to the enemy, but it is now apparent that the Italians have thwarted the Austro-German plan of encircling the third army on the Carso, thereby cutting off the flower of the forces in this region, rendering the Venetian plains defenseless and

NO THOUGHT OF QUITTING FIGHT

Needs Help and America is the Nation That Can Best Extend It.

Petrograd, Thursday, Nov. 1.—In view of reports reaching Petrograd that the impression was spreading abroad that Russia was virtually out of the war, Premier Kerensky discussed the present condition of the country frankly today with the Associated Press. He said Russia was worn out by the long strain, but that it was ridiculous to say the country was out of the war.

The premier referred to the years in which Russia had fought her own campaign alone, with no such assistance as has been extended to France. He said he felt help was needed urgently and that Russia asked it as her

AMERICANS GIVE GERMAN SNIPERS STRAIGHT SHOTS

With the American Army in France, Nov. 2.—(By The Associated Press.)—Some of the American soldiers who have just been in the trenches had thrilling stories to tell on returning to the billets. On clear days, especially, German snipers became active. Bullets were singing harmlessly overhead. American infantrymen were told off to attend to any sniper who became active and more than one of them will snipe Americans no more.

This game of sniping the sniper was highly popular. The only complaint heard today was that there was not enough rifle shooting to satisfy the infantrymen. Several of the soldiers said they went out to fight, but did not get enough. There is no scarcity of expert riflemen when a sniper starts in. A colonel had an exciting experience when the Germans nearly got the range of an observation post in which he and his aide were. They lost no time in taking temporary cover.

The artillery on both sides was rather more active during the last days in which the first contingent of Americans was in the trenches. The Germans shelled the back areas and approached, putting shrapnel and high explosive shells in the direction of the American positions. Aside from the sniping, however, no serious fighting was going on.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Official tabulation of reports at headquarters on the food pledge week campaign show that more than 4,000,000 American women have signed the card pledging themselves to conserve food. There are still eight states that have not reported and in those cases where results have been received they are far from complete and in but few instances include any of the country districts.

Indiana reports the largest number of cards signed since the latest tabulation, 37,225. This gives her the highest enrollment of all the states that have reported so far, 147,493. Michigan ranks second in the total of enrollments reported, with 146,645, and California is third with 132,659. The total number of pledges recorded—

Summary of the Day's War News

Russia is worn out by the strain of the war and now looks to the other allies for help. This is Premier Kerensky's opinion of Russia's situation after seven months in attempting reorganization and regeneration.

But Russia is not out of the war. Kerensky declares she began the fighting and is now taking an enormous part in it. The newest republic however, claims as her right that the other allies should shoulder the burden of the war.

The recent German successes in the Gulf of Riga when the Russian fleet was unable to withstand the superior German naval forces, Russia's premier declared, is causing the Russian people to ask why the British fleet has not come to Russia's assistance. Great Britain's fleet was not sent to assist Russia, Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, said to the house of commons, Thursday, because of the time involved and the extensive mine fields scattered in its path from the North sea to the Baltic. The unanimous opinion of responsible naval authorities was that the step should not be taken.

General Cadorna's forces are now behind the Tagliamento river from the Carnic Alps to the head of the Adriatic while the invading Austro-Germans have reached the eastern bank. Important bridgeheads on a front of thirty miles along the river from Pinzano to Latsana have been captured by the invaders.

Official statements do not indicate that the German forces have yet crossed the river, which is reported to be above normal height because of fresh rains. Nor is it certain the Italian army will make a determined stand on the eastern bank, although that

With over five hundred people working hard to make a great patriotic, artistic success of the University club's big show, "The Army and Navy," next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at the Majestic, everything is in ship shape—provided the thoughtful, loyal people of Fort Wayne and the surrounding territory awaken to the opportunity which the event affords.

The show of the affair is just beginning to dawn upon the people as they realize the immensity of the task and the patriotic impulse back of it all, for not only are the participants giving freely of their time and energies, but all of the net proceeds are to be placed in the University club's war relief funds to be expended only under the direction of the Allen county council of defense.

First Ensemble Rehearsal.
Beginning Monday night the entire cast will come together for the first ensemble rehearsal, when the entire action will take place. Then, on Tuesday evening, the first dress rehearsal, this to be repeated on Wednesday night, all preparatory to the opening production on the following night.

Nearly every church, club and patriotic organization in Fort Wayne is contributing to the talent in "The Army and Navy." The array of talent includes many who have found it a delight to employ their talents freely in the varied requirements of the piece. Those who sing have found a plenty to do; those who dance are pleased with the opportunity which the production affords; those who have talent along comedy lines are given the opportunity to "show off," those with serious dramatic tendencies are given the more dignified characters; football enthusiasts are given a chance to reflect the real spirit of their favorite game; cadets are given an opportunity to show their colors, and all are united in an opportunity to display in

UNITED STATES AND ALLIES YET TRUST IN SLAYS

New Loan Granted and Full Confidence Is Expressed in Washington That New Republic Will Hold.

DO NOT BELIEVE RUSSIA IS OUT OF WAR

Washington, Nov. 2.—Premier Kerensky's warning that Russia's allies will have to bear her burden of the conflict while the war-weary nation regains its strength, exhausted in three years of fighting enemies without and within, has aroused new expressions of confidence in Russia's future and assurances of support from the United States government and the representatives of all the allies.

The Russian embassy made the premier's statement of Russia's position the occasion to reiterate that she has no intention of quitting the war and the state department in an authorized announcement declared that in no way could the premier's statement mean that Russia seeks a separate peace.

Another mark of confidence in the Russian government, the treasury today authorized the immediate advance of $31,700,000.

This would bring the total actually paid the Russian government out of credits previously authorized up to $190,900,000.

Russia's Credits to Remain.
Credits totaling $225,000,000 to Russia have been authorized by the treasury. In addition today's transaction, there remains available for Russia here $134,100,000. Apparently there is no intention to withdraw any of the unexpended credits. Indications are that the attitude of the American government toward Russia so far as the extension of financial aid is concerned, is unchanged by Premier Kerensky's statement.

The last credit given Russia by the government was $50,000,000 October 12. Two credits, the first $175,000,000, the second $100,000,000, had been authorized previously to meet expenditures of the Russian government in the United States for munitions, clothing, railroad equipment and other supplies bought here. The credit is being withdrawn in comparatively small installments. Withdrawals today by the Russian government are as follows: July 8, $25,000,000; July 13, $10,000,000; August 1, $2,000,000; August 23, $2,500,000; August 29, $37,500,000; August 30, $10,000,000; September 2, $15,000,000; October 20, $22,200,000; October 21, $20,000,000.

Russia's Plight Understood.
It was said that it is clearly understood among the entente allies that Russia being exhausted by the great efforts she already has made, she will not be expected for the present to do more than hold on her present lines. Even further inroads from Germany, it was said, would not seriously impair Russia's military power.

Some of the entente diplomatic representatives declare it should not need Kerensky's assertion that Russia would continue the war to establish that fact. From every responsible party in Russia except the extreme Bolshevik element has come the pronounced declaration that Russia would

ANOTHER MUTINY IN BIG GERMAN FLEET BLOODY IN RESULT

London, Nov. 2.—Three officers and a number of sailors of the German navy were killed in another mutiny at Kiel early in September, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam, according to the Daily Express which claims to have authentic details. The outbreak occurred aboard the battleships Kronprinz and Schleswig-Holstein and started when they revolted against being drafted into the submarine service.

The sailors on the Kronprinz threw Admiral Schmidt overboard and stabbed and threw overboard Lieutenant Raoul, the admiral's aide, and another officer. A battle on the ship's deck between the officers and sailors followed. Three officers and a number of sailors were killed. Similar scenes occurred on the Schleswig-Holstein.

Admiral Schmidt was rescued but it was necessary for him to leave Kiel. All the surviving officers were arrested.

25,293 tons and was built in 1905. Her complement is 1,160 men. The Schleswig-Holstein was completed in 1906 and measures 13,000 tons. She carries 729 men.

Vice Admiral von Capelle, German minister of marine, announced in the Reichstag on October 9 the discovery of a plot in the German navy. Dispatches from Amsterdam and London reported that the crews of four battleships of the German fleet had taken part in a mutinous outbreak at Wilhelmshaven. Three of the ringleaders were shot while heavy sentences were imposed on the others. This outbreak was said to have occurred about six weeks earlier, or about the first of September. Admiral von Capelle accused three radical seamen of taking part in the plot. The seamen were said to have been members of the German navy.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICE IN SWIRL OF RUSH

Three Hundred and Twenty-One Jobs Secured During Week.

One of the busiest offices in the court house at this time is the Fort Wayne branch of the Indiana free employment. Hundreds of calls for men to carry on outside labor are being turned in at the office.

Reason for the exceptional activities at the employment office is that many men are seeking inside work for winter, leaving the jobs, which call for labor out in the open, without owners. There are nearly as many men hunting the new positions as there are vacancies.

General Smuts, addressing an audience of 6,000 at Sheffield, declared that there was no necessity of carrying the war on until the Kaiser was doomed; that peace should come first and then settlement of the German emperor's case. In some quarters this statement of General Smuts is criticized as being too lenient.

WORLD'S EYES ARE ON ITALY

Danger of Italian Revolution and Overthrow of King Victor.

WASHINGTON SEES
THE PERIL OF IT

One of Lord Northcliffe's Correspondents Says
Allies Need Head.

(Special Dispatch from Gilson Gardner, of our Washington Bureau.)
Washington, Nov. 2.—The next nation in line for a revolution and the removal of its king may be Italy, according to advice received here.
This prospect has been made more

VICTOR IMMANUEL III.

imminent by the military developments culminating in the big success of the Germans in their drive under von Mackensen.

Hamilton Fyfe, of the London Daily Mail, who has been on all the fighting fronts, but most recently on the Italian front, brings this interesting information from that quarter. This well known war correspondent who is in Washington on a visit with Lord Northcliffe, says:

"I think as great a danger as the military is the political danger. We ought to be prepared to face the possibility of serious disturbances in Italy.
There has always been a section of the Italian people opposed to the war.
This section was led before Italy came in by Giolitti, one of the most forceful of Italian politicians. He has never ceased to work secretly along the lines he was following before Italy's intervention. His most active following consists of the socialists in the great cities. In Turin they are particularly active, and in Turin there has been bad rioting more than once.
About six weeks ago food became scarce, bread lines had to be formed, and trouble broke out which had to be put down by military measures.

"The losses suffered by the Italians have been very heavy. In their spring offensives this year casualties were put as high as 140,000. In the army it was said that 15,000 were killed.

"The latest push they made cost them very dear, and now they have lost not only the ground gained, but much more. This in a military sense is not of great importance, so long as the armies can detach themselves and hold together in good order. But the disaffected in the rear will make the most of the losses and will ask: Is it worth while going on?"

"The feeling of the Italian army, so far as I could judge it, was excellent.
Fewer complaints would be heard of Italians 'marking time,' if those who made them could have paid the visits sent I paid to their advanced positions along the mountain fronts.

"To reach the advanced positions
I had to climb a certain sector 10,000 feet high on the snow ridge between Italy and Austria. I was obliged first to motor about fifty miles up to the head of a valley, then I was taken up in five successive 'telefericas.' These are wire ropes stretched at an angle of say 45 degrees up the mountains. The cage carried on these wire ropes, a box suggestive of a coffin, holds two men, or the equivalent weight in supplies.

"The last of these telefericas brought us to the region of eternal snow. I crossed a glacier in dog sleighs; then I arrived at the headquarters of the battalion holding the positions we were to visit.

"From headquarters to the positions we tramped through the snow between two and three miles, then we came to the trenches, made of snow and ice.

"Everything the men needed, not only for food and munitions, but everything of wood or metal, had to be brought up the way we had come.

"What has happened now is a repetition of the strategy followed by General von Mackensen in breaking through the Russian front on the river Dunajec, in Polish Galicia, in May, 1915, and in Rumania last autumn. I was in Russia for the first of these offensives and in Rumania for the second.
Much of his success was due to the fact the very name of Germans instilled into the opposing troops. No doubt something of this fear was also felt by the Italian troops, who have always stood up against the Austrians, and felt no doubt of their ability to beat them. The Germans have created a tradition that on all fronts except the French and British it has been of great value to them.

"General Cadorna has no doubt already taken the necessary precautions for stemming the advance. He was at one time, I happen to know, in favor of letting the enemy come down into the Italian plain. He thought his army would be in a better position if they did so. He would have been able to harass their long lines of communication, with his own base only a short distance away. This plan, however, he was not able to carry out. There was fear the presence of the enemy on Italian soil might cause internal troubles. That is the greatest peril
now. No doubt the socialists will make

AROUND THE TOWN WITH HOSEY—A 6.

Candidate Cutshall's newspaper mouthpiece seeks a mitigation of its man's teasing Mayor Hosey for office four years ago by offering that he believed in the sincerity of Mayor Hosey's promises.

That is a minor point, if it be a point at all. Mayor Hosey's record of public service and not Mayor Hosey's promises had made the deeper impression on Mr. Cutshall. In his letter to Mayor Hosey soliciting appointment to the comptrollership in the Hosey administration did Mr. Cutshall not say he had "in mind the progressive spirit with which you have conducted public affairs in the past?"

Of verity he did say that. Example is always stronger and more impressive than a promise. And it was the example that Mr. Hosey had given to Mr. Cutshall that moved him to write his letter asking for office with the mayor-elect.

Mr. Cutshall, moreover, says nothing about promises. He does not say "I have faith in your campaign statements; I do not doubt the good faith of your pledges; I am convinced of your sincerity."

What Mr. Cutshall says is wholly of and for himself in respect of Mayor Hosey. "I believe it is your ambition to give Fort Wayne the best administration it ever had."

Even that should not be separated from its context for it is an inseparable part of that declaration of Mr. Cutshall's letter by which he attempts to justify his curious pleading for office. Together it reads:

"Having in mind the progressive spirit with which you have conducted public affairs in the past and believing that your ambition is to give Fort Wayne the best administration it ever had," and so on and so forth, down to the end, where Mr. Cutshall gives Mayor Hosey to understand that in the municipal election then but recently held he had given his support to Mr. Hosey.

Neither Mr. Cutshall nor his newspaper organ can mutilate the sense, distort the meaning or confuse or conceal the clear purport of Mr. Cutshall's letter to Mayor Hosey. Their interpretations of it amount to nothing and excuse nothing, even as their detractions of Mayor Hosey carry no weight against the eulogy pronounced, the tribute paid and the good faith accepted by Mr. Cutshall as the proper due and just desert of the man he and his organ now declare to be anathema.

The relation and importance of all this to the campaign is that Mr. Cutshall and his organ have sought to create a false issue. They have persisted in an effort to bamboozle this public. They have stubbornly insisted that the campaign turns upon the question of Mayor Hosey's administration. Mr. Cutshall's letter exposes and confounds the insincerity and hypocrisy of their whole pretension. It cannot be explained away. It cannot be mitigated. What is written is written.

WHAT IS MEANT?

Candidate Cutshall's announcement several days ago that he purposed if elected to establish a complete city monopoly of the electric light and power field in Fort Wayne has left the public cold and has stricken his organ to silence on that issue.

The only response of the people to the declaration is a deep and painful misgiving. It goes far to confirm rumors which for months have been bruited about Fort Wayne that underlying and back of Mr. Cutshall's candidacy is a cunningly laid scheme to unload upon the people of the city the light and power interests of the city's competitor.

Why is this question suddenly thrust by Mr. Cutshall into the campaign almost at its close and permitted to go without plain discussion by Mr. Cutshall and his organ? What is there enveloped by Mr. Cutshall's singular announcement from which the concealments are not to be stripped? The people want to know about this.

For almost twenty years it has been the policy of the democratic party in Fort Wayne to cherish the ideal of a public in place of a private monopoly of the city's electric utilities. Toward that goal way has been steadily made during the nine years that the democracy has had, either in administration or in the city council, uninterrupted guardianship of the municipal lighting plant. It has been the repeated declaration of Mayor Hosey that competition between the city and a private concern was an anomaly toward the extinction of which the public policy must constantly be pressed. A great advancement in that direction has been made. Rapid progress toward full attainment of the purpose depends only on the city's success in gaining freedom to pursue its own untrammelled way. The end of the fight for this field is now in sight.

So the question arises as to what processes Mr. Cutshall has in mind for immediate attainment of that goal. He speaks with a positiveness and an absence of qualification that lead to but the one conclusion and that is that the program is made up, the arrangements tentatively completed, the consummation at hand awaiting upon no chance save his own election.

Is that the idea? Is the city now to purchase a field it already practically has won? Do we not believe the people of Fort Wayne have any notion of sinking their much-needed money in an investment of that sort.

A FRIEND OF THE CITY PLANT?

Candidate Cutshall's newspaper submits this as having some force of argument:

If Mr. Cutshall as controller had not made a splendid showing in the management of the city light plant, do you suppose for a moment that Mr. Bayer, the light plant's ardent champion, would have wanted him continued in that capacity? You know mighty well he wouldn't. There is a better way of putting the question.

If Mr. Cutshall had been or if Mr. Cutshall were now a sincere friend of the municipal lighting enterprise, does any one suppose that his newspaper organ would be his champion? Not on your life.

The most implacable and consistent foe the city electric lighting plant has or has ever had is Mr. Cutshall's organ and its editor. This is not epithet. It is a notorious fact of recorded history.

Twelve years ago, when the overshadowing issue of the municipal campaign was that the people should then determine whether or not the preparation for a municipal lighting plant should be realized in the next administration Mr. Cutshall's organ fought it with desperation, denounced the project and ridiculed those who believed in it.

Never since that time has Mr. Cutshall's organ ceased its hostility to the city plant. Never in all these twelve years just past has its enmity to the city enterprise been more implacable or effectual than during this year of 1917.

It was Mr. Cutshall's organ that set itself the high task to defeat the Fort Wayne relief bill in the last legislature, when that measure for giving the people of this city lower electric rates was put to death. The man who under cover launched a torpedo against that splendid bill that would have saved the people of this city many thousands of dollars even by this time was Mr. Jesse A. Greene, president of the News Publishing company and editor-in-chief of the Fort Wayne News, Mr. Cutshall's organ.

That is the reason the people of Fort Wayne—patrons of city current and traction current alike—are today paying 15 per cent more for their electric current than there would be need to pay had that bill passed, as it would have passed, save for Mr. Greene's hostile activity.

Yet, this is the source from which issues the strongest endorsement Mr. Cutshall gets that he is the man of all others with whom to entrust the future and the fate of the Fort Wayne people's million-dollar lighting enterprise.

If it is upon the word of such a friend of the city lighting plant that the people of Fort Wayne are going to take Mr. Cutshall in good faith, heaven save their interests, for they are not themselves looking out for their own welfare.

There is a deal of comfort in the statement made in the house of commons yesterday by the first lord of the British admiralty that since the beginning of the war approximately half of the kaiser's submarine boats have been sunk. That argues fine progress and the coming of a day when the undersea menace will be completely met.

Italy is hard pressed and in desperate straits, but so was France in the early days of the war. Italy's soldiers are as good as the kaiser's and they are now defending their own soil. That ought to multiply Cadorna's army by at least two.

The success of the city lighting plant has been not because but in spite of its enemies. Remember that when you vote.

SPAGHETTI

Shall Draft Age Be Raised to 40?

By MILTON BRONNER.

Shall the present selective conscription act be amended? Shall the ages of those subject to its operations be revised both upward and downward? These are to be among the big questions argued as soon as congress assemblies for its regular session in December. Congressman Julius Kahn has announced his intention of proposing an amendment to compel the registration of all citizens from 18 to 40, inclusive, giving America a reserve of 21,000,000 to draw upon. The present ages are from 21 to 31.

The war department's original plan was for men from 18 to 25. There was objection to taking those who did not yet have a vote, and congress amended the act to make it read from 21 to 40. Then there was objection that between the ages of 31 and 40 a vast majority of men had dependent families. So the present figures were finally reached.

Right after Kahn announced his intention of proposing an amendment in December, it was stated that Secretary of War Baker was opposed to any change. Kahn wired back from California that at least part of his amendment was misunderstood. He does not mean that boys of 18 to 21 shall be sent into the trenches, but he does want them registered and given preliminary training, so that when they become 21 they will be ready to take their place in the fighting lines. He also said that no man over 31 would be called for active service until those in the present draft limits had all been called upon for examination and possible service.

"We must make preparations," said Kahn, "as if the war were going to last forever. That will be the sure way to bring the war to a successful end and to establish a peace that will last."

Major General Crowder, provost marshal of the army, who drew up the practical working arrangements for the draft, said to The Sentinel representative:

"I have no official opinion to voice on the question of raising the age limit above 30 years. As a practical matter, it is not necessary to raise the age limit. We have a great reservoir still untapped in the men between 21 and 31. We examined only a little more than two million out of the ten million registered in the age limit. Our army of over 600,000, and all we have to do is to go on and examine the other eight million."

"The statistics of the draft have not yet been compiled, but it is easy to guess that between the ages of 26 and 31 the causes for exemption are more numerous."

"Matrimony is not the most favorable institution for creation of an army; wives and home ties form an antagonistic interest to army work. The younger men have fewer of these ties. There may be good reasons for discussing an increase in the age limit. I have no doubt Congressman Kahn has excellent reason for introducing his proposal."

OUR LIFE LOSES ITS HONEY WHEN HOOVER CUTS OUR CANDY BILL

By HARRY B. HUNT.

Miss Matinee Girl has fallen a victim to the horrors of war. Most, if not all, of the sweetness has gone out of her life, not to return until peace is declared.

The bombshell that has wrecked her happiness is Herbert Hoover's drastic restriction of the use of sugar for candy. Sugar is imperatively needed for our soldiers and the soldiers of our allies. The old American maxim of "women and children first" has been cast aside by the necessities of war, and "our soldiers first" substituted—where sugar is concerned.

So no more may Miss Matinee Girl munch her chocolates in peace while her hero thwarts the villain to the accompaniment of shivery music. She is to be made to feel that every confection she eats is so much sugar snatched from some suffering soldier. The injunction "save the sugar" is, for her, amended to read "cut the candy."

Kisses, other than the osculatory sort, are almost treasurable. For those who hold that a candy kiss or two, or a chocolate drop more or less, means nothing in the final outcome of the war, the following facts are presented:

Uncle Sam's candy bill—of which Miss Matinee Girl pays a large part—is about two-thirds as large as the total expenditure in this country for butter; just a little less than one-third our total wheat-flour business; slightly larger than our total expenditures for canned and preserved fruits and vegetables; and about two-thirds as much as our total bakery business.

In 1914 we spent for confectionery $161,226,458. Last year this amounted to $200,000,000, and this year we have been spending at the same rate. On the basis of a wholesale cost of 16 2-3 cents per pound, it is estimated we have been consuming some 1,200,000,000 pounds of candy yearly.

If this candy is 50 per cent sugar, then 600,000,000 pounds of sugar have been directly used in candies—or 300,000 tons.

When we consider that Italy's advance of sugar, for all necessary uses, for both her soldiers and her civil population, is only 15,000 tons per month or 180,000 tons per year, we begin to realize just how vital suguse of 300,000 tons for candy alone may affect the outcome of the war. The above figures are ultra-conservative. Estimates made by government statisticians place the total of our sugar used in candies as high as 500,000 tons.

Our total consumption of sugar last year was 4,977,640 tons. On the basis of 500,000 tons for candy, we used almost one-eighth of our total sugar supply in this form.

The reduction of candy consumption is necessary. Hoover is going to enforce it. As a war measure, it is probable not more than 100,000 tons of sugar will be permitted to be used in confections the next year.

TIME TO USE TEETH.

(Gary, Ind., Tribune.)

All at once this sugar famine comes. Why? A dispatch from Buffalo told one of the reasons. Federal agents had found stores in Buffalo warehouses some 10,000,000 pounds of sugar. If that amount is stored at Buffalo, more sugar is stored elsewhere.

It has seemed to us from the start that the sugar famine, like others we have had in America, was manufactured. Speculators store immense quantities and then up goes the price. It was that way with eggs. Untold quantities of eggs were stored, and price marked up. The secret came out when the speculators were unable to sell their stored eggs and tried to dispose of them to the government for the soldiers at 10 per cent profit, mind you.

If there is any teeth in the food regulation law we trust they will be shown in the manufactured famine on sugar. The administration got what it asked from congress in the way of food regulation laws. Now let the nation see what those laws are good for.

IN RED BURIAL BLENT?

(Boston Transcript.)

"The Turks," says Rev. Dr. Van Allen, "should go down with the kaiser." They certainly should, for they have been holding back the development of the fairest region of Europe for five hundred years. They are a back number in Europe, and they have richly earned complete expulsion now by the barbarities which they have practiced since this war began. When the sultan aided with Germany in the war there was much astonishment in western Europe, where the Ottomans' obligation to England and France for their very existence was remembered. But there should have been no such astonishment. Turkey represents medievalism, absolutism, tyranny in Europe. The progress of enlightenment and democracy threatened all this. Naturally when the final struggle came on in Europe between the forces of the past and of the future, between absolutism and freedom, Turkey promptly took her place with absolutism and tyranny—that is to say, with the German and Austrian emperors. Allied with tyranny, Turkey has behaved in this war in constant harmony with her most barbarous traditions. Nothing can save her now but the triumph of the central empires, which is impossible. It used to be said that the Turk must "get out of Europe." Not only will he have to get out of Europe when the war is over, but there will be no place left for him in Asia.

FORECAST OF EVENTS IN THE BALKANS.

(Pittsburg Gazette.)

The forecast of large events impending in the Balkans is inspiring. The Italians have a right to expect their allies to exert pressure on Austria and a drive of such an army as was described by the semi-official authority in Washington might have the desired effect. No doubt the Italians would have gained much more than they have if the Russian collapse had not released Austrian troops for use against them. As it is, unless the Austrians are able to perform a miracle, they can not offer much resistance in Serbia without greatly weakening their Italian lines. Winter will bring them a respite from Italy, but a great ally push in the Balkans within the next two months would prevent their renewing their strength for resisting the Italian next spring.

A campaign that would clear Serbia of the enemy and enable the Serbs to re-establish a government on their own soil would have a psychological effect highly favorable to the ally cause. The Serbs expect to wrest their land from Austria and have stated they expect it before hostilities are suspended for a discussion of peace terms. They are afraid if Austria is permitted to come to a peace council with conquered Serbia as a pawn they may be worsted in the diplomatic encounter. To reconquer Serbia is an aim of the allied campaign ought to be realized as soon as possible.

Judge R. S. Taylor and Capt. Allen Douglall went to Indianapolis to attend the funeral of Mrs. Benjamin Harrison.

Dick Townsend returned last evening from Decatur, Ind., where he is building one of the finest little hotels in the state.

Last night's storm was a very severe one and much damage was done from the high wind it is reported from various parts of the city and county. The first snowstorm of the season is reported to have fallen between Chester town and Durham. It was reported by the Lake Shore company. Snow was reported in this county on Tuesday.

An exceedingly mysterious case of poisoning is reported in the family of William Mazelin, a German, living in a settlement some few miles southeast of this city and not far from Bluffton. It seems that the other morning, Fannie, the 15-year-old daughter, prepared breakfast. After the meal, which was partaken of heartily by all the household, the mother, two daughters and a son became alarmingly ill. Medical aid was summoned, but before it arrived Fannie died in terrible agony. The next morning the mother followed, meeting the same fate. The other daughter and the son were not so badly affected by the poison and will recover. The illness and death is attributed to corrosive sublimate poisoning, but in what manner it found its way into the food is unknown. The family has no enemies so far as is known. The coroner is investigating.

Lash, being the only persons present, owing to the brief leave of absence from Camp Custer which the groom obtained. The bride wore an afternoon gown of gray georgette crepe for the marriage and when she left for her new home at a later hour, she wore a navy blue tailored serge with black velvet hat and gray shoes and gloves. Lieutenant Shore is a native of Huntington, Pa., and was graduated from the Huntington high school and afterwards from a college for veterinarians. ### Utility Frock Does For All Occasions

By BETTY BROWN.
A utility gown for afternoon wear and all semi-dress affairs is a necessity of the well balanced wardrobe. The combination of satin, velvet and pale shaded crepe which is so good this season, effects a happy partnership in the gown shown herewith.

The skirt of this frock is of Concord blue panne velvet and the blouse is of white crepe with satin collar and cuffs. Points of the velvet are applied on the crepe just above the waistline. Embroidered polka dots outline the points.

A fine practical talk on "Duty and the Conservation of Food" was given the students of the academy by the Mother Superior of Saint Mary's college, St. Mary's Convent, Notre Dame, Indiana, on the evening of the 21st. The pupils were urged to cultivate the spirit of self-denial and to do without unnecessary when the necessities and sufferings of the world are so great.

Recipe for Making One Pound Into Two

By request of a number of readers The Sentinel reprints the recipe of J. W. Caswell, of Huntington, for making one pound of creamery butter into two and one-fourth pounds. The recipe follows:

"To each pound of butter use one pint of rich milk; one tablespoon of gelatine, one tablespoon of salt. Cream the butter as for cake (squeezing it through the hands). Dissolve the gelatine in a little milk. Heat the rest of the milk to the boiling point, then pour over gelatine (as for pudding) and stir until thoroughly mixed. When about lukewarm—warm as new milk—pour slowly over the creamed butter (to which has been added the salt) and beat with an egg beater until well mixed, smooth and thick. Take a spoon and ladle on a plate and as you do this each spoonful will set, piling up into firm butter."

Live and Let Live is War Time Shibboleth

Our eating today is based not only on the fundamental principle "to live," but also on the democratic principle "to let live." Thus it is that no matter how little we need to economize personally, we are willing to forego the pleasures of indulging in foods that are scarce, merely to satisfy a personal whim as to flavor.

We are emphatically requested by the United States food administration to use less of certain meats so that the soldiers may have the necessary amount to keep them fit for the strenuous work of the trenches.

The simple way for each family to co-operate in this patriotic movement is for the members to agree together on one day a week to have a meat substitute. It will also be found entirely practical and possible by the average home manager to reduce the amount of meat serving.

Those families financially able should continue to buy the so-called choicest cuts. That is the loins, rib roasts, sirloin and porterhouse steaks, tenderloins and sweet-breads. If those whom the high cost of foods, created by unusual demands on our country's supply does not particularly affect, take to demanding cheaper cuts of meat, thus increasing demand for them, the prices will naturally go higher than if the demand is equalized.

For those who must economize for personal financial reasons the less expensive cuts of meat can be made into splendid dishes.

For stews and soup buy a shank, plate, neck or chuck piece. In making soup, brown the meat first and then put it to cook in boiling water. Keep it at the simmering point until meat is tender. By this method you have meat for a stew or ragout and the stock for soup. If you put the meat to cook in cold water you extract all the flavor, leaving the real food in the meat, but with no flavor.

It is better economy to add cereal and vegetables to the soup stock prepared in the first way. Thus you will have a nutritious main dish for two meals.

For economical steaks buy cuts from the round, rump, flank, chuck or shoulder clod. Steaks from the two last coarser cuts should be well seared and then allowed to simmer with seasoning and vegetables and just enough water to cover, until tender.

For roasting purposes buy cuts from the rump, sixth and seventh ribs, short ribs and chucks. These cuts should be put into a very hot oven or should be thoroughly seared on the skillet before going into the oven. This keeps the juices in. Then roast the meat slowly, basting very often. These cuts are delicious cooked with vegetables. That is, sear the cut thoroughly, lay in the roasting pan and surround with carrots, potatoes, turnips and a few slices of onions previously prepared.

For pot roasts, buy cuts from the shank, rump, plate, chuck, neck or shoulder clod. Sear the meat, browning it well before covering it with boiling water.

Nothing Takes Place of the American Home

BY WINONA WILCOX.

"One cook and one kitchen per family are wasteful," said Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman in a recent address before a national conference on the world's food supply. Mrs. Gilman, who has done much original thinking about woman's work, contends that by employing trained specialists and improved cooking appliances 80 per cent of the labor power of women can be released from the country's kitchens.

There are gains for all our losses. If the nation were to lose the family dining table, just what would be the profit?

Reckoned in money, the pleasing total of $16,000,000,000, says Mrs. Gilman. But she admits the impossibility of producing any sudden revolution in home organization.

Such speculation is interesting, but is it always wise?

The community kitchen conducted by chemists and dieticians has been discussed for a decade. Out of the discussion has come a great deal of dissatisfaction among women about their jobs as home makers, an increase of trade at delicatessen shops, and too much scorn of baby tending and dishwashing.

And the city home has lost its parlor and its spare bedroom. Rob it of its kitchen and dining room and not much will be left except beds which fold up into doors, or divans, or sideboards, or library tables.

The trouble with all futuristic domestic science is that it diverts woman's attention from the importance of the job of homemaking which she now has on hand.

Reformers would take cooking out of the home when the change needed is better housekeeping, conducted according to the new methods taught in domestic science courses.

Such education of the nation's housewives would save them millions of dollars though not so much, perhaps, as the wholesale dining system proposed by Mrs. Gilman.

But dollars saved and woman power saved are far from being the tests of a home.

Home with its affections, home with its inspiration, home with its spiritual values, home with the social family table, home with mother in it and mother making it, no slaving for money in a factory or office—we cannot define the word, but we know there's no waste of woman power when it goes to the creation of a home, and no use it can be put to which will so reward the workers.

The average American home does not need to be revolutionized. It needs to be improved.

TOOTHsome DAINTIES FOR SOLDIER'S CHRISTMAS BOX

The following recipes were collected purposely for those planning boxes for soldiers. The baked chicken packing was suggested by Sergt.-Maj. A. S. Kirkwood of the British-Canadian recruiting mission, who vouches for its absolute success. In fact, he declares chicken packed by this method would still be good after a journey around the world.

Nut Cookies—a la American—One scant cup of butter, one and one-half cups of sugar, three cups of flour, one and one-half cups seedless raisins, three eggs, one cup walnuts, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon baking powder, one and one-half teaspoons soda, one-half cup water. Salt and drop in buttered tins.

Pershing Nut Bread—Three cups granular flour, one cup molasses, two cups sour milk, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt. Stir all together well and bake two hours in slow oven.

Butter Scotch—One cup molasses, one cup brown sugar, one-half cup butter. A pinch of soda and boil until brittle.

Baked Chicken Packing—Use perfectly fresh chicken and stuff well with a moist dressing, well seasoned. Sew all openings securely. Bake until well done then thoroughly cool and sew carefully in cheesecloth. Dip into hot paraffin until a thickness of one-half inch adheres to the cheesecloth covering. Pack securely in box with two pairs of woolen socks and send to your hero in France.

USING OLD YARN.

Look in your closets and trunks and see if you have any old sweaters. No matter if they are holey and darned. Unravel the best of them, wind neatly in balls and you can knit many small things for the army and navy, especially if they are blue or gray, such as helmets, thumbless mittens, wristers, etc.

These German soldiers are not marching past the kaiser, in respectful attention, as might be imagined from their stiff carriage. They are German prisoners taken near Monkey mountain in the French operations preliminary to the great drive now netting the French thousands of prisoners and many miles of retrieved territory. # GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Every Particle of Dandruff Disappears and Hair Stops Coming Out.

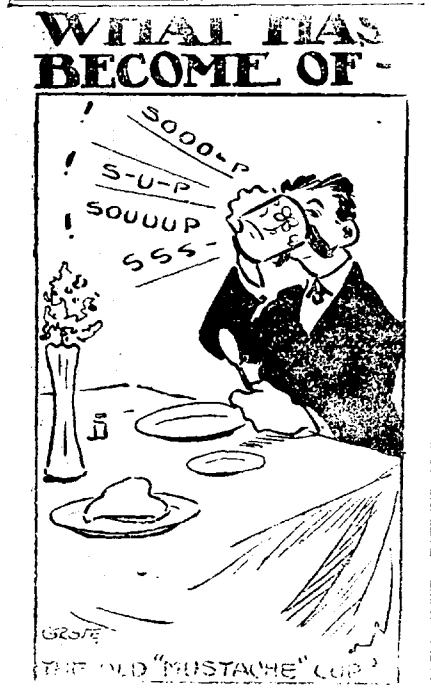

Draw a Moist Cloth Through Hair and Double Its Beauty at Once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandarine hair cleanse." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandarine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandarine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely invest a few cents in a bottle of Knowlton's Dandarine at any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it.

Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best money you ever spent.—Advertisement.

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism, others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

INCREASE OF HOGS A GREAT NECESSITY

Sows Must Be Bred in Large Numbers to Insure Adequate Meat Supply.

Washington, Nov. 2.—To win the war we need more meat. To get an increased meat supply quickly hog breeding must be increased materially throughout the country, and in certain states an increase of from 25 to 50 per cent in the number of hogs is recommended by the United States department of agriculture.

The situation is of great importance. We must have plenty of meat for our armies and the armies of the allies in the field, and sufficient meat for our civilian population and the civilian population of the allies at home.

To have this meat, breeding animals must reproduce themselves so the offspring will be available for slaughter in the future.

Hogs can be increased quicker than any other kind of live stock.

Therefore a larger number of sows must be bred now, than in recent years. In addition to the fact that there is an imperative demand for more meat as a war measure, it should be taken into consideration that we now have an abundance of feed crops—corn, oats and barley—with which to produce this necessary increase in the number of hogs. The demand for meat is certain and it will be profitable to the farmer to market some of this heavy grain supply on the hoof.

The increase in the number of hogs for various states, as recommended by the department, is as follows: Missouri, 50 per cent; Alabama, 30; Iowa, 25; Kansas, 25; Indiana, 20; Illinois, 20; Mississippi, 20; Arkansas, 20; South Carolina, 15; Ohio, 15; Kentucky, 15; Tennessee, 15; Maryland, 10; North Carolina, 10; Michigan, 10; Nebraska, 10; West Virginia, 5, and Georgia 5. The increase needed for the entire country is 15 per cent and is covered by the above schedule. Other states in these named should breed more than last year.

These increases will be to insure sufficient animals to make the meat absolutely essential to the needs of our armies.

Pork can be transported more readily and economically to troops in the field than can any other meat. Great supplies of bacon must go to the boys in khaki at the front. Unless now a larger number of sows are bred, the amount of meat we will require next year will not be available.

The estimated number of hogs is 4,000,000 less than it was a year ago this country; and in the face of this we need more hogs than ever before. How can we get them? By breeding sows at once.

The exportation of pork products has increased since the war began and will continue to increase during the length of the war. The foreign countries are devoting their farming energies to food and feed rather than to stock production, but they must have meat and they will get a large part of this supply from us.

During the last six months the number of hogs in the United States has been on an average more than twice as much as the average price for the five years from 1911 to 1915. In view of the large crop of feedstuffs in sight, however, it is believed that farmers will see the wisdom of taking every reasonable step to increase the supply of hogs and hog products.

DESTROYERS U-BOAT BANE

Most Effective and Most Feared Weapon Against the Submarines.

GERMANS ADMIT IT SAYS LATE REPORT

Diaries of Crew of Captured Divers Furnish the Evidence.

Base of the American flotilla in British Waters, Oct. 16.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Diaries taken from captured U-boat commanders furnish documentary evidence that the destroyer is the most effective of present weapons against the submarine. "Avoid destroyers," is the oft-repeated entry. In fact, these logs show conclusively that the submarines are having a hard time of it. The result of the destroyer activity during the last four weeks, has been not only a decrease in casualties of merchant-ships, but also a still more satisfactory increase in the number of submarines sunk.

Perfection in Convoys.

The conveying of merchantmen has now reached a stage of considerable perfection, after many months' work in training both the officers of merchant ship and the personnel of the patrol flotilla. While systematic conveying was undertaken primarily as a defensive measure, it has now developed that conveying is at the same time the best offensive measure yet devised against the U-boat.

The offensive side of conveying may best be shown by an illustration. When a submarine tries to torpedo a convoyed ship—as submarines are now compelled to do owing to the infrequency of unconvoyed ships—there is always a destroyer on the scene and the chances of her "getting" that particular submarine are correspondingly increased.

Torpedo the Clue.

The wake of a torpedo is generally seen by the destroyer's lookouts and it gives a good line on the direction where the submarine is lying. The destroyer immediately steers a course full speed in the line shown by the torpedo's wake and drops repeated depth charges along this course.

In a considerable proportion of cases this proved effective, for these depth charges cause serious commotion over a considerable radius. The Associated Press correspondent was told of three cases during the last fortnight in which submarines were thus destroyed. In many instances, no doubt, submarines are destroyed without any visible indication above water of their loss. Still others are badly crippled as in the case of the damaged German U-boat which was recently interned in Spain.

U-Boat Destroys Self.

Another submarine which will never return to Germany was sunk under peculiar circumstances a short time ago. This U-boat torpedoed a ship bound from the United States. It is extremely unwise and unsafe to fire a torpedo at such a close range, but the U-boat must take their targets as they get them these days. The torpedoed ship was loaded with a cargo of heavy war material and the explosion was so forcible that it blew a large piece of heavy material through the deck of the ship and dropped it on the submarine as the latter was submerging. The hull of the submarine was crushed like an egg shell and she sank with all on board.

Few Drops When Corns Hurt, Pain Stops! Corns Lift Out

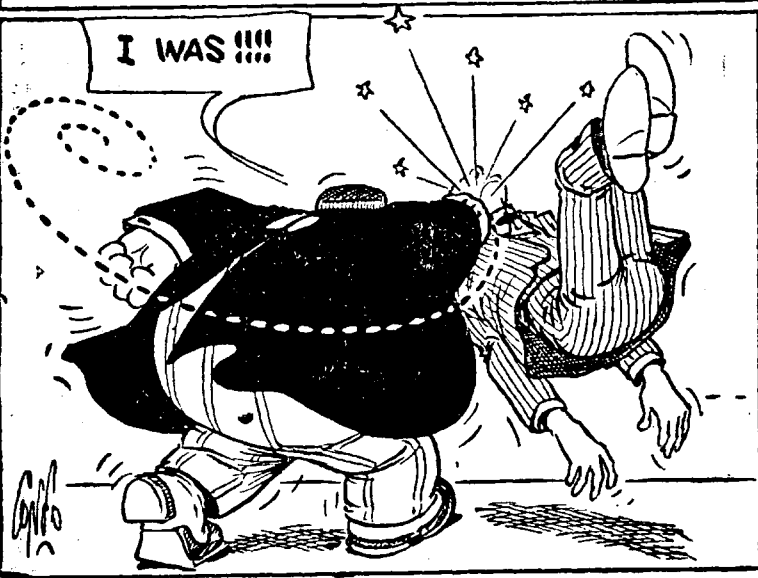

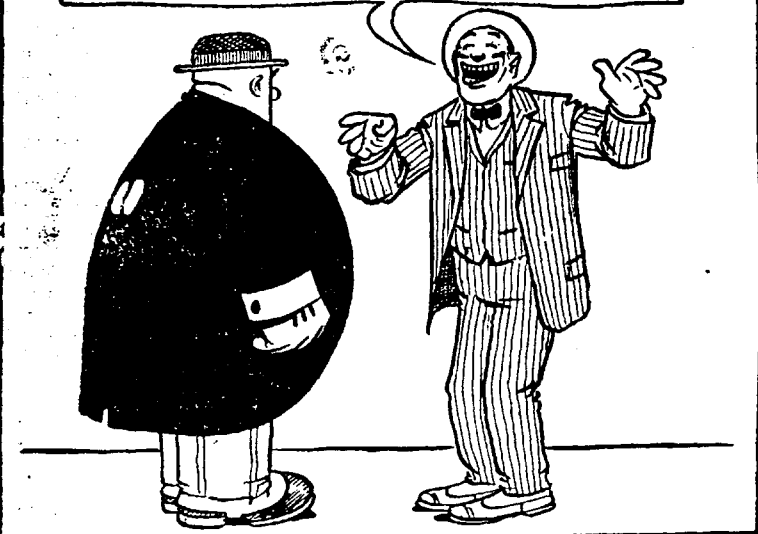

Don't let corns ache twice! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers—Here's magic!

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without any pain. This drug is called freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati chemist. Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus. It is the most marvelous drug known.

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers. Freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without any irritation. Women! Keep freezone on your dresser and apply a few drops whenever a corn begins aching. Pain stops, corn goes!

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. F. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)
(Copyright, 1917, Western Newspaper Union.)

DEFEAT THROUGH DRUNKENNESS.

(World Temperance Sunday.)
LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 20:1-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off.—1 Kings 20:11.

I. Samaria Besieged (vv. 1-12.)

1. By whom (v. 1).
Benhadad, the Syrian king, accompanied by 32 kings, came against Samaria. These 32 kings were not allies, but rulers over the neighboring cities—vassal princes.

2. Benhadad's message to Ahab (vv. 2-6.)

He offered peace on the most abject and insulting terms. His demands meant more than the exaction of tribute. He over-reached himself in this; thus defeating his purpose. He not only demanded tribute money, but the surrender of that which was most vital to Ahab's manhood and self-respect—his wives and children. He thus made a thrust at his tenderest spot. Many a man has been thus aroused to do his duty, who otherwise would have submitted to shameful indignities.

3. Ahab's reply (vv. 4, 7-9.)

His reply was tame and humiliatingly submissive. Perhaps, he thought it only meant the giving of tribute, which he was willing to do in face of Benhadad's overwhelming army. Conciliatory measures were regarded as most prudent. But the peremptory demands of the enemy repeated, awoke Ahab to his senses, and caused him to call together the elders of the land, who counseled against submission. Thus stiffened for the opposition, Ahab refused to make full compliance with his demands.

4. Benhadad's bluster and boasting (v. 10.)

The design of this was to strike terror into the hearts of the king and people. He vows that he will make Samaria a heap of dust, and that this dust will not be sufficient to fill the hands of his army, so overwhelming is the number of his host.

5. Ahab's answer by a proverb (v. 11.)

"Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off." This is a proverb full of points for all boasters. God's purpose may overrule all man's proud presumptions. "Man proposes, but God disposes." "Fride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall."

6. Readiness for the attack (v. 12.)

In the full confidence of victory, the Syrian king was giving a banquet to his princes. In the midst of this feasting, the command was given to invade Samaria. Incited by strong drink, he gave no attention to the striking proverb of Ahab. Many have gone to ruin because through the stupor of drunkenness, they have failed to heed proper warnings.

II. A Prophet Sent to Ahab (vv. 13, 14.)

Who the prophet was, we are not told, but why he was sent, is made clear. He brought from God a promise of victory which was to cause Ahab to know Jehovah. It is a marvelous display of God's goodness and grace. Israel deserved the most severe chastisement, but God promised victory for his own sake in order to make his glory known. The agency by which the victory was to be achieved, was the young men, an agency purposely feeble, that the victory might be seen to be of God.

III. Ahab's Victory Over the Syrians (v. 15-21.)

The army of Ahab was but a handful compared with that of the Syrian king (v. 15; cf. v. 10). Benhadad, with confidence in his superior numbers, ordered the young men of Israel to be taken whether they came for peace or war. He, with his princes, continued their drunken debauch. The young men struck right and left, creating great consternation. When the seven thousand reserves joined the young men, a general panic was produced among the Syrians. From the human side, the victory is accounted for by the drunkenness of the Syrians, but from the divine side, we see that God wrought for his own glory. Ahab pursued the Syrians with a great slaughter, but Benhadad escaped. Many have been the defeats which have come through drunkenness: defeats in morals, defeats in religion, defeats in business, defeats in physical endurance. The man who indulges even moderately, has reduced his opportunities of success very greatly. Most of the accidents by automobiles, railroads, etc., are traceable to the use of intoxicating liquors.

Short-Sightedness.

Few people, rich or poor, make the most of what they possess. In their anxiety to increase the amount of means for future enjoyment, they are too apt to lose sight of their capability for the present.—Leigh Hunt.

Duty for All.

I am sure that it is a duty for all of us to aim at a just appreciation of various points of view, and that we ought to try to understand others rather than to persuade them.—A. C. Benson.

For a Weak Stomach.

EXPLODES THEORY OF PTOMAIN POISONING

Dr. Barnard Says Canned Goods Are Safe for Human Food.

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—Dr. H. E. Barnard, Indiana representative of the federal food administrator, issued a statement today denying that ptomaine poisoning lurked in canned goods or that it was dangerous to leave the contents of a can in the refrigerator after it is opened. The statement follows: "The prejudice against the use of canned foods which was but a few years ago so common that most housewives used the excellent products of the canner with fear and trembling, has almost died out. But there are still some people, and even some physicians who are obsessed with the fallacy that ptomaines somehow or other result from the contact of foods with tin surfaces. The fact is that the injurious products are not formed in the tin can until it is perforated so that the contents spoil because of the introduction of mold or bacteria from the outside. If it were possible to dissolve enough tin from the lining of the can a slight metallic poisoning might result, but as a matter of fact the tin in the can does not dissolve. I have examined sweet corn which had been packed for more than twenty-five years and found the corn entirely satisfactory as a food and the lining of the can as bright and fresh as when the food was first put up. The acid naturally present in food dissolves tin plate very slowly. Canned goods put up for a year or two or three are just as wholesome when finally eaten as when fresh packed. "There is still another fallacy which is common among housewives and which is frequently repeated by men and women who ought to know better, and that is the idea that as soon as a package of canned goods is opened the contents should be emptied into some other receptacle. A little reflection on the part of those who are afraid to leave food stand in the tin can will recall the fact that tin utensils are common in every kitchen. Milk pails and milk pans have held the milk for generations and no one yet has ever suggested that the lactic acid in milk dissolves off enough tin to produce any toxic symptoms. The jagged edges of an opened tin can may irritate the fingers and a clean China bowl does not offer such possibilities of damage, but other than this I know of no reason why the contents of the can should be emptied. Certainly baked beans, canned cherries or hominy will keep just as well in the can as out of it, and the tin lining will have no injurious effect whatsoever.

"The laboratories of the National Canners' association have recently completed a most careful study of the rate at which tin is dissolved from the lining of the can. The results show conclusively that the solution of the tin proceeds so slowly that it is impossible for food to be made in the slightest degree unwholesome. Housewives should learn to look upon the properly sealed tin package as the safest container for food and just so long as the package is in good condition the food contained in it will be good food."

CLAIMS HER MIND WAS ON REVOLVER

Did Not Think on Seriousness of Note in Sum of $1,200.

When Pauline Corcoran signed a note for $1,200 in November, 1914, she was thinking only of the revolver which Conrad Hohnholz had brandished before her eyes and with which he had threatened to shoot her, the woman testified in circuit court, Friday, in the case in which she asks that the note be declared null and void.

According to the petition of Pauline Corcoran and borne out by her testimony in the case, in trial before Judge J. W. Eggenman, she had entered into a partnership with Hohnholz early in 1914. The woman had disposed of property in Bloomington and Hohnholz had sold a Harrison street lot in order that they might enter the trucking business together. He was to manage the ten-acre garden which they bought in the Country Club addition. Also they were to divide royalties upon a patent suitcase in which they held stock.

Hohnholz developed a vitreous temper, which had been slumbering while the woman soothed him, she states. He would swear violently and when he ordered him off the place he flashed a revolver and threatened to shoot her.

As a climax Hohnholz forced his female business partner to sign a note for $1,200, the woman testifies. Now that the note is due she asks that it be declared null and void and the mortgage on her properties be cancelled.

The defendant, who is now employed at the Bowser plant, denies making use of a revolver. He only took the weapon from the woman to keep her from shooting him, he testifies. He took the note as payment for his share of the truck business when they decided to quit their partnership, he claims.

The case was in hearing all day Friday and will probably not be decided until Saturday morning. Attorneys Summers & Kennick represent the woman and Hartzell & Todd the defendant.

DISMISS PARK CASE.

Palmist Drops Suit Against Robison Park Management.

The case of Maggie Hudson, of Columbus, Ohio, against Charles H. Williams, manager of Robison park, in which $500 was asked for breach of contract was dismissed by Attorney Hans Meland, in superior court, Friday. It is understood that an agreement was reached between the attorneys in the case, Creighton Williams representing the park manager. The woman told the court she signed up to read palms in the Fort Wayne amusement park and that she had not been able to follow the doings of the Indiana legislature, which declared her profession unlawful. She gave up a good job in Columbus and came here only to find that she could not read the future for local citizens.

Hoffman states in his complaint that Black was approaching on the wrong side of the road and that his machine swung crosswise of the highway as the two cars met, causing an unavoidable smash for Hoffman and in which the plaintiff was injured. Howard Benninghoff is attorney for Hoffman.

Schools Compete in Securing Signatures to Pledge Cards

The schools of the city both public and parochial are going to compete in securing signatures to the Hoover pledge cards promising meatless and wheatless days in the food conservation campaign. Frank Hilgenmann, chairman of the food relief committee, asks that the various schools return their pledge cards at the earliest possible moment. He intends to have published the showing made by each school. Doubtless the spirit of rivalry will be keen as each school will endeavor to secure the greatest number of signatures. Mr. Hilgenmann reports that the St. Patrick's parish has returned 182 and properly signed, which includes almost every family in the parish. It is expected that the few who have not signed will do so before many days.

Mr. Hilgenmann announces that Mrs. Franklin B. Mead is now engaged in organizing a corps of women to canvas the city, explain the food conservation movement and secure pledges. Mrs. Mead was one of the few persons who have called the food relief committee, and volunteered her services in any way that they may be needed. She is anxious to secure 100 women.

A meeting of the women who will take up this work will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the public library, at which time Mr. Hilgenmann will explain in detail what is expected of them.

BELIEVES WIFE'S THREAT.

Judge Yaple Does Not Think Mrs. Henning Is Coming Back.

On the grounds that Mrs. Catherine Henning was not William Henning's good wife, Judge Yaple, in superior court, granted the husband a divorce Friday morning.

It was brought out that Mrs. Henning left the home several months ago with the partition statement that she would never live with William again. The wife did not appear in court, Friday, to refute the statement. William was granted permanent liberty. The wife will retain the custody of their small child, towards the support of which Henning will pay $15 a month.

DROP DAMAGE SUITS.

Settlements Made in Two Cases to Recover Bills.

The case of the Crescent Paper company against the Banner Laundry, in which it was alleged that a bill of $125 for goods delivered was due was dismissed in superior court, Friday.

Three Liens Filed.

Peter Ensch filed like claim against the same defendants and against Lena Lambert, while Leonard Hamman also introduced the same sort of action for the same amount against Lena Lambert. Somers & Kennick are the attorneys.

Gets Part of $75.

On his action to recover $75, alleged to be due in interest and principal on a bill of goods purchased by the defendant, J. M. Smucker was granted judgment for $60.60 against George Lloyd, in superior court, Friday.

Several lawyers of the Allen county bar will be missing from the region of the court house on Saturday. They are graduates of the law department of Indiana university and have purchased tickets for the Indiana-Ohio game to be played at Indianapolis, Saturday.

Argue Dike Case.

RUSSIA HAS MUCH TO DO

Is Still Holding Her Lines Against Immense Force of the Enemy.

HAS 147 DIVISIONS OF Foe ON FRONT

Embassy in Washington Has Criticism for Newspaper There.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Notwithstanding withdrawals of German troops from the Russian front for the Italian campaign, there still are 147 German, Austrian, Turkish and Bulgarian divisions facing the Russian army.

The Russian embassy announced today that it has received from Gen. Dessino, representative of the Russian army with the Italian front. At the same time German divisions have been transported from the French front.

Four German infantry divisions have been withdrawn from Rumania and Galicia immediately prior to the attack on the Italian front. At the same time German divisions have been transported from the French front.

"The total quantity of enemy troops which is being maintained at present against the Russian army are: Eighty-six infantry divisions, ten cavalry divisions, thirty-three infantry and seven cavalry divisions, and seven Turkish and Bulgarian infantry divisions, making a total of 147 enemy divisions," newspaper criticized.

The Russian embassy also issued a statement criticizing the manner in which the Washington Post presented the Petrograd dispatch.

"Russia is not out of the war and has no intention of quitting," said the embassy statement. "No word in Kerensky's interview gives warrant for any assertion of that kind. As a matter of fact the premier stated the exact opposite."

While acknowledging that only part of the Petrograd dispatches were printed in the Post the embassy statement added, "We give no justification to the preposterous and most injurious headlines by which it was entitled."

"What Premier Kerensky expressed," the statement continued, "was a feeling of the Russian people that aid and support should be extended to them and that the encouragement from the allies is justified to a nation that has borne such heavy burdens and is now in a period of fundamental readjustment. No word in the interview was intended to express any blame or sarcasm against allied action."

A cable received lately, and which is given out to the press today, shows the real military conditions on the Russian front. The best answer to the malicious statement that Russia is out of the war will be the fact given by this cable that we are holding at the present time on our front 147 divisions of enemy troops."

GRANDSON OF HENRY FORD WAS IN PERIL

Alleged Kidnapers Tried to Blackmail Father and Are Arrested.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 2.—It became known today that federal agents in Detroit are investigating an alleged plot to abduct or kill Henry Ford, II, infant son of the Ford motor company president and a millionaire manufacturer. A letter demanding $10,000 from Edsel Ford as the price for the baby's safety was turned over to postoffice inspectors a few days ago. It is understood that one man has been detained and that several arrests are impending.

Jacob Yellin, 20 years of age, was arraigned in United States district court today, charged with sending the threatening letter to Edsel Ford. When Yellin was brought into court government agents admitted that he was the second person taken into custody.

MUCH CORN IS PACKED.

FORT WAYNE BOY DROWNS

Joseph Schultz Falls from Battleship to His Death.

HAD ENLISTED AT BEGINNING OF WAR

Will Be the First to Go on This City's Roll of Honor.

Word has been received in this city by Herman Schultz of the death of his brother, Joseph Schultz. The remains will arrive in Fort Wayne, Friday evening and will be held at the Scene & Ankenbruck parlors until arrangements have been made.

Although the report from officials is meagre it contained the information that Schultz met death by drowning. The mishap occurred while he was on picket duty on the battleship Michigan, stationed in New York harbor. The unfortunate man enlisted at the beginning of the war and had just recently been assigned to the Michigan. A brother, Walter, is also in the service of the government, being stationed at one of the army training camps.

Surviving relatives include the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schultz, one brother, Herman, all residing at 1701 Lafayette street, and one brother, Walter, in the service.

SLACKERS TRY TO BEAT WAR TAX ON FARES

Attempt to Get Under the Thirty-Five Cent Mark by Paying Twice.

The new war tax placed on railroad fares has introduced a new method for the slackers to try to beat the government. The tax is not imposed on fares less than thirty-five cents and a number of travelers on the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction lines have tried to keep under this limit by paying a fifty cent fare on the installment plan. The slacker who tries to pull this off pays his fare to a thirty cent point and then tries to pay the other twenty cents to his destination. By playing this trick on the government that gave him his freedom and is now protecting him, the slacker attempts to save for his own use the sum of four cents, which would be the amount of the government tax on a fifty cent fare.

This trick, while attempted, does not work, for the conductor is told to watch this and when he collects the second fare charges twenty-four cents, raising the total up to the amount required to pay the tax.

Teachers' Specials. The Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company sent three special cars to Indianapolis Thursday, taking the Huntington county teachers to the state convention, which is meeting at the capital Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning.

REVENUE OFFICE HAS NEW SCHEDULE

Local Quarters Seriously Handicapped by Lack of Check Stamps.

The local branch of the revenue office reports a grave shortage of war tax check stamps. Just how long the tie-up will last is not known as no official report has been received as yet. A new schedule for stamp taxes has been issued to go into effect on the first of December. Bonds of indebtedness, or certificates of indebtedness issued on each $100 of face value or fraction thereof, five cents. Bonds, indemnity and surety, fifty cents. Capital stock, issue on each $100 of face value, five cents. Capital stock, sales or transfers on each $100 face value or fraction thereof, two cents. Produce, sales of, on exchange for each $100 in value of the merchandise covered by sale, two cents.

QUEST CLUB HOLDS ITS REGULAR MEETING

The Quest club held its regular Friday noon meeting at the Commercial club. C. H. VanArman, of the VanArman Manufacturing company, made the principal address. He chose for his theme, "Success Means More Than Getting By."

Edwin W. Peirce, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., gave an outline of the big banquet to be given Friday evening at the Anthony hotel. The usual business routine was disposed of and several suggestions for future meetings made. The Quest club has started its work in earnest and will continue to meet every week through the winter.

LOCAL MAN IS WRECK VICTIM

Charles F. Conklin is Killed in Accident at Joliet, Illinois.

FORMER ENGINEER ON THE L. E. & W.

Deceased Moved to Bloomington, Ill., About Fifteen Years Ago.

Word has been received by Mrs. J. V. MacMillan, 140 Masterson avenue, of the death of her brother-in-law, Charles F. Conklin, 54 years old, in a railroad wreck at Joliet, Ill., late Thursday afternoon. The deceased was for years a resident of Fort Wayne, and was well known. He was born and reared on a farm near Hometown, the son of parents who were pioneer farmers of the county.

Mr. Conklin began railroad work when a young man on the Lake Erie & Western railroad, and was for a number of years an engineer on that road.

Fifteen years ago he moved to Bloomington, Ill., and became an engineer on the Chicago & Alton railroad, and for the last ten years he was an engineer on the "Hummel," one of the fastest and high-class trains on the C. & A.

Mr. Conklin was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen. A widow and two children, William Conklin and Mrs. J. V. MacMillan, and the mother, who made her home with her son, survive. The body will be brought to this city for interment.

SHORT SELLING CURB HOLDS WALL STREET

Most Drastic War Measure Since Closing of Exchange in 1914.

New York, Nov. 2.—Supervision of short selling on the New York stock exchange, decided upon by the board of governors yesterday, following the greatest decline of securities of the year, went into effect today. The action is the most drastic war measure put into effect by the board since the exchange closed in the early days of the war. Recent "vicious" short selling on the market has been attributed in some quarters to German interests, as part of an organized propaganda to create pessimism. There is no intention on the part of the exchange to eliminate short selling. Leading members of the board of governors say that short selling operations possess valuable functions which are necessary at times to stabilize prices. The new trading rules just adopted will put into the possession of the board of governors the power to control the names of speculators who have sold stocks which they did not own, with the purpose of buying them back later at cheaper prices. All members of the exchange must supply the names of customers for whom stocks are borrowed today by official cables. Lenders of stocks will also be required to inform the governors of the names of brokers to whom they loan stocks.

Market raiders who have been depressing values by short sales and the circulation of false rumors will be exposed.

ALLIES ACTIVE IN AERIAL WAR

British Carry Out an Extensive Bombing Raid in Flanders.

GERMAN DEPOTS ARE DESTROYED

French Account for Ten Enemy Machines in Air Battle.

London, Nov. 2.—German munition factories in Bavaria have been attacked by British aeroplanes, a substitute of the statement issued tonight says. British airmen also dropped bombs on German billets and airdromes behind the lines in Flanders.

"On Wednesday advantage was taken of the changed weather and both our own and enemy aeroplanes were in the air all day. The visibility was not very good for artillery work but a great deal of bombing was carried out by our machines and many photographs were taken. The aeroplanes also co-operated successfully in a raid carried out by our infantry yesterday afternoon northeast of Loos, reported in last night's official statement, firing several thousand rounds from their machine guns and dropping bombs on hostile troops in the communication trenches.

"During the day five tons of bombs were dropped by us on Roulers, causing fires and explosions and on many hostile billets. At night a further 2 1/2 tons were dropped on airdromes in the region of Cuvelot. The airdrome at Gontraide and on the railway stations at Roulers, Thourout and Cuvelot. Two trains were attacked from a low height. One of them was derailed and the other was destroyed completely. The enemy aircraft was more active and aggressive than ours. Several of our aeroplanes were shot down. In the air fighting seven hostile machines were brought down. Nine of our machines are missing.

"Today another successful raid was carried out in Germany. The munition factories at Kaiserlautern, about forty miles west of Mannheim, were attacked by two groups of six machines each. Cloudy weather impeded the accurate dropping of bombs. One group encountered enemy defending scouts and brought one of them down. All our machines returned safely.

TEN GERMAN PLANES DOWN.

Paris, Nov. 2.—Ten German aeroplanes were brought down yesterday by the French, or compelled to land in damaged condition, the war office announces.

The artillery battle continues on the Aisne front. German attacks at several points were repulsed. The communication follows:

"North of the Aisne there was intermittent artillery fighting. We dispersed enemy detachments which attempted to approach our lines in the region of Chevreux.

"Enemy attacks on our small posts at the Main de Massiges, near Tahure and north of St. Mihiel were without success. Aerial encounters on the left bank of the Meuse enabled us to take prisoners.

"On Nov. 1 two German aeroplanes were brought down by our pilots and a third by our special cannon. Furthermore seven enemy machines were compelled to land in damaged condition.

"Our bombardment squadrons threw down many bombs on the railway station at Muilheim, the aviation grounds at Beilstein, munition depots at Ruffach and Wepersmuhl and the railway station at Thionville.

"In reprisal for the bombardments of Dunkirk seventeen of our aeroplanes dropped 2,500 kilograms (5,500 pounds) of projectiles on the town of Offenbourg in the Grand Duchy of Baden."

STOP HOARDING YOUR PENNIES; ARE NEEDED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—Penny hoarding and small coin savings banks were placed on the official taboo list today by Raymond T. Baker, director of the mint who declares the country is threatened with a severe shortage of cents, dimes and other small "change" for the approaching holiday shopping season. He appealed to persons who collect small coins as a savings hobby to exchange them for coins of larger denominations or for currency to relieve the shortage. Children, particularly, were asked to do their bit. War revenue taxes amounting to one or more odd cents on theater admissions, tobacco and other articles, now effective, caused such an enlarged demand for cent pieces that Director Baker today announced limits hereafter would work Sundays, in addition to day and night as at present. The mint's output of three million copper coins a day will not be sufficient and it is imperative, he said, that persons make small individual sacrifices to keep the coins in circulation.

WAGE CONFERENCE ON.

Chicago, Nov. 3.—Officials and chairman of railroad brotherhoods who arrived here yesterday continued in executive session today to discuss late demands for increased wages. The allegation that $10,000,000 was being hoarded by the railroads was also discussed.

THIS WOMAN SCULPTOR'S STATUES ARE ALL OF MASCULINE FIGURES

The field of sculpture is an unusual one for women, but Belle Kinney, whose work is well known in the south, has compelled New York also to recognize her genius. Her studio at 67 Fifth avenue has become a center of interest to the art world of the big city.

Miss Kinney has her own ideas about sculpture. Her work has always been styled rugged and masculine, rather than feminine. She has made many statues in honor of leaders of the confederacy.

CITY LIGHT MAKES MANY NEW FRIENDS

Growth of Plant Shown in Use of 75,000 More
Kilowatts.

Steady growth of activities of the city light plant is shown in the report of the superintendent for the month of October.

There were 75,000 more kilowatts of electricity used during October of this year than during the same month of 1916. The growth has been going on steadily for the past year, Superintendent Dix reports.

Seventy-eight new customers were gained for city light last month, the record shows. That number is above the average gain for the year although every month has brought an increase in light patrons.

The peak load for 1917 will run several hundred points above that of the heaviest day of last year, Superintendent Dix estimates. Already the adding of lights for the benefit of Thanksgiving displays in downtown windows and the more general use of house lamps, which comes with winter evenings, is pulling the peak load up to striking distance of last year's record.

On two evenings last week the peak load nearly touched the 2,200 mark which is within 50 kilowatts of the present peak load record.

WORK RENEWED.
Fair Days Bring Out Construction Laborers.

The sunshine of Friday brought out scores of laborers who have been shut in because of mud and rain during the past week.

Street cleaners are raking the partly dried leaves from gutters of the avenues and are opening up all street drains. Paving work is being renewed. Park laborers are again spraying trees along the streets and planting shrubs in the open places.

Water in the St. Joseph river has receded to the point that the sewage pumps are no longer needed in the Lakeside region. The pumps were stopped on Thursday night.

NO LET UP.
Vaccinating Goes on in Health Board Office.

The corridors of the city hall continue to ring with the voices of children who have gathered to be vaccinated. More than 100 bare arms were scratched by the city physicians on Friday morning. They were also several adults who reported for the inoculation.

Health officers wish it known that the vaccination work is carried on at the city building from 9:30 a. m. to 12 o'clock in the morning and from 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon until 5 o'clock.

New cases of the disease reported on Friday morning are in the Sharp family, 1412 Broadway; the Potts family, 1127 Sinclair street, and at 421 Fourth street.

Move to Grace Avenue.
Grace construction company workmen have completed the paving of Kensington avenue and have moved their equipment to Grace avenue, where paving will be built from Broadway to Fox avenue. The Grace Construction company is placing top dressing along the mile of improved roadway in the Forest Hill addition. Paving of the three-quarters of a mile of streets in Brook View addition will be completed by the Grace company on Tuesday.

BIDS ON TWO SEWERS.

The sewers upon construction of which the contractors will figure are located in the alley south of Rudisill boulevard, from a point 124 feet west of Indiana avenue to South Wayne avenue and in the alley between South Wayne avenue and Tacoma avenue, from the first alley south of Rudisill boulevard to Lexington avenue.

Building Permits.
Building permits were issued to D. W. Desler to build a brick building on Darrow avenue, at a cost of $5,000, and to Alable Martin for repairing dwelling at 125 West Litch street, at a cost of $1,000.

COLONEL DAN MOORE

Here's Colonel Dan Moore, the battler with the awful wallop, the army and navy gent who put out Roosevelt's eye. Now with the 310th Field Artillery at Camp Meade, he is waiting patiently for a chance to "hang a wallop" on the Kaiser's jaw. Colonel Moore served as aide while Roosevelt was president, and was one of his regular boxing partners.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

The pressure is relatively low over northern sections, and the northwestern high area has spread eastward to the coast, with its center over the lower Arkansas valley. The weather is generally cooler than the normal from the Rockies eastward to the Atlantic coast, and while it is somewhat warmer on the northeastern slope, the temperature changes of the last 24 hours have been unimportant as a rule, but the tendency is toward a higher range of temperatures. Except that light snow fell in the eastern portion of the lake region, the weather has been generally fair during the last 24 hours.

Here the World's Best Merchandise Values Never Quite As Helpful

—It's a satisfaction in one's Winter shopping to know that "The Store" is big and broad, that its stocks are ample and generous; that its service is courteous and obliging. To shop, however, now and save money is a consideration that cannot be disregarded. In the natural scheme of economizing that's the supreme test of service. Tepper leadership has never been more strongly emphasized than it has been, than it is, in its war-time values. So successfully has it been able to control price advances that in many instances goods are being sold over the counter here at less than it takes mills to produce similar grades and qualities. In this way, people making this store their shopping home are being helped as never before.

2-Day Sale of Woolens, Velvets, Silks

Comfy Wool Velour Coats ---and just think of it Only $19.95

No, indeed, they're not $19.95 Coats. The very fact that they are featured as the most important of Saturday's "Better Values" tells you that—but it would take a more forceful headline than we have seen on any advertisement for a week of blue moons to carry to you an idea of the unusualness of these Velour Coats for Saturday—Of fine quality all-wool Velour; high waist line, with pleated back; belted side and front; large collar inlaid with Kerami Plush; slash pockets and body lined; colors—Green and Brown.

A Splendid

All-Wool Kersey Coat 22.50

The fine stylish lines and the excellent quality of this "Better Value" Coat of all-wool Kersey will be much admired by all who try one of them on—a clever, high-waisted effect with shirred back; large collar inlaid with velvet; belted sides and front turnback cuffs trimmed with large black buttons; slash pockets, of course; body lined and in colors of brown, navy and black.

Newest of the New Suits

$18.95

—If you've been listening closely to what Fashion has had to say you know about the new lines that make for slenderness—and you'll realize why they've been adopted so enthusiastically when you see them exemplified in these suits that have been reduced to $18.95.

—Let your fancy run almost where it will in regard to style, fabric or color—there is small chance but you will find what you want here—all sizes.

Every Cloth and Velvet Suit In The Store Marked 'Way Down!

Save $8 to $10 on any one of these Beautiful Satin Frocks, $23.75

—wonderful from the fact that they are brand new—the very last things that Fashion has sent Fort Wayne—and wonderful, too, from the fact that we have reduced them to this low price to make them worthy as headliners for Saturday—of soft and shimmery Charmeuse Satins that fairly radiate beauty and richness—and still others of soft, clingy Georgettes—others that are combinations of both! Dresses for afternoon wear—scores of them—and there are just as many of them for street wear—others for evening wear, too. You'll wonder and wonder why we marked them so low as $23.75.

In making this announcement it is necessary that you should bear in mind peculiar trade conditions existing in these lines

Never have the better grades of high-class silks, velvets, and woolen dress goods been more difficult to secure. Textile experts are bewildered, and this applies from the buyers of the raw material to those handling the finished product. In the face of these conditions we usher in November with unusual buying opportunities in all three sections of silks, velvets and woolen dress goods. Furthermore, the stocks are complete with a showing of the season's newest

Quietly slipping out and locking the doors behind them, to keep the ladies from coming up, the men went to the auditorium and found a lot of drapery and decorations burning. The flames were quickly subdued. The fire started from a candle in a Japanese lantern burning a hole in the bottom of the lantern and dropping down to the drapery and decorations below. The damage was slight. Prizes were awarded to the best and most difficult costume. In general, Miss Leslie Clark of Decatur, was given the prize for lady costume, and Clifford Kirkpatrick was given the gentlemen's prize.

MILITARY NEWS

FINE OPPORTUNITIES IN REMOUNT SECTION

Openings for Blacksmiths,
Horseshoers, Saddlers,
Stenographers, Etc.

A number of Allen county farmer boys, horse lovers, blacksmiths, saddlers and horseshoers, who are interested in following up their chosen work, have inquired to learn more about the remount section of the national army. This is one branch of the service that volunteers will not be likely to have to leave the country, and this phase has attracted a number of enlistments.

The government has erected thirty-four remount depots in different sections of the country to supply the army with animals, such as cavalry horses, field artillery and draft horses and mules. These horses and mules are being purchased all over the country and shipped to the various depots, where they will be cared for until shipped to the different commands for service.

The officers at a remount depot consist of the quartermaster corps in command, ten other officers connected with this corps and the following non-commissioned officers: Quartermaster sergeant, senior grade; eight quartermaster sergeants of the quartermaster corps, thirty-six sergeants of different grade s and thirteen corporals. There are also at each depot five cooks, ninety-one privates of the quartermaster corps. There is a difference of $3 a month in the salary of the two kinds of privates.

Each position has its own pay, which is increased according to the position, for instance, a blacksmith or horseshoer will be rated as a sergeant of the quartermaster corps and would receive $45 a month with board, lodging, clothes and medical service. These depots also provide schools for horseshoers, teamsters and packers.

Clerks, typewriters and time-keepers are wanted. Men who understand bookkeeping, property clerks, stenographers and checkers, blacksmiths and horseshoers are needed. Men who understand handling forage, feeding animals, carpenters, plumbers, furriers and saddlers may be used.

The remount offers a splendid opportunity, especially for those young men from the farms who love horses and their care. The men stationed at one of these depots are stationed in quarters and will not be subject to the hardships of campaigns and trenches, and as these depots are to be maintained throughout the year, there are not likely to have to leave the country.

This branch of the service is filling fast on account of the excellent opportunities of advancement and the excellent chance for men with the trades listed to serve their country, and so it would be to the advantage of every young man who desires to get into the army to learn more of this section.

Six Enlistments.
November started out with six enlistments for the army. The total number recruited during October was 108 and this month bids fair to outstrip even that splendid record. Fort Wayne was one of the few cities in the United States of its size to have a record of over a hundred enlistments during a month. Many of the branches of the army are still open and it is expected that they will close at any time. A number of colored men have left to join the quartermaster and engineer units, which need their service. More are still needed.

ROANOKE BOY WRITES LETTER TO PARENTS

Russel Johnson Says to Tell His Friends He is on His Way.

"Went aboard ship today. Do not know when we sail," was the postscript attached to a letter which was written to Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Johnson, of Roanoke, Ind., from their son, Russel L. Johnson, 18 years old, enlisted in the E. M. C. last January and stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas, during the summer months.

Fort Sam Houston, Texas: Well I received a card from you today and was glad to hear from you. I leave San Antonio tonight or the morning, so will write you this letter before I leave. I know where I am going now. We go from here to New York, and lay over there to get ready to sail for France. And listen, mama, do not worry about me for I will be alright and they escort all transports across the ocean with seven battleships and gunboats, so I guess there is no chance of a submarine getting us. There are 250 of us ready to go from here. Well, I am glad I am going in some ways and I was told to go so I will make the best of it and I sure can do that. Tell all the boys in Roanoke I am on my way to France and I send my regards.

"Fort Jay, New York: Arrived here, after I rode three nights and four days and am pretty tired. We are on an island about two miles out in New York harbor, so I took my first ride on salt water today and hope to take a swim soon. We are going to stay here a few days. I do not know how long it will be, possibly a month. I hope so, for I want to see all the world I can and it looks as though I am going to see it all. This is the first day we are in New York."

plain sight. We came through Washington, D. C., last night and I saw the capitol building, the white house and Washington monument. The city looks beautiful after night and was all lit up with different colored lights. Well, I guess this is all for this time.

"Fort Jay: Will write you a few lines this afternoon as I expect you are getting anxious to hear from me. Well, I am O. K. and getting along fine and couldn't be better. Expect to leave about the third so if you don't hear from me for a while don't be worried for I will be safe and having a good time. How is everybody? I would have liked very well to have come home and seen you, but we were expecting orders to leave all the time so I guess it is better that I did not. Give my regards and best wishes to the band boys for I would like to be with them, but I can't for some time yet. Received the socks and muffer and they are fine. I sure appreciate them. Address my mail the same as before and it will be forwarded to me. So good bye and answer soon.

"October—Went aboard ship today. Do not know when we will sail.

"RUSSELL JOHNSON."

SOLDIER TELLS OF WORK OF Y. M. C. A.

Young Man in Army Asks
Folks Back Home to Help
Along the Cause.

Dear Editor: Enclosed please find an appeal from one of Uncle Sam's boys. I am writing it entirely on my own desire to see other boys more fortunate than I, helped. I like to help them write letters to their homes, and assist them in other ways. But I know what the Y. M. C. A. is doing for the boys, and I don't want to see the good work interrupted on account of lack of financial support. If you see fit, I would be happy if you would add our message to the various papers, letters and publish it conspicuously. Thanking you in advance for the smallest courtesy in regard to same, I remain,

Your friend,

A PVT. U. S. A., Q. M. C.
Gentle reader, I am in the service of Uncle Sam, trying to do my duty. I am wondering if the folks at home are doing their duty, in trying to back us up. Have you a brother, a son, or friend in the army or navy, any place in the world? If so, he is taking advantage of the convenience and friendliness of a Y. M. C. A. building. Someone is paying for this paper, this pen, this ink. Someone is paying to make your soldier happy, and provide a place where he can come to enjoy lectures, concerts, athletic activities, religious services and the use of libraries and pianos. Are you helping? Cut out a bad habit, or in some way plan to help, plan to "do your bit," by helping furnish these conveniences to us.

The Y. M. C. A. stands for three things: privacy, to provide a high-grade man, the "Y" secretary is a brother, sister, sweetheart, mother and father to us. The building over which he presides is a church, club room and theater. It is a place where a fellow likes to go when feeling blue, a good place to be on Sunday, a good place in the long winter evenings. What would we do without it? Now, it's up to you. Will you help?

ENLISTMENTS LOW DURING OCTOBER

Seven Men Join the Navy
and Thirty-Five File
Applications.

The navy recruiting station reports seven enlistments for the month of October. Thirty-five applications were filed and it is probable that some of the applicants will become enlistments. The navy department is desirous of obtaining as many recruits as possible, being 18,000 men short from actual strength. The measure is being introduced to increase the naval quota 30,000. Of this number 30,000 are to be permanent and 50,000 temporary seamen.

The rate of enlistment has been unusually low on account of the poor facilities for new recruits. Within the last few months, however, camps as well as training ships have been prepared and the best of accommodations are now available. A recruiting campaign will be organized within a short time and will include a canvass of small neighboring towns as well as Fort Wayne.

BATTERY BOYS ARE PROBABLY IN FRANCE

Relatives of one of the boys of the Rainbow division from Rochester, Ind., have received a message that the boys of the 150th or Rainbow division have arrived safely in France. There is no official word given out, however. Both Fort Wayne batteries are members of the Rainbow division.

APELLA—"When the Frost is on the Pumpkin"

Apella is the Autumn drink, par excellence. Its aroma is that of fine ripe apples stored for winter use. It is sparkling and snappy like the crisp November air.

The pure unfermented juice of selected Autumn apples, Apella is clarified and made to sparkle and bubble like the finest champagnes. The taste is delightful. Apella is just sweet enough and just tart enough to fascinate you. It is healthful as the apples from which it is made.

Do not confuse Apella with cider. Rather, compare it with champagne, the great aristocrat of drinks, for Apella has

SPECULATORS WILL BE HEAVY LOSERS

As Result of Reduced Prices Put Into Effect by the Government.

Speculators who bought heavily some months ago and have stored their wares hoping to "clean up" on innovative consumers later will lose heavily out of business as a result of the revised prices put into effect by the government.

Port Wayne residents are already benefiting by the lower prices. Canned corn and tomatoes, which yesterday sold for 25 cents, are now retailing at 20 cents. Lower prices are now prevailing on many articles and further reductions are to be effective later.

But hard times are ahead for the speculator and also for the merchant who has laid in heavily. Many of the things which he bought some time ago will probably have to be sold at prices in some instances as low as not lower than what he paid for them.

"GARDEN OF EDEN" IN CEMENT MAKES KANSAS HOME WEIRD

(Special Dispatch.) Lucas, Kas., Nov. 2.—The weirdest home in the United States is that of S. P. Dinsmore, here in Lucas. It is built like a log cabin, only the "timbers" are of stone from the native ledges. One of the porches is ornamented with cement beer bottles and jugs and mugs as a sort of merry gibe at Kansas' prohibition law.

But it is on the grounds that Dinsmore has spent most of his time and displayed his queer genius. He has a cement Garden of Eden. He is an artist in cement and has used 873 sacks of cement to make many figures of Adam and Eve, the devil who tempted Eve and also of other characters taken from the Old Testament.

A garden of the home represents the creation and the fall of man according to Moses. There are eight cement trees 40 feet high, lighted with 19 electric lights.

These cement effigies make a ghastly collection when seen at night, especially when a great illuminated eye on the top of a cement pole commences to wink, and horrible human sounds come from the hollow cement figures that are connected by speaking tubes with Dinsmore's workshop.

Dinsmore, 73, is now busy building a cement mausoleum shaped like a pyramid.

A number of tables have been provided at the Y. W. C. A. building so that the work can be done there. Already a number of girls have pledged to help in the work and so a large and enthusiastic class is assured.

The Bible study class will meet at 7:30 Friday night with Miss Cole as teacher. The lesson of the evening is in the first half of the second chapter of "The Social Principles of Jesus."

THE REASONS FOR IT.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Reasons why American corn, potato flour and other foodstuffs, which Herbert Hoover asked be substituted for wheat are not shipped to the allies so that they make the substitution thereby making it unnecessary for the people of this country to reduce their wheat consumption, are given in a statement issued by the food administration. The question had been raised by many persons in connection with the signing of food conservation pledges.

In answering this question, attention is called to the fact that European nations are already using from twenty to fifty per cent of corn, potato and other adulterants in the manufacture of their daily bread. The British government, the statement adds, requires a twenty per cent adulteration in all wheat bread and will permit a maximum of 50 per cent adulteration beyond 50 per cent it has been found does not make a healthful loaf. In the case of corn, it is pointed out that this commodity in the form of meal cannot be shipped because it would spoil in transit. As to the whole grain, there is the objection that the people on the other side have no mills in which to grind it. Furthermore, corn bread cannot be baked successfully in bakeries on which European people depend almost exclusively for their bread. In addition it does not keep well and with the dearth of paper it would be difficult for purchasers to carry it home.

MEATLESS DAY SUCCESS HERE

in the meat orders for Friday. In many of the cases the butchers were told by their customers that the meatless day would be a permanent program at their house.

Restaurants Also Meatless. Nearly all restaurants of the city joined the spirit of the meatless day on Friday. Fish and beans and other vegetables made up the staple portion of the lunch offers for the second meatless day of the week.

Hotel men have decided to observe one meatless day a week in the future. The day will be on Tuesday, starting next week, it is decided. The hotel managers have also decided to take sugar bowls from the dining room tables and to serve an allotment of the sweet with each beverage order.

Action in limiting the sugar to be used by each customer follows the request from the government that all possible sugar be saved. It is announced that hotel men are no longer able to buy the sugar by the barrel but must limit all orders to 100 pound sacks.

Food Administrator C. B. Tolson and Frank Hilgeman, head of the Allen county food relief organization, visited the parochial school Friday and collected all signed food pledge cards. For each signed card they left a "kitchen warred" pamphlet and a colored food administration card to be hung in the front window of the home of the family which agrees to keep the "waste not" pledge.

business experience—one who has the best interests of the city at heart and one who would make Fort Wayne the best mayor it ever had.

Has Made No Promises. Mr. Colerick said that when Mr. Cutshall declared he'd clean out the city hall he means that those now holding office under Mayor Hoesly will be replaced by others. "Well, Maurice Niezer will do the same thing as far as that is concerned," he continued. "He has never asked a man in the city hall to remain with him in the event of his election and there isn't a man here who has asked Mr. Niezer for a job or who expects a job if he is elected."

apparently is General Cadorna's purpose unless the northern flank around Ampezzo and Tivizzano is turned suddenly. In the Carnic Alps, the Austro-Germans seemingly have been making slow progress toward the upper reaches of the Tagliamento and the latest official communication mentions no activity in this region. Even should the invaders succeed in crossing the Tagliamento in the region of Ampezzo, the lower course of the river would still be of great assistance to the Italians. In their retirement the Italians probably have destroyed all the bridges across the stream and small forces on the eastern bank might be able to hold back the invaders while General Cadorna prepares for a stronger stand on the line of the Piave river about twenty-five miles to the west of the Tagliamento, in order to make a supreme effort to save Venice.

The third Italian army has carried out its retreat to the eastern side of the Tagliamento, nearly complete as it left the Isonzo. The other armies did not fare so well and 4,000 additional prisoners are claimed by Berlin, bringing the total to 180,000 men and 1,500 guns. The Italians destroyed great scores of materials and ammunition in their retreat.

A mutiny on two German battleships at Kiel early in September is reported in a dispatch received in London from Amsterdam. The men revolted against being drafted into the submarine service and it is said threw overboard Admiral Schmidt, who was saved but had to leave Kiel later. There was fighting on the battleships Kronprinz and Schleswig-Holstein.

Three officers and a number of sailors were killed on the Kronprinz.

encouraging the hope of the enemy for a decisive victory with far-reaching political results.

Fell Back Slowly. As the onslaught of overwhelming masses the Italians fell back slowly. The correspondent who was fortunate enough to obtain a place in a British Red Cross automobile after remaining at the front until Saturday was able to observe the enormous movement westward. All the roads were packed with dense traffic with four or five lines abreast of teams, automobile trucks, pack mules, artillery wagons and so on. The soldiers marched or rode singly, in groups, in regiments, in brigades and divisions. It was such a time as the world has seldom witnessed. Even fields and by-roads were utilized for the colossal migration. It is not surprising that some congestion occurred amid such an exodus as the only wonder is that so great an army has been able to withdraw at all and in a neat line along the new line of defense.

Many heart-breaking scenes were witnessed along the route as the torrential rain and the vast zone of mud increased the misery of the moving multitude. Food was scarce and many went without for days while sleep was impossible as the throng trudged westward. The military hospitals were evacuated together with all other establishments and pale and wounded patients were obliged to join in the rear guard march or fall into the hands of the enemy. The roadways were strewn with dead horses. Traffic moved by night and day, often blocked for long intervals by the breaking down of some enormous artillery truck. But above all stands out the salient fact that the Italian army is on its feet, the broken detachments are reforming and the whole army is swinging into another line before the invading enemy. The safe retirement to the Tagliamento was due to the untimely appearance of large bodies of Italians of such spirit as the Alpine on Monte Nero who refused to surrender and the regiments of Bersaglieri at Monte Maggiore which perished to the last man rather than yield ground. It was because of such resistance in the face of overwhelming forces of enemy artillery and infantry that the civil population was able to retire. It was owing to the valor of Italian aviators, combating the Austro-German army of the air that fleeing women, children and old men who crowded the roads were not struck down by bursting bombs.

The spirit of the army now confronting the enemy is excellent. The troops are fired with the determination to expel the invaders from Italian soil.

CAVALRY CHECKS TEUTONS.

Italian Headquarters, Nov. 1.—(By The Associated Press.)—The cavalry rear guard continues to screen the movement of the main body of the Italian army to its newly chosen position and at the same time check the advance of the enemy lines.

General Cadorna's bulletin last night gives the first idea of where the advance is making itself felt along the hills connecting St. Daniele del Friuli, the Ledra canal and Pozzuolo del Friuli, making a curved line some miles west of the Isonzo river. Military necessity still restricts retidly the sending of the details of the operation and the mention of places, but within these close limits some general idea can be given of the heroic resistance the main part of the Italian army gave to the rush of overwhelming numbers. The greatest shock came on the north where the Isonzo first was crossed. Here occurred the weakening of certain detachments of the second army which General Cadorna had bulletined with the frankness of a great commander. It was this weakening which gave the German contingents the opportunity at a critical moment to pass forward between portions of the army of the north and that on the line further south. The double exposure of the southern force to fire in the front and on the flank required a steady falling back until the entire army was in movement toward the newly established positions further west.

Terrific Shocks. During this prodigious movement of the main front and the rear guard, which can only be sketched in the broadest outlines, some sections sustained shocks of exceptional intensity. The commanding heights of Monte Nero, which the Italians had occupied after deeds of great valor, was defended against onslaughts from three sides which gradually developed to envelopment. Added to this was the suddenness of the surprise blow from the north, which developed into a steady fire, and also on their extreme flank, gradually extending to their rear.

Under such circumstances it was humanly impossible that any army would be tried sorely and it was to extricate the troops from this situation that the retirement began all along the extended advance position occupied by the Italian army within Austrian territory. This line stretched roughly from Plezzo (Flietz), far in the north, southeastward through Gorizia to Montefalco on the Adriatic. The second army occupied most of the front above Gorizia, the third army that below Gorizia.

Vast Stores Destroyed. The retirement was accompanied by shielding operations of the rear guard, which poured a deadly fire into the advancing columns and at the same time destroyed powder depots, arsenals and bridges with the result of giving time for the withdrawal of the Italian heavy guns and of preventing military stores falling into the hands of the enemy.

The Germans encountered stubborn resistance on the Bainsizza plateau and heaps of enemy dead mark the lines of their advance. Around Globo ridge a Bersaglieri brigade, outnumbered five to one, held back the enemy while the main line had an opportunity to get its retreat in motion.

In one of the mountain passes, a small willing command of Italian troops was taken and retaken eight times during desperate artillery, infantry and hand to hand fighting. Gorizia was shelled heavily and what remained of what the correspondent saw there just a week ago today was further reduced to a mass of debris. One of the main bridges from Gorizia across the Isonzo was blown up by the Italians and the enemy movement was further impeded. As depots and arsenals were blown up the whole sky was lighted with a red glare and dense masses of smoke formed in and about the hands of the approach of an equinoctial cyclone.

Hard Rear Guard Actions. Added to the fearful din and heavy shell fire on front and flank was the continuous explosion of powder supplies as the Italians slowly fell back, harassed by a rear guard of Bersaglieri brigade, which threw up hasty breastworks and contested every foot of the way. This permitted much of the heavy artillery and munition supplies to be withdrawn, but it was a prodigious task in the face of such odds and such over prepared enemies. Some of the gunners hastily improvised derricks out of ropes and hoisted and dragged the guns by hand from the advance line. The heaviest pressure began to be felt on the Carso front Friday. The Austrians then increased their bombardment to an evening intensifying and culminated this with huge volumes of poison gas and tear shells. The humid air and a light wind permitted great waves of the deadly gases to creep low toward the Italian lines, the rear guards protecting themselves with masks and by hiding in caverns.

RUSSIA NEEDS TIME TO REST

right. He urged that the United States give aid in the form of munitions and supplies and appealed to the world not to lose faith in the Russian revolution.

Russia, M. Kerensky added, was taking an enormous part in the struggle and those who said she was out of it must have short memories. "Russia has fought consistently since the beginning. She saved France and England from disaster early in the war. She is now worn out by the strain and claims as her right that the allies now shoulder the burden." Thus Premier Kerensky explained Russia's position to the correspondent. The premier was seated in the library of the former private office of the emperor in the winter palace. The correspondent called attention to widely contradictory reports on conditions and asked that a frank statement be made. "It may be said that travelers returning from England and elsewhere to America that opinion among the people, not officially but generally, is that Russia is out of the war," he was explained.

Not Out of the War. "Is Russia out of the war?" Premier Kerensky laughed. "That," he answered, "is a ridiculous question. That Russia is taking an enormous part in the war, one has only to remember history. Russia began the war for the allies. While she was already fighting, England and France were preparing and America was only observing."

Russia at the beginning bore the whole brunt of the fighting thereby saving Great Britain and France. People who say she is out of the war have short memories. We have fought since the beginning and we must now take the heaviest part of the burden on their shoulders.

Where Is British Fleet? "At present Russian public opinion is greatly agitated by the question, 'Where is the Great British fleet, now that the German fleet is out in the Baltic?'"

"Russia," the premier repeated, "is ment nor on the basis of Premier Kerensky's statement, could it be said that Russia was about to quit the war. The government, he said, deplored constructions to the contrary.

Secretary Lansing deploring any interpretation of Kerensky's statement to the effect that Russia was about to quit the war assailed the Washington Post which printed over brief and preliminary account of Kerensky's statement the headline "Russia Quits War." He authorized this statement: "There has been absolutely nothing in the dispatches received by the department of state from Russia nor information derived from any other source whatever, to justify the impression created by the Washington Post today principally by the headline 'Russia Quits War' that Russia is out of the conflict."

"A reading of the full interview with Premier Kerensky, of which the paper published only an abbreviated and preliminary account itself shows that the headline is entirely unwarranted. Our own advice show that the provisional government in Petrograd is attacking with great energy the problem confronting it. Reports received from Petrograd by mail and telegraph show that Premier Kerensky and his government far from yielding to discouragement are still animated by a strong determination to organize all Russia's resources in a whole-hearted way and carry the war through to a victorious completion. At the same time this government like those of the allies, is rendering all possible assistance."

Must Not Lose Faith. "This," Premier Kerensky replied, "is for them to find out. They must not lose faith in the Russian revolution because it is not a political revolution but an economic one and a revolution of facts. The Russian revolution is only seven months old. No one has the right to feel disillusioned about it. It will take years to develop."

"In France, which is only as large as three Russian departments (states) it took five years for their revolution to develop fully."

Asked what he expected from the constituent assembly, the premier said: "The constituent assembly begins a new chapter in the history of the revolution but the voice certainly will be the most important factor in the future of Russia."

Draws No Picture of Future. "What future do you picture for Russia after the war?" "No one can draw any real picture of the future," Kerensky said. "Naturally a man who really loves his country will hope for all good things, but that is only his viewpoint, which may or may not be accepted by others."

Premier Kerensky, pale and earnest, sat at the end of a candle table and emphasized the points of his statements by tapping the table with his fingers. He wore a brown undecorated uniform buttoned closely. He appeared to be fatigued from his many trips to the front and his constant audiences.

never consent to make a separate peace and abandon her allies. Last night's reports from Petrograd indicate the defeat of the Bolsheviks at the polls and the practical destruction of their influence upon the Russian masses—an indication of the steady growth of Kerensky's position. The premier himself has repeatedly repudiated the idea of a separate peace and the conclusion by officials and diplomats here is that one purpose of his statement was to emphasize the need of ample supplies of money and material to strengthen his hands.

False Construction Deplored. Secretary Lansing today authorized the statement that neither on the basis of any official advice to the govern-

WEATHER CONDITIONS STILL A CORN FACTOR

Fresh Weakness Develops in Market as Movement is Facilitated.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Fresh weakness developed in the corn market today as a result more or less of weather conditions likely to facilitate the crop movement. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/2 to 1/2 lower, with December $1.17 and May $1.12 1/2 to $1.13, were followed by moderate further declines.

Provisions jumped in consequence of the big reduction in warehouse stocks here, announced in the monthly statement issued last evening.

STOCK MARKET CURB CAUSES A REBOUND

Restriction of Short Selling in Wall Street Has Prompt Effect.

New York, Nov. 2.—Prices rebounded vigorously at the opening of today's stock market as a result of the curb placed on short selling by the authorities of the exchange. United States Steel yesterday's weakest feature opened with a single lot of 20,000 shares at 98 1/2 to 97, a maximum overnight gain of 1/2 points. Advances of two to four points were made by other steels, coppers, equipments and shippings. The precautions adopted by the Pittsburgh stock exchange, disturbing rumors regarding the foreign situation and a sharp rise in exchange in the Scandinavian countries induced further selling during the first hour. Prices rallied again, however, on the strength of steels and shippings, after which trading lapsed to minor proportion. The general London market was easy.

OLD CORN REACHES TWO DOLLAR MARK

Value Listed at Double the New Corn, Which Brought One Dollar.

Old corn brought the highest price Friday morning of the season. Only one load was received but for that $2 a bushel was paid. This price was double the amount paid for one load of new corn. Hay and oats enjoyed another big run at the city market. The bottom price for hay dropped $1, while the top price remained unchanged at $20. The low price of oats dropped 1c but the top price remained the same at 60c a bushel.

The scarcity of old corn was clearly shown by the gradual increase daily in the price paid for it. It has now reached a $2 price, and still can hardly be obtained. The country is now squarely backed against the food proposition and it is everyone's duty to guard against the waste of any food substance. The corn shortage has been stemmed to some extent by using as little corn as possible in the feeding of stock.

INAUGURATE ANOTHER EDUCATIONAL FEATURE

School for Study of Meters by General Electric Employees is Organized.

Another educational feature has been inaugurated at the General Electric works—the study of watt meters and demand meters—by the employees of the meter testing department under their foreman, B. F. O'Brien. The plan is to give a series of twelve lectures and to give those attending an opportunity to file written questions pertaining to the work of the meter department. It has also been decided to increase the range of subjects and to invite all of the employees of the meter department to attend the lectures on an equal footing with those of the testing department. The meetings will be held in the large office room adjoining P. C. Morganthaler's office, on the fifth floor of building 19, on Wall street, between the hours of 5 and 6, in accordance with the following schedule:

November 8, opening address, by P. C. Morganthaler.
November 22, "Meters and Metering," by J. L. Bireley.
December 6, "Watt-hour Meters," by J. M. Price.
December 20, "Production," by J. B. Mills.
January 10, "Demand System," by C. I. Hall.
January 24, "Demand System," by J. A. Laubenstein.
February 7, "Costs," by A. W. Berning.
February 21, "Relays," by M. J. Payton.
March 7, "Inspection," by N. G. Bucher.
March 21, "Instruments," by F. B. Owen.
April 4, "Drawings," by J. C. Ray.
April 18, "Factory Methods," by R. D. Knoll.

J. L. Bireley is the secretary who has charge of the enrollment and he has requested the foremen of the several departments to furnish him with the names and number of people they will have at the school.

WABASH ANNOUNCES CHANGES.
L. W. Karnes, One of the Beneficiaries, Known Here.

Jones, who had been superintendent of the Western division of the Wabash railroad, with headquarters at Moberly, Mo., has been appointed superintendent of the St. Louis terminal division, vice C. E. Oehlert, assigned to other duties. W. H. Eckard, superintendent of the Moberly division at Moberly, succeeds Mr. Jones and L. W. Karnes, trainmaster at Decatur, Ill., has been appointed superintendent at Moberly, vice Mr. Eckard. Mr. Karnes for some time was a conductor running in and out of Peru and was known by all the trainmen and engineers on the Fort Wayne division. For some time he was stationed at Decatur as trainmaster.

ANOTHER BOWSER MAN TO WAR
Dudley S. McClure, for the past five years a valued employee of the Bowser publication department, has joined the fighting forces of Uncle Sam and will report at Ann Arbor, Mich., tomorrow morning, leaving Fort Wayne tonight. Mr. McClure was very popular with his associates, who are united in wishing him well. His leaving means an added star to the Bowser service flag.

MOVING MANY DEPARTMENTS.
Many departments at the Bowser plant are being moved into new quarters, making room for the increased amount of work in the machine department. The following departments have been moved into a new building recently constructed, south of the main factory plant shop: Crating department, planing mills and the final assembling department.

General Electric Advises Safety First Always.

DR. FRED J. SCHULZ.

MISS FRANCES STEELE.

The October number of the Fort Wayne Works' News, published in the interest of the company and the employees of the General Electric works, devotes a page to "Safety First Always." Beneath the portraits of Dr. Fred J. Schulz, the company's surgeon, and Miss Frances Steele, the trained nurse who has charge of the dispensary and the hospital at the big plant, the following advice is given: "These are two very busy people. We hope you make use of their services whenever there is the slightest reason for doing so. Every person who has received even a small scratch should have it cleaned and properly dressed at the dispensary. This may prevent a disastrous case of infection. On the other hand, you can lessen the work of the surgeon and the nurse greatly by getting the safety first habit. Think of the other fellow, yourself and your family. Do you realize that carefulness prevents more accidents than all other means? Think of yourself and the doctor and the nurse will not have to think of you."

The dispensary and hospital as now conducted at the General Electric works was opened to business in August, 1913, and it has grown in efficiency and importance until today the average number of patients is over forty per day. October was an ordinary month, so far as accidents and cases of sickness among the employees at the works were concerned, yet there was a total of 1,119 patients treated by Miss Frances Steele, the trained nurse, an average of forty-three a day. Only nineteen of these were injured or sick enough to necessitate treatment from Dr. Fred J. Schulz, the surgeon. The others were slight injuries which, through infection if not given prompt and proper treatment, might have been serious, resulting maybe in loss of limb or a fatality. The hospital, as stated, was established in August, 1913, and the first person to receive "first aid" in it was Charles Bradley, who had both legs crushed when caught between piles of sheet metal in a car which had been unexpectedly struck by a string of cars being handled by a Pennsylvania switch engine. The hospital was not then fully equipped, but Mrs. Turner, the nurse, was there and rendered the unfortunate man first aid. Mr. Bradley is still in the city, but is a permanent cripple as a result of the accident. Mrs. Nora Lee Turner, a trained nurse from California, was the first nurse and she remained there until October, 1916, when she resigned on account of poor health and was succeeded by Miss Frances Steele, a graduate from Hope hospital, who still has charge of the hospital. The employees at the big plant have been instructed to report to Miss Steele whenever injured, no matter how trifling the wound. This is to prevent infection and possible serious results. Since the establishment of the hospital cases of infected wounds inflicted at the works are very rare. Dr. Schulz, in addition to treating all patients who need the attention of a surgeon or physician, examines all the male applicants for employment at the plant. Dr. Carrie Banning performs a similar mission for the female applicants for employment.

down by an automobile in the Harrison street subway, while en route to the shop from his home, is out today and may report for work Monday if the improvement continues. He is still lame from the injuries sustained in his right leg.

BROTHERS COME TOGETHER.
Alvin and William Disler, both jitney bus operators on the Pontiac line, came together at 6:40 this morning. Bill was going west and Al was coming east when the accident happened. Both cars were slightly damaged, but no one was injured.

ARE BEING EXAMINED.
The employees of the Pennsylvania machine shop are being examined to ascertain whether or not they will have to submit to another vaccination. In the neighborhood of 300 men were examined today by the doctor in charge of this work.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.
J. Golembiowski and P. Kaczmarczyk, truck repairmen at the Pennsylvania east car shop, are on the sick list.
M. G. Hendricks has been given employment by Foreman W. H. Sherbondy as a crane operator at the Pennsylvania shop.
A. J. Huber, machine operator at the Pennsylvania planing mill, failed to appear for work this morning and gave illness as his reason.
Mrs. A. Kaufman, of the Pennsylvania storeroom at the east car shop, is unable to perform her duties due to illness.
E. A. Wagner, head of the transformer engineering department of the General Electric works, is in Chicago today on business for the company.
T. R. King, head of the apparatus engineering board of the General Electric works, will make a business trip to Lafayette tomorrow.
P. H. Goda, Pennsylvania motive power inspector, has gone to Chicago and thence will go to Logansport on business for the company.
Guy Wolford, for seven years connected with the Illinois sales district, has been transferred to the Fort Wayne sales district.

C. C. Rodenbeck, clerk to W. M. Kemp, general foreman of the Pennsylvania old car shop, has resigned and will seek employment elsewhere.
M. Stauczyk, car repairman at the Pennsylvania east car shop, bruised the index finger of his right hand while at work yesterday, compelling him to quit work.

W. P. White, who had been here on business with the local officials of the General Electric works for a week, left yesterday for his home in Pittsfield, Mass. He is connected with the commercial department.

Frank Zollars, piece work inspector of the Pennsylvania machine shop, has resumed his duties after spending his vacation traveling through the east, taking New York city, Boston, Buffalo and other places of interest.

E. C. Stanley, connected with the commercial department of the General Electric company, with headquarters at San Francisco, left yesterday for that city after spending several days with the local officials of the company.

F. H. Gaylord, blacksmith at the Pennsylvania, has resumed his duties after spending several days at Indianapolis, Ind., attending a celebration of the United Brethren church. Mrs. Gaylord, who was with her husband, also returned.

Bulletins from Cleveland announce that C. E. Denny has been appointed assistant to President Benet, R. W. Michener is appointed general superintendent and A. A. Pearce to superintendent of freight transportation on the Nickel Plate.

Mrs. E. F. Thompson, of Lafayette, Ind., accompanied by her daughter, Harrybell, and son, Robert, surprised her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Havland, by paying them a visit. Mr. Havland is employed at the Pennsylvania as a machinist.

The local branch of the American Road Machine company has been advised of the resignation of F. R. Schofer from the sales department in Pennsylvania to become sales manager of the Sharon branch of the Savage Arms company.

Will appreciate your support for the American Road Machine company.

DAILY LIFE OF EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN UNITED STATES HANGS ON RESULT OF GEN. CADORNA'S BATTLES IN NORTH ITALY

Special Dispatch from Basil M. Manly, of Our Washington Bureau.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—The cable dispatches from Italy for the next two weeks will carry the most important news Americans have read since we declared war, in the opinion of authorities in Washington.

It is hard for the peaceful, easy-going American citizen to realize, but it is true; that the manner of life of every man, woman and child in the United States, for years to come, the sacrifices they will be called upon to make, the number even who will be called upon to give up their lives in the nation's service, is at this very minute being determined, 3,500 miles away, by Italian troops.

Only two battles of the war—the Marne and Verdun—equal the present struggle in importance.

There are three great turns which this decisive battle may take, each of which is fraught with enormous consequences.

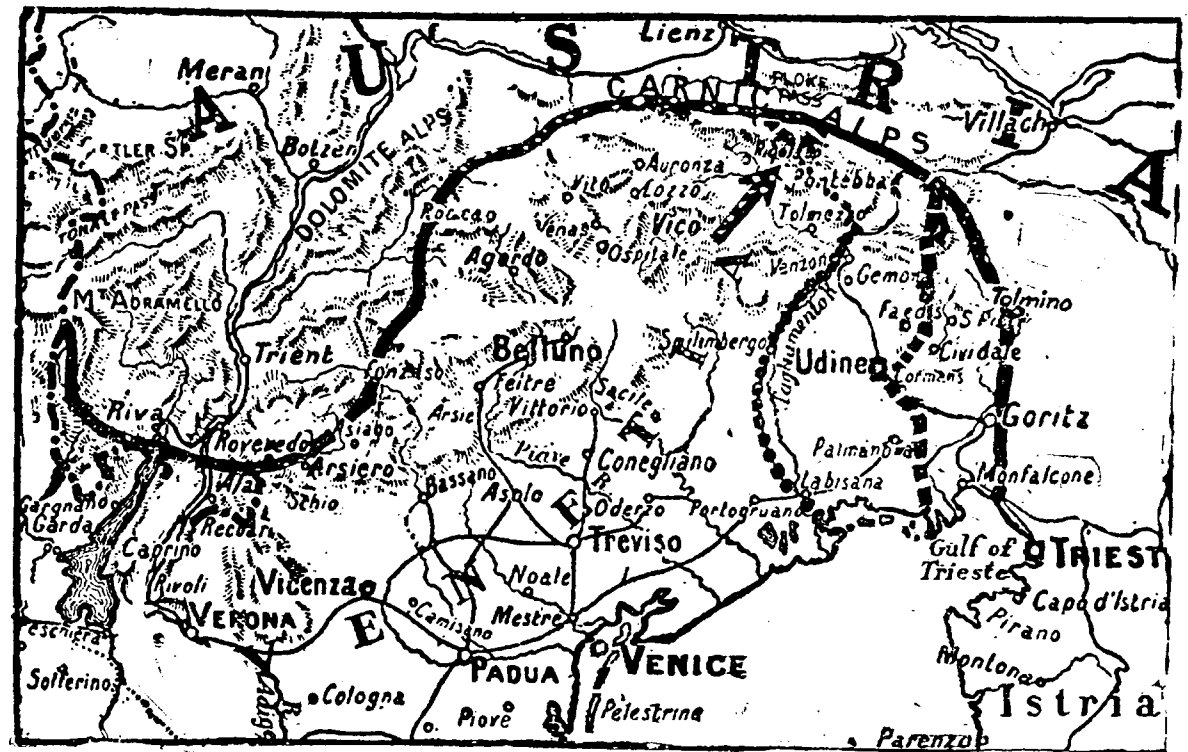

First, Cadorna's army may be crushed, Italy overrun and cut to pieces.

Second, Cadorna's troops, which are reported to be making an orderly retreat, may be able to stop Mackensen's drive by holding the prepared positions, which are understood to rest on Udine, until the French and British have time to rush big guns, ammunition, and if need be, troops from the western front.

Third, Mackensen, in the ardor of pursuit, may outrun his lines of communication, just as Von Kluck did in the drive toward Paris, and give Cadorna a chance to administer a defeat comparable in many elements to the battle of the Marne.

In a week or two, we shall know which of these turns the battle will take. Let us, therefore, see just what the big effects of each of these possibilities would be on the progress of the war and our own plans will be.

The "back line" on above map shows the front as Italian troops had pushed it onto Austrian soil; dotted line marks the Austro-German drive from above Tolmino to the Gulf of Trieste, touching Udine. The dotted line along the Tagliamento River is probably where Italy will make her next determined stand against the German drive. The arrows point to Flocken pass through which Teutonic troops have poured, threatening the flank of General C. Cadorna's forces.

States will have to spend hundreds of thousands of lives and billions of dollars before Germany can be crushed.

With Italy crushed, the Austrian submarines operating from the Dalmatian coast, which have for more than a year been held under control by the Italian navy, would again resume their activity in the Mediterranean. The transport line that supports the allied army at Salonika could then be maintained only with the greatest difficulty.

To maintain this transport line and protect the ships carrying grain and cotton from Egypt and the east, Britain would be forced to increase greatly her force of destroyers and patrol boats in the Mediterranean, and by so much weaken her Atlantic patrol, with grave menace to trans-Atlantic shipping.

With Italy crushed, or driven into the plains of the peninsula, Germany would be free to transfer huge numbers of effective troops to the Russian and Rumanian fronts, and push her conquests there to the point where she would cease to be menaced from that direction, leaving Britain, France and the United States to be met with augmented forces on the strongly entrenched western front.

If Cadorna, however, can stop the Germans on the Udine line, or any similar series of prepared intrenchments, until the allies can bring strong reinforcements, it may be possible to inflict such heavy losses on the masses Austro-German troops that it will be a victory gained at a cost as dear as the early advance at Verdun.

If, finally, Cadorna, in some way, which cannot now be foreseen any more than the turn at the Marne could be, should turn his defeat into victory and inflict severe losses on the Mackensen's forces, the effect in Germany would be tremendous.

SAMMIES ENJOY LIFE IN BIG BRITISH WAR TRAINING CAMP

An American camp in England. Convalescent British Tommy carrying American flag leads American ball team into the field.

Special Letter from Kenneth W. Payne, the Daily Sentinel's London Correspondent.

American Training Camp, Eng., Oct. 10.—This is Sammy's halfway station on the route to the French front.

After slipping secretly away from America and being lost to the world for days, thousands of American troops come to light here for a short time and get their first real taste of war conditions.

Then they disappear again, and the next that is heard from them in the states may be a casualty list from France. In the meanwhile a new American contingent takes their place here.

I came here for the Sentinel to get the first view of the life and spirit of Uncle Sam's soldiers midway between home and the firing line.

"Their good cheer, grit, and enthusiasm are astonishing. English officers in charge say of each new batch of American troops:

"They treat us fine." is the American tribute to their British hosts.

Historically, this camp is an astounding feature of the war. For the first time in British's annals, armed foreign forces have taken possession of many acres in the heart of one of her prettiest bits of country.

Side by side from the same pole in the center of camp the Union Jack and Old Glory are flying. This is the first sight that greets the eyes of American troops as they march into their camp after long, wearisome days on crowded transports.

In the hills all around them are the British trench schools. On their first day while pitching their tents and getting settled they hear the roar of trench mortars and hand grenades used in the neighboring training camps. The wind wafts to them the rattle of machine gun fire and the crackling of rifles in the British sniping schools.

Overhead a warplane gunner is using his machine gun in signal practice. Not far away at an artillery barracks a sweating group of Tommies is laboring to drag a heavy gun out of a mudhole, in practice for the real job at the front. Others are rushing trenches with the bayonet.

Our men aren't yet at war, but they're in the midst of the next thing to it. And they're as happy about it as children. Friendliness and good cheer are the keynote of the camp life. In odd moments on the outskirts of the camp and at the cottages they

men on the whole trip over," said one of the American officers. "They didn't even complain when the tobacco supply ran short."

A birdseye view of the camp at about 5 in the afternoon reveals the following activities:

Next in popularity, the Y. M. C. A. library and writing room, in a big tent near the music hall. At every green balze covered table crowds of men are writing home. Some are reading library books, and others are deep in old newspapers from home.

There are two big canteens which do a continuously rushing business in soft drinks, cakes, candy, cigarettes and coffee. There's a piano on the platform in the music hall tent. In a recent gale the tent was blown down and the piano upset into the mud. But it still produces music and all afternoon succeeding groups cluster round it while some musical genius of the regiment hammers out ceaseless ragtime.

"The grub here is first rate," said a youngster from Pittsburgh. He claimed to like the British war bread and the sugar shortage hasn't extended to this American camp.

Daily drill takes up a great deal of Sammy's time, but in off moments you'll find him playing baseball. The whole camp is a complete American tent city in the heart of England. Its residents keep shifting week by week, but its Americanism remains and each day grows more pronounced.

THE EVENING SENTINEL FILLS WOMEN'S NEEDS

Just now, in addition to the many reasons prevailing in ordinary times, there are numerous special reasons why the women who buy food and other supplies for the family should not let a day pass without a careful reading of every page of the Evening Sentinel.

Skip nothing. Read the news columns, editorials, selected women's features, the market page, store news of Fort Wayne merchants, want-ads—everything—as all hold money-saving suggestions.

NEW HEAD FOR STATE HOME.

Knightstown, Ind., Nov. 2.—Luther Short, of Franklin, Ind., has been selected to succeed Temple H. Dunn, superintendent of the Indiana soldiers' and sailors' orphan's home, it was announced here today. Mr. Dunn's resignation takes effect Dec. 31. He became superintendent of the home July 1, 1913. His resignation was a surprise.

STRONG FOR THE WAR.
Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—Resolutions, one sentence of which reads, "A blow for America in this world's war is a blow for God's kingdom," were unanimously adopted at the closing session of the state congress of the United Brethren church here. The resolutions pledged to "the leaders of our state and nation" the entire membership and means of the denomination during the war. The abolition of the liquor traffic also was advocated at the closing session. The congress closed late last night.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our appreciation for kindness and sympathy shown by our friends and associates in the recent great bereavement of our beloved husband and father.
MRS. TIMOTHY M'GRATH AND FAMILY.

NOTED HARPISAT AT ANTHONY HOTEL.

SIG. ALBERTO SALVI.

A musical attraction out of the ordinary will be heard at the Anthony hotel tomorrow afternoon at the meeting of the Woman's Club league in the appearance of Signor Alberto Salvi, a harpist of such skill and talent that he is engaged with the Chicago Philharmonic orchestra. Through the efforts of the musical department of the league, Mrs. C. A. Horton, chairman of the department, has engaged Signor Salvi to give a recital at the Anthony hotel. The meeting begins at 7:30 o'clock and admirers of the harp and musical people generally will be welcome to the meeting.

NERVOUS WRECK NOW LIVE WIRE

Makes Everybody Sit Up and Take Notice

One of our big league ball players had been going back for some time, no matter how hard he tried he could not get his old time Pep and Ginger into the game, it was up hill work all the time. He was one of those fellows hard working fellows and it finally got his "goat," his nerves went bad, he commenced to run down, could not eat or sleep and kept steadily slipping. Doctors and medicines were of no help.

One of his many admirers said to him, "Why not try Phosphated Iron, everybody is boosting it?"

Grasping at the last straw, the poor fellow took a try at it. The way he came back was an "eye opener," he was there in every department of the game, his nerves were like iron, he could hit the ball and was no time getting back to the three hundred mark, while his base running and fielding were great.

Discussing the matter with our reporter, he said, "Would you believe it, I could feel the Iron charging my blood with health and strength, while the way the Phosphates steadied and renewed by nerve force was almost too good to believe. Phosphated Iron took hold of me right from the start and sure did make a new man of me, and you can bet I carry a good supply on all my trips."

Doctors will tell you that you must have plenty of Iron and Phosphates in your system if you want pure red blood and steady nerves of Iron. Every one who is run down, nervous tired and has that "all in" feeling should try Phosphated Iron and you will never be without it again.

Special Notice—To insure physicians and patients receiving the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put up in capsules only so do not allow dealers to substitute pills or tablets, insist on the genuine in capsules only.

NOBILITY AT ETON.

London, Nov. 2.—Eton college has a larger proportion of nobility among its scholars than any English school in history. The youthful peers at Eton are largely boys who have fallen heir to their titles through the death of their fathers in war. Lord Longford's father was killed at Gallipoli. Lord De la Warr's father was also killed in the army. Other pupils who will take seats in the house of lords as soon as they reach their majority are Lord Brecknock, Lord Kinnoull, and Lord Ridley. Prince Henry, the king's third son, is a classmate of Prince Leopold, of Belgium, and Prince Sarbjit Singh, son of the Sirdar of Kapurthala. Other students include Lord Carmarthen, Lord Worcester, Lord Clydesdale, Lord Castlereagh, Lord Cardigan, Lord Ashley, Lord North, Lord Knubworth, Lord Hastings, Lord Clonmore, and Lord Balmle.

URGES FARMERS TO KEEP BABY PORK

Slump in Prices is Help to Effort of County Agent
Hutchins.

County Agent A. J. Hutchins is bending every effort to induce Allen county farmers to go on fattening their little pigs. The high price offered for the tender pork has been an inducement to farmers to sell their young pigs, despite the government appeal that more fat and meat be produced.

The local market has slumped several cents on the price paid for small sized porkers and the fall to ten and twelve cents for the most is a great aid to County Agent Hutchins in his work. Many Allen county farmers have promised to raise their pigs to maturity, Hutchins has been told of late.

The county agent is making an effort to induce farmers who have small pigs and no corn with which to go on feeding them, to sell their stock to farmers who do have the fattening corn instead of taking the baby porkers to market, where they will be destroyed.

WAR DEPLETES OXFORD.

Oxford, Nov. 2.—Oxford university is very depleted in the matter of students, the Americans, both Rhodes scholars and others, having now gone to join their country's call to arms. There are now only a very few young students under military age, some neutrals and Indians in residence. The Scientific Museum is largely given up to the flying corps, but the chemical laboratory is full of research and war work while physiology and pathology are not neglected. The colleges have been hard hit financially but still keep open. Merton is a nurses' home and Oriel partly a women's college. Others are full of cadets and airmen. There are the usual number of women students but a large proportion are engaged on some sort of war work.

Our First Anniversary Sale Is Bringing Into Bold Relief the Value-Giv- ing of this Store

This anniversary celebration provides exceptional values, for an event of this kind would be of no avail if there would not be an actual performance of the claims made. The fact that this anniversary has brought us an unusual amount of extra business so far this week is proof of the confidence our customers have in this store's announcements and its merchandise.

As we mentioned in our opening ad, many of the best values were not advertised, due to the style exclusiveness of the garments, yet greatly varied collections and price ranges—we never plunge in buying quantities of any particular garment just because we could sell quantities of them. It would rob the purchasers of that exclusiveness which we aim to maintain for them. Exclusiveness with us is the spice and life of our business success—variety is our great motto. And our chief effort is to provide style and quality with a nominal cost to you.

The growth of our business in one year has proved that our efforts are in the right direction—a healthy business growth caused by an endless chain of satisfaction. We are elated over the results, and inaugurated this ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION SALE to further the interests in a mutual way between this store and its customers through its extraordinary values—to add new patrons to its list—to act as a stepping stone to a greater second year.

PEOPLE ARE BUYING BONDS

War Loans Teaching Americans How to Economize and to Invest.

BANKER VANDERLIP POINTS THE LESSON

World Amazed by Revelation of America's Investment Capacity.

The United States is becoming a nation of bond-owners. The floating of two Liberty Loans, which have made everybody familiar with bonds and what they stand for, is certain to be followed by much buying of bonds on the part of our plain American people, who formerly left these issues to be taken up by banks and capitalists.

"A bond in every home" is not impossible development of the American future.

No American is a better authority on this subject than Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, New York—the biggest bank in America, and one of the five biggest in the world.

Vanderlip is now a volunteer worker in the United States treasury department at Washington. His patriotic job is to sell two billion dollars worth of war savings certificates, which will be ready perhaps in December.

The Sentinel sent Milton Brommer of its Washington bureau to interview Vanderlip. Here is Brommer's article:

FRANK A. VANDERLIP.
In an interview with Milton Brommer of Our Washington Bureau.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—The great success of the second offering of the Liberty Loan bonds has in it a deep significance in regard to the future of investment business in the United States. The education which these Liberty Loan campaigns are giving the people of this country in regard to investment securities and the experience which the people are gaining will, I believe, have a profound effect in the future upon the market for securities other than government offerings.

FRANK A. VANDERLIP.

When the first Liberty Loan campaign was being organized some figures were collected from the great bond selling houses, with a view of ascertaining how many people in the United States were in the habit of investing in securities. The conclusion was reached that all the names on the books of all the important bond houses did not aggregate much if any more than 300,000 persons. Subscribers to the first Liberty Loan numbered 4,000,000. A vast number of additional subscribers to the second loan will learn for the first time what a bond looks like, and will get their first lesson in the acquisition of a sound investment. I believe the result of this is going to be of fundamental importance to our future. It means growing habits of thrift for our people, and it means vast accumulation of capital.

Lovely White Skin!

Strain lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

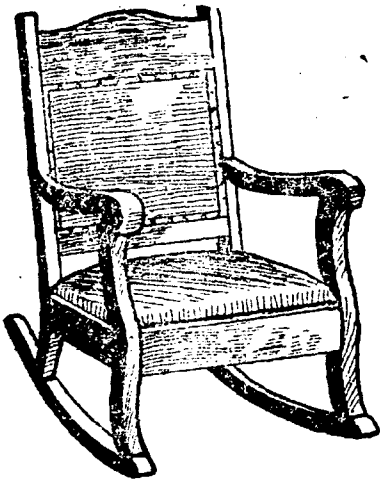

By all means, girls, prepare a lemon lotion to keep your skin flexible and young looking. You will soon realize that true loveliness does not mean the powdery look or waxen colorlessness of some hot house flower, but is typified by the velvety softness of your peach-like complexion and rosy-white hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and hidden beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.—Advertisement.

in a world that will sorely need capital. America is in a position to take a place of financial pre-eminence in the world, but whether she does take that place or not lies not with the bankers, not with the government, but in the will of the people to save.

If some of the vast earning power of this country can in a fair proportion be diverted through the channel of savings into new resources for investment, America will easily take the first position in financing the reconstruction of the world.

We are going to discover through these sales of Liberty Bonds that the investment capacity of the United States is beyond anything heretofore dreamed of. The first Liberty Loan, four times larger than the largest loan ever placed in America before was in three months completely absorbed by investors.

Practically none of it remained in the hands of the banks, either in the form of investment or as collateral for customers' loans. No one familiar with investment conditions would have deemed that possible.

People have begun to save in order that they may invest. They are realizing that the war must be fought with future savings, that past savings are already invested and are in fixed forms of property that cannot be devoted to the purposes of the war. As that lesson gets thoroughly into the minds of 100,000,000 people and they begin with a will to save, in order that they may invest, the possibilities in the way of creating fresh investment funds will prove beyond the wildest imaginings of what might be the total investment fund in the country.

Sensible economy practiced by the people will not mean stagnation in business.

With the government seeking to buy goods and services for itself and the allies to an amount approximating $20,000,000,000 a year, there can be no idleness. There can only be the most extreme activity in nearly all lines of industry.

I doubt very much—and I express this only as a personal view—that the government will be able to spend the total appropriated. Not because it may not be needed in the promotion of the war, but because it will be impossible to produce the goods.

There will be a most imperative necessity that people analyze their expenditures, and buy nothing but what is useful; not as much that they may save money to lend to the government, as that they must save manpower from doing unnecessary work.

All this is not going to bring stagnation to business. The government's activities, the complete labor employment, high wages, high prices of all agricultural produce, should make up a period of intense industrial and commercial activity. Business will be greater than ever before; but it will be somewhat different in character.

The maker of unnecessary luxuries may suffer for the time being, but he, and all of us, must recognize that we cannot go on producing all the things, necessary and unnecessary, that we have been producing, and in addition produce $20,000,000,000 worth of other things for the government.

The war is going to reveal our financial resources in such proportion that their extent will astound the world. It is going to extend a knowledge of investments to millions of people who never before saw a security. It will start habits of thrift which should take deep root in our national character, and will produce a profound effect upon our national lives long after the war is victoriously ended.

taining. The soil of the territory is capable of producing grain, vegetables and berries, the greatest hindrance to large crops being the short summer season.

ITALIAN ARMY EXPERT ANALYZES FOE'S DRIVE

Shell Shortage Makes the Teuton Gain Possible,
But It Will Fail.

Special Dispatch from L. Harper
Leech, of Our Washington Bureau.
Washington, Nov. 1.—Germany's offensive against Italy, reduced to military essentials and stripped of its possible political significance, is an attempt to repeat the Duanie drive of 1915, which blasted Russia out of Galicia and Poland, and the Serbian drive
of the same year, which blew open
the road to Constantinople.

General Mackensen, the commander, who carried out the big smashes of 1915, and who is again heading the Germans, is the "pinch hitter" of the Prussian war machine.

The Germans believe the Italians
are caught in the same relative position as the Russians and Serbs in 1915.
The Russians had stripped of its munitions. The Serbs had little artillery.
In both campaigns Mackensen literally
blasted his way by drum fire.

Italy has plenty of guns, and her munitions and supply departments are alert, but the submarine campaign
and ship shortage which have failed to cripple France and Britain, have reduced Italy's munitions supplies far below the danger line. The Italian offensive of the early summer consumed
most of her reserve munitions. Italy has neither coal nor iron and must get both by sea. For five months the Italian military commission in Washington has been struggling for American wheat, steel and coal.

That the Italian army is hampered by a serious shortage of shells is no secret. The big German offensive is freely admitted by Italian officers in the United States. Captain Count Lucerna de Camperion, who arrived here only recently, says the whole thing hangs on "Munitions, Munitions, Munitions," paraphrasing Lloyd George's "Ships, Ships, Ships" with real Latin intensity.

The county, attached to the Italian military mission, says there is no son to mine words about something the Germans knew all about when they decided to launch their attack.

"Then they know about the conditions in the Italian army?" I asked.
"Certainly, German spies are on every street corner in Italy, or in Europe for that matter. We have done
our best to catch them, but where one
is caught, others take his place."

The count says the German offensive has been expected for some time
—in fact, it has been inevitable ever since the Russian army's disorganization in July.

The first blow was expected on the Bainsizza plateau, where it fell. The next stroke on the upper Isonzo was not so clearly anticipated when the
plete demoralization of Russia and the safety with which Germany can withdraw troops from the eastern front was not then so apparent.

Asked whether the railroad facilities between France and Italy would allow the transfer of French, British and American troops to stem a German offensive on the Italian front, the count said the railroads were available, but that there was no need of allied
infantry.

Italy has plenty of men—also plenty of cannon—but not enough shells.
The transfer of British and French batteries to the Italian front, which has been going on for some time, is due to the lack of Italian cannon or artillerymen, but of shells.

Britain and France have considerable reserve stocks of shells and their supply is being kept up, but their shells will not fit the Italian cannon. To use the allied shells on the Italian front requires allied cannon to fire them and allied artillerymen to handle the guns.

The Italian shell shortage made it self felt before the end of the recent Italian offensive, and the presence of 10 British batteries on the lower Isonzo at that time, with a large number of French batteries above Gorizia, was due solely to the necessity of using allied ammunition.

That Italy will stop the German drive, just as she stopped the German
"strafe expedition" from the Trentino
early last year, is Count Lucerna's confident prediction. He says that the German counter-attacks of prisoners taken are altogether unreliable.

An Old Man's Stomach.
As we grow older and less active, less and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 35 or 40, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain poison, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.—Advertisement.

PLANS GROWING FOR NEW HAVEN EXHIBIT

Prizes Will Go for Every Variety of Fruit and Produce.

Plans for the farm production show
to be held at New Haven on November
28-30 are now complete, announces
County Agent A. J. Hutchins, who conferred with officers of the New Haven
organization on Thursday. Money has already been gathered for giving nearly $20 in cash prizes for the best displays of fruit and grain.

There will be speakers on every afternoon and night of the production contest. Two of the best known professors to Purdue university are expected to be among those who deliver addresses. There will be music and demonstrations in scientific planting and cultivating. Displays of new models of farm tools are expected. All sessions will be held in Meyer hall.

Directors of the New Haven association will meet on Monday evening to arrange for publicity and added feature events for the show.
Corn is wet.
County Agent Hutchins is spending

much of his time in conferring with farmers concerning the state of their crops. The corn fields are hub deep in soft mud and access to the shocks
or uncut grain is impossible.

The soft, water-soaked condition of the corn makes farmers fear for the outlook for seed corn for next year.
There is a doubt if much of the grain
will do for replanting.

Mr. Hutchins is advising that no effort be made to cut the corn at this time in cases where the grain is not already shocked. He believes the corn which is yet standing in the field is in a better shape than that which is cut and standing in shocks. The food value of the grain will not be impaired
when the corn has been properly dried,
Agent Hutchins states.

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN IN NEXT SUNDAY'S GAME

For Reason That Toledo Maroons Have Defeated Some of the Best.

Much interest is being taken among Fort Wayne fans in next Sunday's gridiron battle with the Toledo Maroons. Fort Wayne fans are reasonably familiar with the record of the Maroons and they know that if the Friars expect to win it will be up to them to put forth the best they have. The fact that the Maroons played the fast Massillon eleven to a scoreless tie, is sufficient evidence of their class. But that is not all. Last season they defeated the Pine Village team and this season have defeated the Detroit Heracles and other aggregations of the same standing.

Another reason has been secured for the Friars in the person of H. C. Banjan, last year with Notre Dame. He is at present located at Camp Zachary Taylor and thus far this season has been playing with Pine Village. Last Sunday he sent a message to the Friars that he would much rather be with the Friars. "Deac" was instructed to secure his services and a message from "Deac" says that Banjan will be here for next Sunday's game.

Hundreds of boys will be guests of the Friars next Sunday, it being Boys' Day. Tickets for Sunday's game have been secured at the usual places and also at Meyer Brothers' drug store at Calhoun and Wayne streets.

NOTRE DAME GOES EAST.
Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 2.—"We're going to give them a battle and we don't concede them a victory by a long shot." This was the parting speech of Coach Harper, as he herded the Notre Dame eleven on an eastbound train yesterday afternoon. West Point is the destination of Harper and his twelve athletes, who are out of their way to play the fifth revival of the annual intercollegiate clash with the Army Saturday.

The players, with few exceptions, are in excellent condition. The exceptions are Rydzewski, Madigan, Bahan and Brandy. Rydzewski and Brandy were left at home because of injuries.

BROWN'S PLAN A SENSATION.
St. Louis, Nov. 2.—Robert Quinn, business manager of the St. Louis Browns, said today that an attempt would be made at the approaching American league meeting in Chicago to swing a deal that will put the St. Louis team near the top in next season's race.

"Mr. Ball is tiring of base ball clubs that do not measure up to the winning standard," said Quinn. "We have in mind a deal which, if consummated, will convert the team into a first-division club or a pennant winner. We stand as good a chance to land the deal as any other club in the league, and Mr. Ball will go as far as any of the rivals if it comes to a bidding contest."

ROSE POLY SHAKUP.
Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 2.—The Rose Polytechnic school is braving the cold week in a strenuous scrimmaging in preparation for the game with Franklin next Saturday on Rose field here. Coach Lefty Gilbert is considering shifting Floyd, the crack center, to the back field, as he has been dissatisfied with the playing of Dan Howard, the new recruit, and also Burns and Brophy, who have been tried out in the back field. Right Guard Henry will take Floyd's place at center, while Howard will be used on end. Other changes to be made are calculated to make the fighting engineers stronger than ever.

BOXING CLUB SOLD.
Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 2.—Mike Collins, Hudson, Wis. fight promoter, and manager of Fred Fulton, John S. Johnson and William O'Brien, of Minneapolis, today purchased the Minneapolis Boxing club. Collins will be the matchmaker. Fred Fulton will probably appear against some fast heavyweight for the first card, to be staged in two weeks.

LEACH CROSS TO ARMY.
San Diego, Cal., Nov. 2.—Leach Cross, the New York boxing artist, may become boxing instructor at Camp Kearney, according to a statement given out today by K. R. Case, Jr., divisional athletic director at the camp.

BOXING FANS' RUBAIYAT.
Wake, for the time has surely come to quit The ringdances where the burly hams, unfit Have hugged and riddled for an hour And neither one has scored a decent hit.

Myself when young did eagerly frequent This fight and that and didn't care a cent How punk they were, but evermore They've got to show the gods to get the rent.

Old-timers hark back into other years and tell Of those who fought their battles, fought them well, And didn't yowl about a quarter pound in weight And at the guarantee they didn't yell.

But they are gone and with their going came A brand new pack to shuffle into fame Who care not for the public—just the coin, Or give a whoop about the future game.

HE CAN HEAR IT.
WHY NOT?
Now about 30c?

Wladek Zbyszko has been rejected by army surgeons on account of a bad ear. But there's never anything wrong with that ear when a promoter is talking about guarantees.

Walter Camp could save himself a lot of worry about having to go outside Yale, Harvard and Princeton for his all-American team if he would pick an informal seven.

New York promoters refuse to take seriously the project of having six-day bicycle races held at Matteawan. Johnny Coulon has announced a brand new comeback. Johnny is getting as good at this comeback stunt as Sarah Bernhardt.

Three-cushion billiard players are lucky. The government is going to put a 10 per cent tax on amusements.

SPORT SAVINGS

The Bluffton high school basketball team opened the season at Petroleum this week. The boys won 27 to 25 and the girls won 21 to 5.

All this talk about the Hammond and Pine Village game next Sunday being for the state championship is the cheapest kind of press agent stuff.

The reason the Friars are not going to play Wabash this season is due to the fact that Wabash is not in the Friars' class. By which is meant that Wabash is not fast enough.

One more month of football. And then comes basketball.

The basketball team of the Fort Wayne high school will open the season this evening in Governor James P. Goodrich's home town of Winchester. The Winchester high school has had a basketball team every season almost since the advent of basketball as one of the popular sports and the locals will be up against a real aggregation judging from past performances.

Already it looks as though there would be no Central league or any other kind of a league basketball team in Fort Wayne next season. However, as long as Mart Cleary is in our midst we should worry.

Somehow we haven't heard as much basketball talk as usual. However, there is plenty of time.

A large number from this city will see the Indiana-Ohio football game at Indianapolis tomorrow. As a matter of state pride we are all pulling for Indiana, but we're awfully afraid our pull won't be strong enough.

Purdue has made the poorest showing this season in years.

Remember in patronizing the Friars game here this season you are also contributing to some extent to war charities. The Friar management is hoping that a goodly sum will be left at the end of the season for this purpose.

The Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club's indoor range will be opened Saturday night. Practices will be held three nights a week, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and also on Saturday afternoon.

Announcement is made that the outdoor shoot for the Fred Zollars trophy, postponed from last Sunday because of unfavorable weather conditions, will be held next Sunday, providing, of course, if the weather is fit.

A workout will be given the members of the Bachelor football team tonight. They are asked to meet at Library hall.

In a fast game of basketball last night the Bluffton representing the General Electric apprentice school defeated the F. O. P.'s at the Olympic gymnasium by a score of 35 to 24.

MARQUETTE IN HAND DRILLS.
Milwaukee, Nov. 2.—Coach Jack Ryan, Marquette university is working his men hard to get them in the best possible condition for their game with St. Thomas on Saturday. He is drilling them on breaking up the forward pass, which he expects the St. Paul aggregation to use against his huskies. His defense is Bodine and Murray against Captain Dandlet and Neiter of St. Thomas is strong, and he expects to hold these two star men. It was through these two that the St. Thomas eleven made all their gains in the last year's game in which they defeated Marquette, 26 to 7.

LOOKS IMPOSSIBLE.
Nate Lewis, manager of Charlie White, does not believe a White-Leonard match possible now that both are boxing instructors in the government service. Lewis says he does not favor Milwaukee for the battle ground and doubts New York can stage such a go, now that the boxing law is near its end. Tom Andrews was in town yesterday trying to close White's end, but would not listen to Nate's financial terms.

LEACH CROSS TO ARMY.

HOW ABOUT 1918 MANAGERS?

Two St. Louis Clubs, Pittsburg and Maybe Boston, Will Need Pilots—Who Will Get the Jobs?

Two perhaps three, new major league managers will be selected this winter. The St. Louis Cardinals will have a new pilot to take the place of Miller Huggins, who has gone to the Yankees. It is likely Barney Dreyfuss will be in the market for a manager for the Pirates, as it is scarcely probable he will allow Besocke to remain in charge. There have been repeated rumors that Fielder Jones, disappointed at the failure of the Browns to make good, will retire from baseball to look after his lumber interests in the northwest, which would create a managerial vacancy with that club. It also has been rumored that Magnate Harry Frazee is dissatisfied with Jack Barry's work at Boston and is seeking to fill his shoes, Dick Hobbs being prominently named for the berth. It is quite likely this rumor is unfounded. The Cardinal job is open and although there have been many applications the names of Ira Thomas and Jimmy Sheppard have received more favorable mention than any others. Both are smart ball players. Thomas learned most of his baseball under Connie Mack and needless to say he learned it well—that's Mack's way of doing things. At one time Thomas was considered one of the most dependable catchers in the major leagues. Sheppard is a smart ball player of the Chance school. His managerial experience is confined to a year with Toledo in the American association. Should Sheppard get the job and succeed he would be the first of the Cuban crew who has made good in a managerial capacity since the Chance steam roller broke down in 1910. Tinker failed both at Cincinnati and with the Chicago Peds. Chance, after leaving Chicago was a false alarm with the Yankees. Brown did not do well with the St. Louis Peds. If the other managerial berths mentioned are open the question of why Bill Clynner isn't selected presents itself. There has been no minor league manager with such success as Clynner, who for ten years has not had a team finish worse than third. Clynner's experience has been confined for the most part in the American association and International leagues, but the success of Clarence Rowland and Lee Fohl proves that major league experience is not absolutely essential in major league managers.

17TH BATTALION TEAM WINS SENSATIONAL GAME

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., Nov. 2.—Through successful line plunges and end runs aided by three or four sensational forward passes the 17th Battalion football team, composed mostly of Fort Wayne boys, triumphed over the 343rd Truck Co. by a score of 20 to 13. Wednesday's victory was the first of the season for the 17th.

The victors were outweighed ten pounds to the man and although opposing some former famous college and professional football players they pulled the game out of the fire after the opposition had gotten the jump on the boys.

The first quarter the Truck company boys intercepted an attempted punt on the twenty yard line and were successful in making a touchdown. They also kicked goal.

It was but a few minutes afterward that the score was tied when Quarterback Bair made a sensational forward pass to Right End Fruechte, who made a dash for a touchdown. He was given good interference and after dodging two opponents crossed the line. Vesey kicked goal tying the score.

Rooters were plentiful for both sides and the game created much interest from this time on.

The Fort Wayne boys seemed to be instilled with a great bunch of pep after the first touchdown and in the second quarter played the opposition off their feet.

Line plunges by Vesey, Weisbecker, Mensch and Bair were numerous, all for gains of four to ten yards. End runs were broken up at times but nice gains were made frequently.

Left end Adams set the fans to howling when he plucked a forward pass out of the fire for a gain of fifteen yards.

Carrying the ball from past the center of the field to within the five yard line, Vesey made the second touchdown of the game by a line plunge in which the line men for the 17th tore a big hole in the line of the opponents.

In the same quarter both lines tightened up and there were some big pile ups. The ball was carried by the 17th to within the two yard line of the Truck boys and it is here where the real battle began. On three downs the Fort Wayne boys were only able to make a gain of a yard.

On the fourth down one of the opposition players was off sides and a gain of a half yard was made with four downs to make the distance. Weisbecker made the plunge for the third touchdown. Bair was injured at this point of the game and was forced to retire. It was the closest of the first half. However, to make things more interesting Vesey kicked goal for another point.

During the third quarter the ball changed hands frequently, but no scoring was done.

In the last quarter, on another block punt the visitors were able to carry the ball within the five yard line of the Fort Wayne boys' goal. On three downs they gained but two yards and on the fourth down the ball was carried near the goal mark, but the referee decided it to be a touch down. They missed on the kick for goal. This ended the scoring, but at the sound of the whistle the Fort Wayne boys were threatening another touch down.

MINOR LEAGUES FACE A SERIOUS SITUATION

Annual Meeting November 13 Will Be Fraught With Momentous Import.

New York, Nov. 2.—Bear stories from minor league managers along about the time of the annual meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball leagues in the past have been as common as those emanating from football camps on the eve of a big game and generally have been given no more credence.

But this year the situation is different and the minor league moguls who will assemble at Louisville Nov. 13 to 15 will be confronted by the most serious conditions they have ever faced.

The season of 1917 was the most disastrous the minors have ever gone through. Many leagues were forced to disband and few made money.

Even a class A organization, the Western league, faced bankruptcy and disruption and was only saved by a quick shift of management.

The prospect for 1918 is not at all encouraging and it is certain some of the magnates will favor discontinuing minor league ball in the lower classes until conditions are more settled.

These conditions have caused talk of a third league to emerge in the American association and International league to eliminate long hauls to Kansas City and Minneapolis in the former and Baltimore and Richmond in the latter.

The meeting will be an epochal one and may mark a revolutionary period in the minors.

WHO WILL BE REGARDED AS HOARDERS OF FOOD

No Penalty for Housewives Who Have Preserved or Have Substituted.

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—Special pains have been taken by Dr. Harry E. Barnard, Indiana food administrator, and the Indiana State Council of Defense, to make it clear that the federal administration specifically exempts from the list of food hoarders any person who has preserved or substituted for staples during the approaching winter. Dr. Barnard's warning against the hoarding of staples is further emphasized, however, in his statement exempting the patriotic housewife from her own garden or orchard, or which she has purchased and expects to use in substitution for staples during the approaching winter. to purchasing sugar in five-pound lots and buys by the 100 weight or if she has been accustomed to buying flour by the 25-pound sack and takes to buying by the barrel, then certainly she may be justly charged with hoarding, but not otherwise.

Directing attention to the penal clause of the new bill prohibiting hoarding, Dr. Barnard says:

"This law does not apply only to dealers in food stuffs. It says any person and it is just as much a violation of the law for a housewife to buy more sugar than she needs as it is for a wholesaler to buy canned goods or sugar for the purpose of holding them for higher prices.

"Any information as to the practice of hoarding on part of individuals or dealers should be reported to me at once. An investigation will be started promptly by the department of justice on any complaints made by retailers against wholesalers or on information supplied by individuals against individuals or dealers."

The section fixing the penalty for violation of the hoarding provision of the food control bill follows:

"That any person who wilfully hoards any necessities shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not exceeding $5,000 or be imprisoned for not more than ten years or both. No person shall be deemed to be hoarding within the meaning of this act when either held, contracted for or arranged for by any person in a quantity in excess of his reasonable requirements for use or consumption by himself or his dependents for a reasonable time."

MILK SHORTAGE.

Prices Not Raised by Majority of Milk Dealers, However.

Although the local milk dealers have been forced to pay an advanced rate to the farmer for milk a number of them refused to raise the retail price to 13 cents a quart. Some dairymen are getting this price but most of the dealers are still holding to the October price of 11 cents. There is a shortage of milk, however, and a number of groceries and consumers were unable to get milk Thursday. The main cause of the shortage is the fact that many farmers are selling their cream for the butter fat.

AT THE PALACE

THE HUMAN FLY.

Harry H. Gardner is an Actor as Well as an Athlete.

Harry H. Gardner, the Human Fly, is an actor as well as an athlete. For this remarkable man whose scaling of towering buildings throughout the country has made him nationally famous proved himself a clever storyteller in presenting a brief sketch of his life at the Palace yesterday. He will appear at each of the performances today and tomorrow, projecting some excellent films of his self-climbing huge buildings, the while he maintains a running fire of comment.

The bill itself for the last portion of the week is a whizz. Harry Langdon, one of the educated nuts of vaudeville, is presenting a bit of automobile comedy entitled "Johnny's New Car," in which some snappy small talk is indulged in and some laughable automobile comedy keeps the house in an uproar. William Morrow and company's roadside flirtation skit in song and joke is a nifty diversion, the audience enjoying hugely the exchange of wits between the man of the world and the "simple" country girl. Pat Barrett, a talented delineator of character songs, has a whole grist of exclusive numbers which he sings in a manner all his own. Margaretta Anderson is presenting a swiftly moving splurge of girls, frocks, songs and dances entitled "The American All Girl Revue." Hector, a truly remarkable dog with a lot of assisting canines, is giving a novel dog act, using practically none of the stereotyped tricks. Walsh and Bentley's acrobatic turn is neatly staged, the two athletes appearing one as a bellboy and the other as a guest at a hotel. The big man looks like Jess Willard and seems to be just about as powerful.

INVADERS OF ITALY FIGHTING TO CROSS THE TAGLIAMENTO

Cadorna's New Line.

ALLIES PLAN BIG COUNTER OFFENSIVE

(By The Associated Press.)

The battle of the Tagliamento has been begun by the artillery. The Austro-German invaders of northern Italy have opened from the easterly side of the river upon General Cadorna's position on the westerly bank of the stream, to which the Italian armies have effected a retreat during the ten days that have elapsed since their Isonzo front was broken.

Cadorna's artillery is replying. Rome announces today, and the struggle for the river line is on.

Apparently the Teutonic attempt to force a crossing of the stream is not to be long delayed. The Italian statement announces the advance of Austro-German patrols from the main enemy positions to the river bank. They were met there by Italian machine gun fire and repulsed.

Uncertainty exists, however, as to whether the Italian high command has planned a definite stand on the Tagliamento line or if merely a delaying action is intended to afford time for preparation of a stronger line at the Livense, ten to fifteen miles further west, or at the Piave, approximately twenty-five miles from the Tagliamento. The next day or two seems likely to resolve this doubt.

FOE REACHES BANKS.

Rome, Nov. 2.—Austro-German patrols have advanced to the banks of the Tagliamento river, along which the Italians are making a stand. The war office announces that these patrols were repulsed.

A COUNTER OFFENSIVE.

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Thursday, Nov. 1.—Italian and allied troops are preparing for a counter offensive. A great battle based on the line of the Tagliamento is forecast.

Not only is the main body of the Italian army intact after having dealt several blows to the enemy, but it is now apparent that the Italians have thwarted the Austro-German plan of encompassing the third army on the Carso, thereby cutting off the flow of the forces in this region, rendering the Venetian plains defenseless and

Petrograd, Thursday, Nov. 1.—In view of reports reaching Petrograd that the impression was spreading abroad that Russia was virtually out of the war, Premier Kerensky discussed the present condition of the country frankly today with the Associated Press. He said Russia was worn out by the long strain, but that it was ridiculous to say the country was out of the war.

The premier referred to the years in which Russia had fought her own campaign alone, with no such assistance as has been extended to France. He said he felt help was needed urgently and that Russia asked it as her

AMERICANS GIVE GERMAN SNIPERS STRAIGHT SHOTS

With the American Army in France, nothing was accomplished by the enemy. The infantry in one section had quite a lively time for two nights. The Germans, thinking a hostile patrol was near them, opened fire with their rifles at the point where the opposing trenches are nearest. The Americans let the Germans fire for a time and then they themselves began to fire.

Several German airplanes which flew over the trenches were targets for rifles and machine guns. The morale of the Americans is distinctly pleasing to the French. The troops marched out of the trenches in the dark, their wet and muddy clothes clinging to them. As soon as they were out of hearing of the Germans the men swung along whistling or singing.

Officers of all the groups commented on the remarkably small amount of sickness which had developed. There are some bad colds but as far as respiration there are less than half a dozen cases including "trench foot" and pneumonia. An officer said the splendid physical condition of the men was responsible for this showing.

The battalions sent in to relieve the men who have just left the trenches found the ground frozen when they came up. The sector remains normal, according to the latest reports available. The artillery on both sides was rather more active during the last days in which the first contingent of Americans was in the trenches. The Germans shelled the back areas and approaches, putting shrapnel and high explosive shells in the direction of the trenches and battery positions. Aside from living up things for awhile,

Washington, Nov. 2.—Official tabulation of reports at headquarters on the food pledge week campaign show that more than 4,000,000 American women have signed the card pledging themselves to conserve food. There are still eight states that have not reported and in those cases where results have been received they are far from complete and in but few instances include any of the country districts.

Indiana reports the largest number of cards signed since the latest tabulation, 37,221, which gives her the highest enrollment of all the states that have reported so far, 147,493. Michigan ranks second in the total of enrollments reported, with 145,645, and California is third with 132,559.

Two rousing meetings were held Friday noon at the plants of the General Electric company and the Bass Foundry and Machine company at which the employees of these two institutions were urged to stand by the municipal properties by casting their votes for Maurice C. Niezer, on next Tuesday.

Three democratic meetings were held Thursday evening and all were well attended. Mr. Niezer spoke at the Clay school and at the Iroquois club. W. H. Reed and Charles M. Niezer spoke at the Washington school. Other speakers at the Clay school were John C. Hoffman, Jacob Hartman, Edward J. Ehrman, Frank J. Schlebecker and Judge John W. Eggenman. Guy Cole-rick, E. V. Emrick, Herman Korte, John C. Hoffman and Jacob Hartman spoke at the Iroquois club in addition to Mr. Niezer.

Republican Meeting.
A mass meeting of republicans will be held this evening in the assembly room of the court house.

Mr. Niezer in his address last evening accused the republicans of attempting to steal at the eleventh hour of the campaign planks from the democratic platform. Mr. Cutshall after going through the campaign on the cry of cleaning out the city hall has suddenly declared himself in favor of a municipal gas plant. Mr. Niezer declared. He also pointed to Mr. Cutshall's pretended friendship for the city lighting plant, when, as a matter of fact, the institution which he is the manager, is using traction lights.

Mr. Emrick declared that in Mr. Niezer the people have a man of wide

Summary of the Day's War News

Russia is worn out by the strain of the war and now looks to the other allies for help. This is Premier Kerensky's opinion of Russia's situation after seven months in attempting reorganization and regeneration. But Russia is not out of the war. Kerensky declares she began the fighting and is now taking an enormous part in it. The newest republic however, claims as her right that the other allies should shoulder the burden of the war.

The recent German successes in the Gulf of Riga when the Russian fleet was unable to withstand the superior German naval forces, Russia's premier declared, is causing the Russian people to ask why the British fleet has not come to Russia's assistance. Great Britain's Sir Eric Geddes, first lord of the admiralty, said to the house of commons, Thursday, because of the time involved and the extensive mine fields scattered in its path from the North sea to the Baltic. The unanimous opinion of responsible naval authorities was that the step should not be taken.

General Cadorna's forces are now behind the Tagliamento river from the Carnic Alps to the head of the Adriatic while the invading Austro-Germans have reached the eastern bank. Important bridgeheads on a front of thirty miles along the river from Pinzano to Latisana have been captured by the invaders.

Official statements do not indicate that the German forces have yet crossed the river, which is reported to be above normal height because of fresh rains. Nor is it certain the Italian army will make a determined stand on the eastern bank, although that Several grocers reported that families which have not been accustomed to having a meatless day each week have purchased buckets of salt fish in preparation for keeping at least one meatless day in seven.

With over five hundred people working hard to make a great patriotic, artistic success of the University club's big show, "The Army and Navy," next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights at the Majestic, everything is in ship shape—provided the thoughtful, loyal people of Fort Wayne and the surrounding territory awakened to the opportunity which the event affords.

The bigness of the affair is just beginning to dawn upon the people as they realize the immensity of the task and the patriotic impulse back of it all, for not only are the participants giving freely of their time and energies, but all of the net proceeds are to be placed in the University club's war relief funds to be expended only under the direction of the Allen county council of defense.

First Ensemble Rehearsal.
Beginning Monday night the entire cast will come together for the first ensemble rehearsal, when the entire action will take place. Then, on Tuesday evening, comes the first dress rehearsal, this to be repeated on Wednesday night, all preparatory to the opening production on the following night.

Nearly every church, club and patriotic organization in Fort Wayne is contributing to the talent in "The Army and Navy" show. The array of talent includes many who have found it a delight to employ their talents freely in the varied requirements of the piece. Those who sing have found a plenty to do; those who dance are pleased with the opportunity which the production affords; those who have talent along comedy lines are given their opportunity to "show off," those with serious dramatic tendencies are given the more dignified characters; football enthusiasts are given a chance to reflect the real spirit of their favorite game; cadets are given an opportunity to show their colors, and all are united in an opportunity to display in

DO NOT BELIEVE RUSSIA IS OUT OF WAR

Washington, Nov. 2.—Premier Kerensky's warning that Russia's allies will have to bear her burden of the conflict while the war-weary nation regains its strength, exhausted in three years of fighting enemies without and within, has aroused new expressions of confidence in Russia's future and assurances of support from the United States government and the representatives of all the allies.

The Russian embassy made the October 26, $6,000,000, and today's contemplated withdrawal $31,750,000.

Faith Not Lost.
While Premier Kerensky's remarkable statement of Russia's situation created a profound sensation among American officials and all the allied diplomats here, they note with confidence his emphasis that Russia is not out of the conflict, however war-worn she may be.

In the entente allied diplomatic circles in Washington, Premier Kerensky's statement is not regarded as discouraging; in fact it was stated that the allies fully realized Russia's condition as he sets it out and have plans to meet these conditions.

The great conference about to take place in Europe will deal more specifically with the military situation which has resulted from the abandonment of Russia's offensive campaign and it is hoped that during the winter, with better opportunities to reorganize the Russian army and with such supplies of munitions and military material as can be sent into Russia from America and from Japan by the Trans-Siberian railway the army will be in condition to undertake again the offensive next spring.

Russia's Plight Understood.
It was said that it is clearly understood among the entente allies that Russia being exhausted by the great efforts she already has made, she will not be expected for the present to do more than hold on her present lines. Even further imbrications from Germany, it was said, would not seriously impair Russia's military power.

Some of the entente diplomatic representatives declare it should not need Kerensky's assertion that Russia would continue the war to establish that fact. From every responsible party in Russia except the extreme Bolshevik element has come the pronounced declaration that Russia would

London, Nov. 2.—Three officers and a number of sailors of the German navy were killed in another mutiny at Kiel early in September, according to a dispatch from Amsterdam, according to the Daily Express which claims to have authentic details. The outbreak occurred aboard the battleships Kronprinz and Schleswig-Holstein and started when they revolted against being drafted into the submarine service.

The sailors on the Kronprinz threw Admiral Schmidt overboard and stabbed and threw overboard Lieutenant Raoul, the admiral's aide, and another officer. A battle on the ship's deck between the officers and sailors followed. Three officers and a number of sailors were killed. Similar scenes occurred on the Schleswig-Holstein.

Admiral Schmidt was rescued but it was necessary for him to leave Kiel. All the surviving mutineers were arrested.

The battleship Kronprinz displaced 25,293 tons and was built in 1905. Her complement is 1,160 men. The Schleswig-Holstein was completed in 1906 and measures 13,000 tons. She carries 729 men.

Vice Admiral von Capelle, German minister of marine, announced in the reichstag on October 9 the discovery of a plot in the German navy. Dispatches from Amsterdam and London reported that the crews of four battleships of the German fleet had taken part in a mutinous outbreak at Wilhelmshaven. Three of the ringleaders were shot while heavy sentences were imposed on the others. This outbreak was said to have occurred about six weeks earlier, or about the first of September. Admiral von Capelle accused three radical socialist deputies of taking part in the plot but the German government has not taken any action against the members of the reichstag.

One of the busiest offices in the court house at this time is the Fort Wayne branch of the Indiana free employment. Hundreds of calls for men to carry on outside labor are being turned in at the office.

BIG DAMAGE SUIT IS

Henry Sanders is Suing L. E. & W. for $10,000 Because of Wife's Death.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 2.—Attorney D. B. Erwin has returned from Portland, where he attended to business. He is the attorney for Henry Sanders, who is suing the Lake Erie & Western railroad for $10,000 for the death of his wife. As the defendant representatives live in Illinois the case will be tried in the United States court in Indianapolis, the case having been dismissed as to the watchman, who was also made a defendant.

Decatur Short Items.

Mrs. Delia McFeeley returned to Fort Wayne after a visit here with her sisters, Madames James Hlin and Adolph Hoffman.

Miss Estelle Smith went to Fort Wayne to join Miss Marie Brink in a trip to Louisville, Ky., and Camp Taylor, where they will visit their brothers. Elmo Smith, of this city, is one of the few Decatur boys remaining at Camp Taylor.

Misses Alma and Esther Bowers returned from Huntington, where they attended a club dance and banquet.

Mrs. Jacob Barkley was taken to her home in Union township from the Decatur hospital, where she had an operation for appendicitis. The trip was made in the Gay, Zwick & Myers ambulance.

Miss Agnes Miller left for Akron, O., where she will be employed at the Goodrich Rubber plant. She will make her home with her brother, Henry Miller, and family.

Mrs. C. L. Melbers and daughter, Agnes, left today for Indianapolis and Louisville, Ky., for a visit with relatives and friends.

Miss Catherine Weising, of Findlay, O., who visited here with Ode and Letta Fullenkamp, visited in Fort Wayne yesterday.

Dr. J. Q. Neptune will leave next Wednesday for northern Michigan to hunt.

Mrs. Grover Hendershot, who was returning to California from a visit at Portland, stopped for a short visit with Mrs. James Arnold.

WIFE'S HYSTERIA SAVES

KNUTH FROM SENTENCE

Stole Articles from the A. B.

Frank Grocery and Sold Them.

Charles Knuth, the young man arrested for stealing goods from the A. B. Frank grocery store, was on the police docket Friday morning. Knuth had appropriated several articles and had sold them on his own hook. Mr. Frank decided to prosecute the man because he had been having considerable trouble with a previous driver.

Knuth admitted his guilt and Judge Kerr assessed a fine of $20 and costs and twenty days of labor on county roads. Knuth's wife of nine months was in court and upon hearing the sentence she became hysterical. Inasmuch as she is in a delicate condition Judge Kerr changed the sentence to a continuance to December 22. Mrs. Knuth's condition was such that she was unable to leave police headquarters for two hours.

Hits Street Car.

Paul Stein, driver for the Merchants' Delivery, tried to pull the speed king stuff on Creighton avenue Thursday evening. A Creighton avenue car refused to get over onto the side of the street and as a result the delivery car is in the scrap heap. Stein was given $20 and costs for reckless driving.

Litterers Let Go.

William Gold and Frank Pierson, arrested on littering charges, were let go. Pierson was on his way to Fort Wayne from Lagrange. When found he was in a section shanty with one of the workmen's empty dinner pail beside him. He denied the charge of having eaten the man's lunch and was let go.

Advocates Preparedness.

James Roach, colored, believes in preparedness. Twelve boxes of liver pills were found amongst some other loot in the Roach home. James claimed that he bought the pills for twenty-five cents from a little old white man without a beard. He also stated that he bought thirty cans of cocoa from the same white man for seventy-five cents. Pennsylvania policemen, however, proved that Roach had been appropriating considerable loot while at work in the freight house.

Liberty Garden Are

Mighty Fine

The combined conveniences that are found in Liberty Gardens can only be found inside the city. One living in the city can hardly believe that a fine half acre or acre can be had with paved street all the way, wide streets, wide lots, high pressure gas, line, church, school, two interurban stops close by, and building restrictions that make home life in Liberty Gardens exceptionally inviting. Liberty Gardens is the only addition on the market today that has these combined advantages, as well as being only two miles from the city and city car line, and the sand loam soil. Liberty Gardens are located on the Bluffton road about a mile and half south of the Poor Farm and are for sale by C. A. Rastetter, Realtor.

BLUFFTON WOMAN IN

SUICIDE ATTEMPT

Despondent Because Husband Leaves for Duty in Uncle Sam's Army.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 2.—Becoming despondent because her husband left yesterday morning for duty as corporal in the coast artillery in Panama, Mrs. L. J. Manderson, who is staying with Mrs. Sellers at 219 North Marion street, took carbolic acid at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Because she vomited a lot of the poison it is believed she will live. Mrs. Manderson drank a half ounce of the poison, purchased at a local drug store. She then told Mrs. Sellers what she had done. A physician was immediately called and antidotes were given which it is thought will bring about her recovery.

Bluffton Short Items.

General Manager C. A. Breese of the United Telephone company, announced yesterday afternoon that effective at once a general increase in wages will be effective to all employees of the company, and that instead of semi-monthly pay days, they will pay weekly.

Mrs. Paul Stoutenberry, of West Cherry street, was taken to Fort Wayne yesterday afternoon where she will undergo an operation for tumor at the St. Joseph hospital.

The delivery wagon of Meyers & Co., florists, was demolished when it was struck by a Ford delivery truck driven by Ed Hubner. Cut flowers were strewn over the street. James Rockwell, who was in the wagon, was knocked to the pavement and sustained cuts and bruises about the hands and legs. The rear wheels of the wagon were smashed. The truck was not damaged.

The municipal Halloween party was a great success despite the freezing weather. A large crowd filled the downtown streets and music was furnished for the occasion by the Petroleum band. Forty dollars in prizes were given away for the best costumes. A "Mummers" parade was a feature of the evening.

The Clover Leaf railroad confiscated a car load of coal belonging to the municipal plant here, which was upon one of their sidings. Mayor Mock recently received a communication from W. L. Ross, receiver for the road, stating that contempt of court proceedings would be filed against him if property or coal was confiscated from the railroad's right-of-way.

WORLD'S EYES ARE ON ITALY

Danger of Italian Revolution and Overthrow of King Victor.

WASHINGTON SEES THE PERIL OF IT

One of Lord Northcliffe's Correspondents Says Allies Need Head.

(Special Dispatch from Gilson Gardner, of our Washington Bureau.) Washington, Nov. 2.—The next nation in line for a revolution and the removal of its king may be Italy, according to advice received here. This prospect has been made more illuminated by the military developments culminating in the big success of the Germans in their drive under von Mackensen.

Hamilton Fyfe, of the London Daily Mail, who has been on all the fighting fronts, but most recently on the Italian front, brings this interesting information from that quarter. This well known war correspondent who is in Washington on a visit with Lord Northcliffe, says:

"I think as great a danger as the military is the political danger. We ought to be prepared to face the possibility of serious disturbances in Italy. There has always been a section of the Italian people opposed to the war. This section was led before Italy came in by Giolitti, one of the most forceful of Italian politicians. He has never ceased to work secretly along the lines he was following before Italy's intervention. His most active following consists of the socialists in the great cities. In Turin they are particularly active, and in Turin there has been bad rioting more than once. About six weeks ago food became scarce, bread lines had to be formed, and trouble broke out which had to be put down by military measures."

"The losses suffered by the Italians have been very heavy. In their spring offensives this year casualties were put as high as 140,000. In the army it was said that 15,000 were killed."

"The latest push they made cost them very dear, and now they have lost not only the ground gained, but much more. This in a military sense is not of great importance, so long as the armies can detach themselves and hold together in good order. But the disaffected in the rear will make the most of the losses and will ask: Is it worth while going on?"

"The feeling of the Italian army, so far as I could judge it, was excellent. Fewer complaints would be heard of Italian 'marking time,' if those who made them could have paid the visits that I paid to their advanced positions along the mountain fronts."

"To reach the advanced positions along a certain sector 10,000 feet high on the snow ridge between Italy and Austria, I was obliged first to motor about fifty miles up to the head of a valley, then I was taken up in five successive 'telefericas.' These are wire ropes stretched at an angle of say 45 degrees up the mountains. The cage carried on these wire ropes, a box suggestive of a coffin, holds two men, or the equivalent weight in supplies."

"The last of these telefericas brought us to the region of eternal snow. I crossed a glacier in dog sleighs, then I arrived at the headquarters of the battalion holding the positions we were to visit."

"From headquarters to the positions we tramped through the snow between two and three miles, then we came to the trenches, made of snow and ice."

"Everything the men needed, not only for food and munitions, but every piece of wood or metal, had to be brought up the way we had come."

"What has happened now is a repetition of the strategy followed by General von Mackensen in breaking through the Russian front on the river Dunaec, in Polish Galicia, in May, 1915, and in Rumania last autumn. I was in Russia for the first of these offensives and in Rumania for the second. Much of his success was due to the fear the very name of Germans instilled into the opposing troops. No doubt something of this fear was also felt by the Italian troops, who have always stood up against the Austrians, and felt no doubt of their ability to beat them. The Germans have created a tradition that on all fronts except the French and British it has been of great value to them."

"General Cadorna has no doubt already taken the necessary precautions for stemming the advance. He was at one time, I happen to know, in favor of letting the enemy come down into the Italian plain. He thought his army would be in a better position if they did so. He would have been able to harness their long lines of communication, with his own base only a short distance away. This plan, however, he was not able to carry out. There was fear the presence of the enemy on Italian soil might cause internal troubles. That is the greatest peril now. No doubt the socialists will make

SHERMAN'S CLOTHES BACKED BY A FIRM SOLID AS A STONE WALL

It's value what counts, and it's value we will always sell at our price. We have raised our price in order to maintain that same set standard of value we have sold for years, a value that has won for us a reputation of honesty among the buying public. No more than we first opened the doors of our store, clothing merchants in Fort Wayne saw immediately that they had met with real competition. A concern that was catering to the public, not here alone to sell clothing, but here to give every man an honest value for his dollar. That is why we have enjoyed such success—selling hundreds of garments weekly.

We Guarantee You a Saving of $5 to $8

You can see in nearly every clothing store, clothes that are sold at our price and under our price, but they are not the Sherman quality. Quality is what you want to buy, they have only the price on them not the value in back of them. There is not a garment in our store that is not a real $18 to $20 value. By our factory to you plan we eliminate for you the ordinary retailer's profit of $5 to $8, a saving which you should consider before you do your buying.

Suits--Overcoats--Top-Coats

More styles and patterns here at our price than you will find in the average store's entire stock of various prices. Hundreds of suits and overcoats with belt-all-around for the young men to choose from, and plenty of styles of the more conservative kind for the older men in sizes to fit every man.

Our Iron Clad Guarantee

That the garment you buy will retain its original shape and color, give you perfect satisfaction in every detail or your money cheerfully refunded. A guarantee that is backed by one of the largest, most responsible clothing concerns in the country. Every promise we make is carried out to the letter. A firm that has put all its energy and thought to produce and sell to its patrons the best value possible at our factory price $12.50.

Let our salesmen explain to you our straight forward business policy, a policy that renders every man a square deal. We are sure if you spend only five minutes of your time in our store, you will be convinced that Sherman's is the place for you to buy your new suit or overcoat.

"France and England are said to be collaborating with the object of helping to keep the invader from penetrating further. This will give the Italian nation courage. But it is impossible not to ask why measures were not taken earlier by the allies.

"This offensive was not unexpected. It ought to have been met by a combined effort. We have suffered again, as we did last autumn in Rumania, from lack of any central, single command."

"The Germans, by dominating Austria-Hungary, Turkey and Bulgaria, are able to work from a single center, and this gives them an immense advantage. There is supposed to be a General Allied Military Council in Paris, but it did nothing to avert the blow that fell upon Rumania when I was with their army a year ago, and it has apparently taken no steps to meet the drive prepared against the Italians. We must offset that bad effect as quickly as possible by sending Cadorna all the support we can. If we do that, the threatened trouble in the interior will very likely be stopped before it reaches perilous proportions."

News of Our Neighbors

WILL GET COAL.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 2.—Mayor C. N. Christian and Superintendent of Lights and Water M. J. Mylott have returned from Indianapolis, where they personally saw State Fuel Director Evans Woolen, explained to him the seriousness of the coal situation in this city and of the possibility of having to shut down the municipal plant if coal was not shipped here at once. Director Woolen ordered a supply of coal sent here sufficient to run the plant at least until the first of the year. Within the last month the city had to borrow coal in order to keep the plant running and furnish the people with electricity and water.

EXCITING EXPERIENCE.

Montpelier, Ind., Nov. 2.—Ed Martz, while taking some horses from the Tio-In barn to Poneto Thursday morning, met with an accident that he does not care to have repeated soon. Mr. Martz was about a mile and a half north of the city when the horses began to get unruly and the one he was leading broke loose, which scared the one he was riding and it began to run. The horse ran for several miles before it was stopped and then would not have stopped had it not run into a fence, throwing the rider off. Mr. Martz stated that he was not injured but was somewhat bruised from the fall.

SMALLPOX AT MONTPELLIER.

Montpelier, Ind., Nov. 2.—Health Officer Reynolds reported Thursday morning that the home of John Carpenter, West Henderson street, had been quarantined on account of Mr. Carpenter having smallpox. Dr. C. B. Mulvey reported the case to the health department. Carpenter recently came to the city from Fort Wayne, and it is thought that the disease was contracted in that city, where there has been a large number of cases. The patient is not seriously ill.

SHIPMENT OF BASS.

Bluffton, Ind., Nov. 2.—The officers of the Wells County Fish and Game association have been notified that a shipment of small bass will arrive in Bluffton Friday evening, and they are requested to meet the Lake Erie and Western train from the south with vessels that will hold fifty gallons, into which the minnows will be transferred. The fish will be used in stocking the Wabash river and ponds. There will be thousands of the small bass.

WILL MOVE TO NEW ALBANY.

Huntington, Ind., Nov. 2.—Rev. Thomas B. Terhune, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will preach his final sermon in Huntington next Sunday, and he and his family will leave next week for New Albany, where he has accepted a pastorate. The Fort Wayne presbytery, at a meeting Tuesday, dissolved the relation of Rev. Mr. Terhune to the Huntington church. The congregation had voted not to accept his resignation.

F. B. PARK NAMED.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 2.—F. B. Park, secretary-treasurer of the Flint & Walling Manufacturing company, is Noble county's new fuel boss. He received his commission yesterday morning through Evans Woolen, federal fuel administrator for Indiana. Mr. Park said that he expected to jump into the work at once with zeal and will endeavor to handle the situation in Noble county to the satisfaction of all concerned.

SITUATION SERIOUS.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 2.—With real winter weather the coal situation in Jay county is serious. John W. Holmes, recently appointed county coal controller, has not received his commission and is unable to act should the opportunity be opened to him. Telephone calls were received by him Tuesday afternoon from Dunkirk, Redkey and Pennville asking for aid. Redkey, Blaine and Collet are completely out of coal.

EXAMINATION STOPS.

Nappanee, Ind., Nov. 2.—The Nappanee town board has refused a committee of representative citizens with two accountants access to the town records and accounts. The climax came when President Eli R. Hoar refused to let the two accountants—W. E. Lowe and J. B. Workman, of Indianapolis, both certified accountants, employed by a committee of citizens—to proceed further.

WOMEN SUBSCRIBE $45,800.

Kendallville, Ind., Nov. 2.—Women of Noble county subscribed $45,800 in the second liberty loan, according to a report just made public by Miss Clara Gilbert, who has received final reports from over the county. The last report was received from Ligonier, showing the women of that city subscribed $7,200. Kendallville women subscribed $29,500, while the women of Albion subscribed $9,100.

HAS SMALLPOX.

Portland, Ind., Nov. 2.—Jesse Ross, who has been living at the home of Joseph Harnas, a mile south of Antioch, has smallpox. He had been ill several days, but his malady was not known until Monday. Mr. Ross is one of the conscripted men expected to be in the next call, but probably will not be able to report. There are several light cases of scarlet fever in the county.

JELLY HELPS.

When making jelly grease the edge of the kettle in which it boils and you will not be bothered with it boiling over.

When jelly refuses to jelly or thicken grate a carrot fine and put it in a cheese cloth, squeeze a few drops of juice into the jelly and boil a few seconds longer. The result is perfect jelly. To mark jelly glasses of fruit jars, buy a 10-cent wax pencil at any art store. This is an easier and quicker way for marking than using the gummed labels.

COMMUNITY HALLOWE'EN PARTY IS BIG SUCCESS

Over Five Hundred Persons Take Part in Festivities at Columbia City.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Columbia City, Ind., Nov. 2.—Over five hundred persons participated in the second community Halloween in the history of this city. Wednesday evening, from 7:30 until 10 o'clock, the procession formed at one end of the business district here and marched to the other end, headed by the Columbia City band playing "There'll Be a Hot Time," and with Edward Daniel acting as Uncle Sam's attire. Prizes were awarded for the best groups, of which the Katzenjammer kids, Ham and Budd, and Aunt Samantha and the Kids, were the best; for individuals under 16, and those over that age. Tramps, Charley Chaplins, old men and women, clowns, niggers, Irishmen, witches, policemen, "chawwties," Indians, gypsies, devils, ghosts and many other characters grotesque and amusing were reproduced. Owing to the cold weather, the size of the number of exhibitors was cut down considerably, and the crowd of spectators was also lessened in comparison to last year. The weather made impossible the staging of the apple bobbing contest, and the out-door art stand. The affair was given under the auspices of the Woman's Civic league. A Halloween dance was afterward enjoyed in the Commercial club hall, many people attending. But very slight Miss Margaret Vesey has returned from a few weeks' visit with her sister in Muncie.

Mrs. H. T. Wallis, of 2532 Maple place, entertained her mother, Mrs. Schindler, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Mrs. George Ely, of East Berry street, had as her guest yesterday her nephew, J. S. Knox, of Grand Rapids, Mich.

Miss Marian Maritz, of East Creighton avenue, is in Indianapolis for a visit of several weeks with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Maritz.

Miss Eda Siemon, of Rockhill street, has returned from a visit in Bridgeport, Conn., with her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Siemon.

Ensign Harry Leonard left on Wednesday, to report for duty on the battleship Illinois, at Norfolk, Va., after a day's visit with his mother, Mrs. Edna Leonard.

Mrs. Theodore Buesching entertained a few ladies this afternoon at her home, 1001 Erie street, in honor of Mrs. L. Lehneke, who is soon going to Milwaukee to live.

Miss Florence Gruber, of Arcadia court, entertained a dozen of her young friends at a knitting party at her home in Arcadia court on Thursday afternoon. All enjoyed a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Riker, of East Woodland avenue, are going to Grand Rapids, Mich., on Saturday to live and Mr. Riker has been transferred to that point by his employers, the National Biscuit company.

Miss Helen Rohyans, Helen Markey, Katherine Schneider, Helen Robinson, Katherine O'Reilly, Margaret Shea, Hortense Grimes, Lillian Carter gave a progressive Halloween dinner party on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Schroeder, of 1217 Bwing street, gave a Halloween party last evening to about twenty-five friends. Progressive buncos was the chief game, the winners being Otto Kucher and Louis Schmeck, Jr., the former getting the first and the latter the booby prize.

A pretty but informal company to honor Mrs. Paul G. Stevens was given by Miss Marjorie Kilgore, of West Butler street. The time was occupied knitting and sewing with much visiting with the honor guest to eat and Mrs. Stevens found a pretty gift at her place at the table. Yellow and black were colors of decorations and favors.

Mary McCurdy, the youngest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. McCurdy, who accompanied her aunt, Mrs. W. E. Evans, to Portland, Ore., after a visit here, will remain there a year with her aunt and uncle. Mr. and Mrs. Evans' only child, William Wallace Evans, is in the United States army, a corporal in the regiment he belongs to and expects to be sent to France soon.

Clarence Spiegel, a son of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Spiegel, arrived in the city on Thursday from St. Louis, where he had been a student at the Theological seminary. After a few days' visit with his parents, Mr. Spiegel will go to Mt. Hope, Ohio, where a week from this coming Sunday he begins the work in the Lutheran parish. Mr. Spiegel preached in the Mt. Hope church last summer one Sunday and made so favorable an impression that he has now been engaged to serve the congregation for one year.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Keller, 2333 North Clinton street, a merry party gathered on Tuesday evening to enjoy a masquerade. The members of a club to which Mr. and Mrs. Keller belong were their guests. In a round of games prizes were won by Mrs. Gruber and Mr. Thrasher for high scores and by Mrs. Charles Wood and Mr. Mehl for the next best results. Refreshments were enjoyed also.

A delightful masquerade party with a week took place at the home of Ralph Springer, of 1309 Maple avenue. Dancing and games were the amusements for the evening, the music being furnished by Herbert Koehling and William Fry. Pretty decoration of the rooms in Halloween colors and lanterns and a delicious lunch were other particulars of a pleasant time, which everyone present enjoyed. Those present were Misses Helen Drogelmeyer, Mary Jones, Ruth Drogelmeyer, Gertrude Harris, Erna Burns, Helen Weimer, Sophie Gruber and Messrs. R. Wickliffe, E. Sauerwein, W. Fry, A. Snyder, H. Niewander, L. Whittinger, C. Jones, H. Koehling, A. Dickie.

One of the altogether lovely parties of the Halloween season was a masquerade given by Misses Helen Truesdale, Janie Miller and Mary Brown, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Rhoades, of East Williams street. Aside from the entertainment of merry games and sports of the occasion, such as telling fortunes, an excellent supper was served. Mrs. Flack was the fortune teller and she wore the costume of a witch. Participating in this good time were Misses Clara Gogan, Rose Miller, Mary Ludwig, the hosts and Messrs. Carl Meek, Henry Pranger, Paul Smithers, William Bremer, Mark Tremple, Louis Ford, Julie Gogan, Mr. and Mrs. McCaffrey and son, Dale, Mrs. Flack and Mr. and Mrs. Rhoades.

Barva.

Shore-Stevenson. Miss Margaret Olive Stevenson, daughter of Mrs. Charles H. Spaulding of this city, and Lieut. Charles Bruce Shore, of Lake City, Minn., were united in marriage on Thursday evening at the home of the bride, 1102 West Berry street. Both bride and groom are Episcopalians, but because of the absence from the city of Rev. E. W. Averill, the wedding service in the church was read by Rev. A. G. Neal, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church. There were no guests at the wedding, the bride's mother and sister, Jane Lash Spaulding, and grandmother, Mrs. Olive J. Lash, being the only persons present, owing to the brief leave of absence from Camp Custer which the groom obtained. The bride wore an afternoon gown of gray georgette crepe for the marriage and when she left for her new home at a later hour, she wore a navy blue tailored serge with black velvet hat and gray shoes and gloves. Lieutenant Shore is a native of Huntingdon, Pa., and was graduated from the Huntingdon high school and afterwards from a college for veterinarians. Lieutenant Shore joined the officers' reserve corps as a veterinary surgeon and holds that place at Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., where he and his bride will live for the present, and for which point they left on an early morning train. Mrs. Shore is very well known in Fort Wayne, where she attended the public schools and two years in the high school. Relatives in Lake City, Minn., wanted the bride to visit them and the visit extended over a period of four years, two of which she spent in a Normal training school and the two succeeding in teaching school. Mrs. Shore is very good looking and prepossessing with many fine attributes of character. Many friends of this city will be greatly interested in her marriage. Lieutenant Shore is a young man who is highly successful in his work, and his appearance and bearing are such as to have won the love of many in this city.

Miss Travers, as a "co-ed" in "The Army and Navy" show, has a delightful part. She also appears in a specialty dance.

Utility Frock Does For All Occasions

By BETTY BROWN.
A utility gown for afternoon wear and all semi-dress affairs is a necessity of the well-balanced wardrobe. The combination of satin, velvet and pale shaded crepe which is so good this season, effects a happy partnership in the gown shown herewith.
The skirt of this frock is of Concord blue panne velvet and the blouse is of white crepe with satin collar and cuffs. Points of the velvet are applied on the crepe just above the waistline. Embroidered polka dots outline the points.
The skirt maintains the correct narrow line except at the back where the slight fullness is softly pleated into a small tuck.

A fine practical talk on "Duty and the Conservation of Food" was given the students of the academy by the Mother Stewardess of Saint Mary's college, St. Mary's Convent, Notre Dame, Indiana, on the evening of the 21st. The pupils were urged to cultivate the spirit of self-denial and to do without unnecessary when the necessities and sufferings of the world are so great.

Recipe for Making One Pound Into Two

By request of a number of readers The Sentinel reprints the recipe of J. W. Caswell, of Huntington, for making one pound of creamery butter into two and one-fourth pounds. The recipe follows:

"To each pound of butter use one pint of rich milk; one tablespoon of gelatine, one tablespoon of salt. Cream the butter as for cake (squeezing it through the hands). Dissolve the gelatine in a little milk. Heat the rest of the milk to the boiling point, then pour over gelatine (as for pudding) and stir until thoroughly mixed. When about lukewarm—warm as new milk—pour slowly over the creamed butter (to which has been added the salt) and beat with an egg beater until well mixed, smooth and thick. Take a spoon and ladle on a plate and as you do this each spoonful will set, piling up into firm butter."

Live and Let Live is War Time Shibboleth

Our eating today is based not only on the fundamental principle "to live," but also on the democratic principle "to let live." Thus it is that no matter how little we need to economize personally, we are willing to forego the pleasures of indulging in foods that are scarce, merely to satisfy a personal whim as to flavor.

We are emphatically requested by the United States food administration to use less of certain meats so that the soldiers may have the necessary amount to keep them fit for the strenuous work of the trenches.

The simple way for each family to co-operate in this patriotic movement is for the members to agree together on one day a week to have a meat substitute. It will also be found entirely practical and possible by the average home manager to reduce the amount of each meat serving.

Those families financially able should continue to buy the so-called choicest cuts. That is the loin, rib roast, sirloin and porterhouse steaks, tenderloins and sweet-breads. If those whom the high cost of foods, created by unusual demands on our country's supply does not particularly affect, take to demanding cheaper cuts of meat, thus increasing demand for them, the prices will naturally go higher than if the demand is equalized.

For those who must economize for personal financial reasons the less expensive cuts of meat can be made into splendid dishes.

For stews and soup buy a shank, plate, neck or chuck piece. In making soup, brown the meat first and then put it to cook in boiling water. Keep it at the simmering point until meat is tender. By this method you have meat for a stew or ragout and the stock for soup. If you put the meat to cook in cold water you extract all the flavor, leaving the real food in the meat, but with no flavor.

It is better economy to add cereal and vegetables to the soup stock for two meals.

For economical steaks buy cuts from the round, rump, flank, chuck or shoulder clod. Steaks from the two last coarser cuts should be well seared and then allowed to simmer with seasoning and vegetables and just enough water to cover, until tender.

For roasting purposes buy cuts from the rump, sixth and seventh rib, short ribs and chucks. These cuts should first be put into a very hot oven or should be thoroughly seared on the skillet before going into the oven. This keeps the juices in. Then roast the meat slowly, basting very often. These cuts are delicious cooked with vegetables. That is, sear the cut thoroughly, lay in the roasting pan and surround with carrots, potatoes, turnips and a few slices of onions previously prepared.

For pot roasts, buy cuts from the shank, rump, plate, chuck, neck or shoulder clod. Sear the meat, browning it well before covering it with boiling water.

BY WINONA WILCOX.

"One cook and one kitchen per family are wasteful," said Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman in a recent address before a national conference on the world's food supply. Mrs. Gilman, who has done much original thinking about woman's work, contends that by employing trained specialists and improved cooking appliances 80 per cent of the labor power of women can be released from the country's kitchens.

There are gains for all our losses. If the nation were to lose the family dining table, just what would be the profit?

Reckoned in money, the pleasing total of $15,000,000,000, says Mrs. Gilman. But she admits the impossibility of producing any sudden revolution in home organization.

Such speculation is interesting, but is it always wise?

The community kitchen conducted by chemists and dieticians has been discussed for a decade. Out of the discussion has come a great deal of dissatisfaction among women about their jobs as home makers, an increase of trade at delicatessen shops, and too much scorn of baby tending and dish-washing.

And the city home has lost its parlor and its spare bedroom. Rob it of its kitchen and dining room and not much will be left except beds which fold up into doors, or divans, or sideboards, or library tables.

The trouble with all futurist domestic science is that it diverts woman's attention from the importance of the job of homemaking which she now has on hand.

Reformers would take cooking out of the home when the change needed is better housekeeping, conducted according to the new methods taught in domestic science courses.

Such education of the nation's housekeepers would save them millions of dollars though not so much, perhaps, as the wholesale dining system proposed by Mrs. Gilman.

But dollars saved and woman power saved are far from being the tests of a home.

Home with its affections, home with its inspiration, home with its spiritual values, home with the social family table, home with mother in it and mother making it, no slaving for money in a factory or office—we cannot define the word, but we know there's no waste of woman power when it goes to the creation of a home, and no use it can be put to which will so reward the workers.

The average American home does not need to be revolutionized. It needs to be improved.

TOOTHsome Dainties for SOLDIER'S CHRISTMAS BOX

The following recipes were collected purposely for those planning boxes for soldiers. The baked chicken packing was suggested by Sgt. Maj. A. S. Kirkwood, of the British-Canadian recruiting mission, who vouches for its absolute success. In fact, he declares chicken packed by this method would still be good after a journey around the world.

Nut Cookies in a tin—One scant cup of butter, one and one-half cups of sugar, three cups of flour, one and one-half cups seedless raisins, three eggs, one cup walnuts, one teaspoon cinnamon, one teaspoon cloves, one teaspoon baking powder, one and one-half teaspoons soda, in one-half cup water. Salt and drop in buttered tins.

Pershing Nut Bread—Three cups: Graham flour, one cup molasses, two cups sour milk, one teaspoon soda, one teaspoon salt. Stir all together well and bake two hours in slow oven.

Butter Scotch—One cup molasses, one cup brown sugar, one-half cup butter. A pinch of soda and boil until brittle.

Baked Chicken Packing—Use perfectly fresh chicken and stuff well with a moist dressing, well seasoned. Sew all openings securely. Bake until well done, then thoroughly cool and sew carefully in cheesecloth. Dip into hot paraffin until a thickness of one-half inch adheres to the cheesecloth covering. Pack securely in box with two pairs of woolen socks and send to your hero in France.

USING OLD YARN.

Look in your closets and trunks and see if you have any old sweaters. No matter if they are holey and darned. Unravel the best of them, wind neatly in balls and you can knit many small things for the army and navy, especially if they are blue or gray, such as helmets, thumbless mittens, wristers, etc.

Mrs. Ira Fuhrman returned from a week's visit with relatives at Berne.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse D. Klopfenstein, of Fort Wayne, spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Klopfenstein, here.

Mrs. Eli Levy is improving very nicely from her operation last week. Amos Souder and son, of Wolcott, Ind., are here for a few days with relatives.

Aaron Schwartz, who is stationed at Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., came home to attend the funeral of Henry Bertsch, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Christian Klopfenstein entertained Eli and Daniel Geig and their respective families Sunday.

The item referring to the death of Henry Bertsch, earlier in the week, should have been Henry Bertsch, Jr., living one mile west of here.

The special meetings being conducted by Rev. J. A. Huffman, of Bluffton, Ohio, at the Mennonite church, are attracting large crowds and prove to be instructive. The meetings will close Sunday evening.

Joseph M. Klopfenstein, David and Nathan Neuenschwander and Eli Souder spent Sunday at Camp Taylor, Ky., with some of the enlistee boys.

GERMANS GOOSESTEP EVEN AFTER CAPTURE

These German soldiers are not marching past the kaiser, in respectful attention, as might be imagined from their stiff carriage. They are German prisoners taken near Monkey mountain in the French operations preliminary to the great drive now netting the French thousands of prisoners and many miles of retrieved territory. They march past the group of French officers as if on parade in Berlin's streets, the machine-like goosestep so ingrained in them by rigid training that it seems to have become second nature.

GIRLS! TRY IT! HAVE THICK, WAVY, BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Draw a Moist Cloth Through Hair and Double Its Beauty at Once.

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a "Dandergine hair-cleanser." Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Dandergine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

Besides beautifying the hair at once, Dandergine dissolves every particle of dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

But what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it, surely invest a few cents in a bottle of Knowlton's Dandergine at any drug store or toilet counter, and just try it. Save your hair! Beautify it! You will say this was the best money you ever spent.—Advertisement.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF—

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of internal sanitation.—Advertisement.

INCREASE OF HOGS A GREAT NECESSITY

Sows Must Be Bred in Large Numbers to Insure Adequate Meat Supply.

Washington, Nov. 2.—To win the war we need more meat. To get an increased meat supply quickly hog breeding must be increased materially throughout the country, and in certain states an increase of from 25 to 50 per cent in the number of hogs is recommended by the United States department of agriculture.

The situation is of great importance. We must have plenty of meat for our armies and the armies of the allies in the field, and sufficient meat for our civilian population and the civilian population of the allies at home.

To have this meat, breeding animals must reproduce themselves so the offspring will be available for slaughter in the future.

Hogs can be increased quicker than any other kind of live stock.

Therefore a larger number of sows must be bred now, than in recent years.

In addition to the fact that there is an imperative demand for more meat as a war measure, it should be taken into consideration that we now have an abundance of feed crops—corn, oats and barley—with which to produce this necessary increase in the number of hogs. The demand for meat is certain and it will be profitable to the farmer to market some of this heavy grain supply on the hoof.

The increase in the number of hogs for various states, as recommended by the department, is as follows: Missouri, 50 per cent; Alabama, 30; Iowa, 25; Kansas, 25; Indiana, 20; Illinois, 20; Mississippi, 20; Arkansas, 20; South Carolina, 15; Ohio, 15; Kentucky, 15; Tennessee, 15; Maryland, 10; North Carolina, 10; Michigan, 10; Nebraska, 10; West Virginia, 5, and Georgia 5. The increase needed for the entire country is 15 per cent and is covered by the above schedule. Other States those named should breed no less than last year.

Of these increases will be sufficient animals to make the meat supply absolutely essential to the food of our armies.

Pork can be transported more readily and economically to troops in the field than can any other meat. Great supplies of bacon must go to the boys in khaki at the front. Unless now a larger number of sows are bred, the amount of meat we will require next year will not be available.

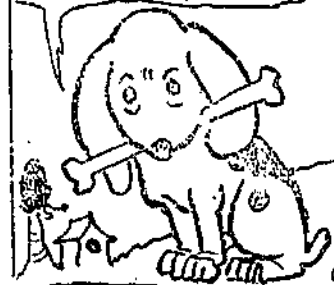

The estimated number of hogs is 4,000,000 less than it was a year ago this country; and in the face of this we need more hogs than ever before. How can we get them? By breeding sows at once.

The exportation of pork products has increased since the war began and will continue to increase during the length of the war. The foreign countries are devoting their farming energies to food and feed rather than live-stock production, but they must have meat and they must get a large part of this supply from us.

During the last three months the price of hogs in the United States has been, on an average, more than twice as much as the average price for the five years from 1911 to 1915. In view of the large crop of feedstuffs in sight, however, it is believed that farmers will see the wisdom of taking every reasonable step to increase the supply of hogs and hog products.

DESTROYERS
U-BOAT BANE

Most Effective and Most Feared Weapon Against the Submarines.

GERMANS ADMIT IT SAYS LATE REPORT

Diaries of Crew of Captured Divers Furnish the Evidence.

Base of the American Flotilla in British Waters, Oct. 18.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—Diaries taken from captured U-boat commanders furnish documentary evidence that the destroyer is the most effective of present weapons against the submarine. "Avoid destroyers," is the oft-repeated entry. In fact, these logs show conclusively that the submarines are having a hard time of it. The result of the destroyer activity during the last four weeks, has been not only a decrease in casualties of merchantships, but also a still more satisfactory increase in the number of submarines sunk.

Perfection in Convoys.

The conveying of merchantmen has now reached a stage of considerable perfection, after many months' work in training both the officers of merchant ship and the personnel of the patrol flotilla. While systematic conveying was undertaken primarily as a defensive measure, it has now developed that conveying is at the same time the best offensive measure yet devised against the U-boat.

The offensive side of conveying may best be shown by an illustration. When a submarine tries to torpedo a convoyed ship—as submarines are now compelled to do owing to the infrequency of unconvoyed ships—there is always a destroyer on the scene and the chances of her "getting" that particular submarine are correspondingly increased.

Torpedo the Clue.

The wake of a torpedo is generally seen by the destroyer's lookouts and it gives a good line on the direction where the submarine is lying. The destroyer immediately steers a course full speed in the line shown by the torpedo's wake and drops repeated depth charges along this course.

In a considerable proportion of cases this proved effective, for these depth charges cause serious commotion over a considerable radius. The Associated Press correspondent was told of three cases during the last fortnight in which submarines were thus destroyed. In many instances, no doubt, submarines are destroyed without any visible indication above water of their loss. Still others are badly crippled, as in the case of the damaged German U-boat which was recently interned in Spain.

U-Boat Destroys Self.

Another submarine which will never return to Germany was sunk under peculiar circumstances a short time ago. This U-boat torpedoed a ship bound from the United States. It is extremely unwise and unsafe to fire a torpedo at such a close range, but the U-boat must take their targets as they get them these days. The torpedoed ship was loaded with a cargo of heavy war material and the explosion was so forcible that it blew a large piece of heavy material through the deck of the ship and dropped it on the submarine as the latter was submerging. The hull of the submarine was crushed like an egg shell and she sank with all on board.

MUST BE VACCINATED

Lincoln Highway School is Also Under Inoculation Order.

All pupils in the Aboite schools and in the Lincoln school, in Washington township, three miles north of Fort Wayne, must be vaccinated before Monday morning, Dr. E. M. The schools will not be closed but all children who have not been inoculated against smallpox within the last five years are expected to undergo the treatment before Monday.

There are twelve cases of smallpox in one family at Aboite, Dr. Van Buskirk finds. Several houses in the small village are under quarantine. There are two cases of the disease in homes from which children attend the Lincoln Highway school.

Dr. Van Buskirk expects that the vaccination order may extend to all rural schools of the county.

Few Drops When Corns Hurt, Pain Stops! Corns Lift Out

Don't let corns ache twice! Lift any corn or callus off with fingers—Here's magic!

No humbug! Any corn, whether hard, soft or between the toes, will loosen right up and lift out, without any pain. This drug is called Freezone and is a compound of ether discovered by a Cincinnati chemist. Ask at any drug store for a small bottle of Freezone, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callus. It is the most marvelous drug known.

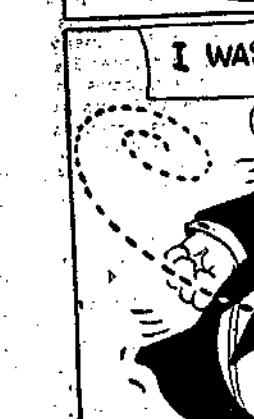

Put a few drops directly upon any tender, aching corn or callus. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callus will loosen and can be lifted off with the fingers. Freezone doesn't eat out the corns or calluses but shrivels them without any irritation. Women! Keep Freezone on your dresser and apply a few drops whenever a corn begins aching. Pain stops, corn goes!

INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

DEFEAT THROUGH DRUNKENNESS.

(World Temperance Sunday.)
LESSON TEXT—1 Kings 20:1-21.
GOLDEN TEXT—Let not him that stretcheth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off.—1 Kings 20:11.

1. Samaria Besieged (vv. 1-12).
1. By whom (v. 1).
Benhadad, the Syrian king, accompanied by 32 kings, came against Samaria. These 32 kings were not allies, but rulers over the neighboring cities—vassal princes.

2. Benhadad's message to Ahab (vv. 2-6).
He offered peace on the most abject and insulting terms. His demands meant more than the exaction of tribute. He over-reached himself in this; thus defeated tribute money, but the surrender of that which was most vital to Ahab's manhood and self-respect—his wives and children. He thus made a thrust at his tenderest spot. Many a man has been thus aroused to do his duty, who otherwise would have submitted to shameful indignities.

3. Ahab's reply (vv. 4, 7-9).
His reply was tame and humiliatingly submissive. Perhaps, he thought it only meant the giving of tribute, which he was willing to do in face of Benhadad's overwhelming army. Conciliatory measures were regarded as most prudent. But the peremptory demands of the enemy repeated, awoke Ahab to his senses, and caused him to call together the elders of the land, who counseled against submission. Thus stiffened for the opposition, Ahab refused to make full compliance with his demands.

4. Benhadad's bluster and boasting (v. 10).
The design of this was to strike terror into the hearts of the king and people. He vows that he will make Samaria a heap of dust, and that this dust will not be sufficient to fill the hands of his army, so overwhelming is the number of his host.

5. Ahab's answer by a proverb (v. 11).
"Let not him that girdeth on his harness boast himself as he that putteth it off." This is a proverb full of points for all boosters. God's purpose may overrule all man's proud presumptions. "Man proposes, but God disposes." "Pride goeth before destruction, and a haughty spirit before a fall."

6. Readiness for the attack (v. 12).
In the full confidence of victory, the Syrian king was giving a banquet to his princes. In the midst of this feasting, the command was given to invade Samaria. Incited by strong drink, he gave no attention to the striking proverb of Ahab. Many have gone to ruin because through the stupor of drunkenness, they have failed to heed proper warnings.

11. A Prophet Sent to Ahab (vv. 13, 14).
Who the prophet was, we are not told, but why he was sent, is made clear. He brought from God a promise of victory which was to cause Ahab to know Jehovah. It is a marvelous display of God's goodness and grace. Israel deserved the most severe chastisement, but God promised victory for his own sake in order to make his glory known. The agency by which the victory was to be achieved, was the young men, an agency purposely feeble, that the victory might be seen to be of God.

111. Ahab's Victory Over the Syrians (v. 15-21).
The army of Ahab was but a handful compared with that of the Syrian king (v. 15; cf. v. 10). Benhadad, with confidence in his superior numbers, ordered the young men of Israel to be taken whether they came for peace or war. He, with his princes, continued their drunken debauch. The young men struck right and left, creating great consternation. When the seven thousand reserves joined the young men, a general panic was produced among the Syrians. From the human side, the victory is accounted for by the drunkenness of the Syrians, but from the divine side, we see that God wrought for his own glory. Ahab pursued the Syrians with a great slaughter, but Benhadad escaped. Many have been the defeats which have come through drunkenness; defeats in morals, defeats in religion, defeats in business, defeats in physical endurance. The man who indulges even moderately, has reduced his opportunities of success very greatly. Most of the accidents by automobiles, railroads, etc., are traceable to the use of intoxicating liquors.

Short-Sightedness.
Few people, rich or poor, make the most of what they possess. In their anxiety to increase the amount of means for future enjoyment, they are too apt to lose sight of their capability for the present.—Leigh Hunt.

Duty for All.
I am sure that it is a duty for all of us to aim at a just appreciation of various points of view, and that we ought to try to understand others rather than to persuade them.—A. C. Benson.

For a Weak Stomach.

EXPLODES THEORY OF PTOMAINE POISONING

Dr. Barnard Says Canned Goods Are Safe for Human Food.

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—Dr. H. E. Barnard, Indiana representative of the federal food administrator, issued a statement today denying that ptomaine poisoning lurked in canned goods or that it was dangerous to leave the contents of a can in the receptacle after it is opened. The statement follows: "The prejudice against the use of canned foods which was but a few years ago so common that most housewives used the excellent products of the canner with fear and trembling, has almost died out. But there are still some people, and even some physicians who are obsessed with the fallacy that ptomaines somehow or other result from the contact of foods with tin surfaces. The fact in that the tin can until it is perforated so that the contents spoil because of the introduction of mold or bacteria from the outside. If it were possible to dissolve enough tin from the lining of the can a slight metallic poisoning might result, but as a matter of fact the tin in the can does not dissolve. I have examined sweet corn which had been packed for more than twenty-five years and found the corn entirely satisfactory as a food and the lining of the can as bright and fresh as when the food was first put up. The acid naturally present in food dissolves tin plate very slowly. Canned goods put up for a year or two or three are just as wholesome when finally eaten as when fresh packed. "There is still another fallacy which is common among housewives and which is frequently repeated by men and women who ought to know better, and that is the idea that as soon as a package of canned goods is opened the contents should be emptied into some other receptacle. A little reflection on the part of those who are afraid to leave food stand in the tin can will recall the fact that tin utensils are common in every kitchen. Milk pails and milk pans have held the milk for generations and no one yet has ever suggested that the lactic acid in milk dissolves off enough tin to produce any toxic symptoms. The jagged edges of an opened tin can may irritate the fingers, and a clean China bowl does not offer such possibilities of damage, but other than this I know of no reason why the contents of the can should be emptied. Certainly baked beans, canned cherries or hominy will keep just as well in the can as out of it, and the tin lining will have no injurious effect whatsoever.

"The laboratories of the National Canners' association have recently completed a most careful study of the rate at which tin is dissolved from the lining of the can. The results show conclusively that the solution of the tin proceeds so slowly that it is impossible for food to be made in the slightest degree unwholesome. Housewives should learn to look upon the properly sealed tin package as the safest container for food and just so long as the package is in good condition the food contained in it will be good

CLAIMS HER MIND WAS ON REVOLVER

Did Not Think on Seriousness of Note in Sum of $1,200.

When Pauline Corcoran signed a note for $1,200 in November, 1914, she was thinking only of the revolver which Conrad Hohnholz had brandished before her eyes and with which he had threatened to shoot her, the woman testified in circuit court, Friday, in the case in which she asks that the note be declared null and void.

According to the petition of Pauline Corcoran and borne out by her testimony in the case, in trial before Judge J. W. Eggenman, she had entered into a partnership with Hohnholz early in 1914. The woman had disposed of property in Bloomington and Hohnholz had sold a Harrison street lot in order that they might enter the trucking business together. He was to manage the ten-acre garden which they bought in the Country Club addition. Also they were to divide royalties upon a patent suitcase in which they held stock.

Hohnholz developed a vitriolic temper, which had been slumbering the while the woman soon found, she states. He would swear violently and when she ordered him off the place he flashed a revolver and threatened to shoot her.

As a climax Hohnholz forced his female business partner to sign a note for $1,200, the woman testifies. Now that the note is due she asks that it be declared void and the mortgage on her properties be cancelled.

The defendant, who is now employed at the Bowser plant, denies making use of a revolver. He only took the weapon from the woman to keep her from shooting him, he testifies. He took the note as payment for his share of the truck business when they decided to quit their partnership, he claims.

The case was in hearing all day Friday and will probably not be decided until Saturday morning. Attorneys Sommers & Kennerk represent the woman and Hartzell & Todd the defendant.

DISMISS PARK CASE.

Palmist Drops Suit Against Robison Park Management.

The case of Maggie Hudson, of Columbus, Ohio, against Charles H. Williams, manager of Robison park, in which $500 was asked for breach of contract was dismissed by Attorney Hans Meland, in superior court, Friday. It is understood that an agreement was reached between the attorneys in the case, Creighton Williams representing the park manager.

The fortune teller had alleged that she signed up to read palms in the Fort Wayne amusement park and that she had not been able to follow the doings of the Indiana legislature, which declared her profession unlawful. She gave up a good job in Columbus and came here only to find that she could not read the future for local citizens.

Schools Compete in Securing Signatures to Pledge Cards

The schools of the city both public and parochial are going to compete in securing signatures to the Hoover pledge cards promising meatless and wheatless days in the food conservation campaign.

Frank Hilgemann, chairman of the food relief committee, asks that the various schools return their pledge cards at the earliest possible moment. He intends to have published the showing made by each school. Doubtless the spirit of rivalry will be keen as each school will endeavor to secure the greatest number of signatures.

Mr. Hilgemann reports that the St. Patrick's parish has returned 182 cards properly signed, which includes almost every family in the parish. It is expected that the few who have not signed will do so before many days.

Mr. Hilgemann announces that Mrs. Franklin E. Mead is now engaged in organizing a corps of women to canvass the city, explain the food conservation movement and secure pledges. Mrs. Mead was one of the few persons who have called the food relief committee and volunteered her services in any way that they may be needed. She is anxious to secure 100 women.

A meeting of the women who will take up this work will be held Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the public library, at which time Mr. Hilgemann will explain in detail what is expected of them.

The wife will retain the custody of their small child, towards the support of which Henning will pay $10 a month.

Somers & Kennerk are the attorneys.

The mishap occurred while he was on picket duty on the battleship Michigan, stationed in New York harbor. The unfortunate man enlisted at the beginning of the war and had just recently been assigned to the Michigan.

SLACKERS TRY TO BEAT WAR TAX ON FARES

Attempt to Get Under the Thirty-Five Cent Mark by Paying Twice.

The new war tax placed on railroad fares has introduced a new method for the slackers to try to beat the government. The tax is not imposed on fares less than thirty-five cents and a number of travelers on the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction lines have tried, to keep under this limit by paying a fifty cent fare on the installment plan. The slacker who tries to pull this off pays his fare to a thirty cent point and then tries to pay the other twenty cents to his destination. By playing this trick on the government that gave him his freedom and is now protecting him, the slacker attempts to save for his own use the sum of four cents, which would be the amount of the government tax on a fifty cent fare.

This trick, while attempted, does not work, for the conductor is told to watch this and when he collects the second fare charges twenty-four cents, raising the total up to the amount required to pay the tax.

Teachers' Specials. The Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company sent three special cars to Indianapolis Thursday, taking the Huntington county teachers to the state convention, which is meeting at the capital Thursday, Friday and Saturday morning.

SHORT SELLING CURB HOLDS WALL STREET

Most Drastic War Measure Since Closing of Exchange in 1914.

New York, Nov. 2.—Supervision of short selling on the New York stock exchange, decided upon by the board of governors yesterday, following the greatest decline of securities of the year, went into effect today. The action is the most drastic war measure put into effect by the board since the exchange closed in the early days of the war. Recent "violent" short selling on the market has been attributed in some quarters to German interests, as part of an organized propaganda to create pessimism. There is no intention on the part of the exchange to eliminate short selling. Leading members of the board of governors say that short selling operations possess valuable functions which are necessary at times to stabilize prices. The new trading rules just adopted will put into the possession of the board of governors at noon every day the names of speculators who have sold stocks which they did not own, with the purpose of buying them back later at cheaper prices. All members of the exchange must supply the names of customers for whom stocks are borrowed in the process of completing short sale transactions. Lenders of stocks will also be required to inform the governors of the names of brokers to whom they loan stocks.

Market raiders who have been depressing values by short sales and the circulation of false rumors will be exposed.

TEN GERMAN PLANES DOWN.

Paris, Nov. 2.—Ten German airplanes were brought down yesterday by the French, or compelled to land in damaged condition, the war office announces.

The artillery battle continues on the Aisne front. German attacks at several points were repulsed. The communication follows:

"North of the Aisne there was intermittent artillery fighting. We dispersed enemy detachments which attempted to approach our lines in the region of Chevroux.

"Enemy attacks on our small posts at the Main de Massiges, near Tahure and north of St. Mihiel were without success. Patrol encounters on the left bank of the Meuse enabled us to take prisoners.

"On Nov. 1 two German airplanes were brought down by our pilots and a third by our special cannon. Furthermore seven enemy machines were compelled to land in damaged condition.

"Our bombing squadrons threw down many bombs on the railway station at Mulheim, the aviation grounds at Beilstein, munitions depots at Ruffach and Weperleimthal and the railway station at Thionville.

"In reprisal for the bombardments of Dunkirk seventeen of our airplanes dropped 2,500 kilograms (5,500 pounds) of projectiles on the town of Offenbourg in the Grand Duchy of Baden."

STOP HOARDING YOUR PENNIES; ARE NEEDED

Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—Penny hoarding and small coin savings banks were placed on the official taboo list today by Raymond T. Baker, director of the mint who declares the country is threatened with a severe shortage of cents, dimes and other small "change" for the approaching holiday shopping season. He appealed to persons who collect small coins as a savings hobby to exchange them for coins of larger denominations or for currency to relieve the shortage. Children, particularly, were asked to do their bit. War revenue taxes amounting to one or more odd cents on theater admissions, tobacco and other articles, now effective, caused such an enlarged demand for cent pieces that Director Baker today announced mints hereafter would work Sundays, in addition to day and night as at present. The mints' output of three million copper coins a day will not be sufficient and it is imperative, he said, that persons make small individual sacrifices to keep the coins in circulation.

WAGE CONFERENCE ON.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Officials and chairmen of railroad brotherhoods who arrived here yesterday continued in executive session today to formulate demands for increased wages on the allegation that 250,000 men have had no advances since the war began, although the cost of living has advanced 41 per cent.

The field of sculpture is an unusual one for women, but Bello Kinney, whose work is well known in the south, has compelled New York also to recognize her genius. Her work has always been styled rugged and masculine, rather than feminine. She has made many statues in honor of leaders of the confederacy.

CITY LIGHT MAKES MANY NEW FRIENDS

Growth of Plant Shown in
Kilowatts.

Steady growth of activities of the city plant is shown in the report of Superintendent Frank Dix for the month of October. There were 75,000 more kilowatts of electricity used during October of this year than during the same month of 1916. The growth has been going on steadily for the past year, Superintendent Dix reports. Seventy-eight new customers were gained for city light last month, the record shows. That number is above the average gain for the year although every month has brought an increase in light patrons. The peak load for 1917 will run several hundred points above that of the heaviest day of last year. Superintendent Dix estimates. Already the adding of lights for the benefit of Thanksgiving displays in downtown windows and the more general use of home lamps, which comes with winter evenings, is pulling the peak load up to striking distance of last year's record. The two evenings last week the peak load needed lifted about the 2,500 mark which is within 50 kilowatts of the present peak load record.

WORK RENEWED.

Fair Days Bring Out Construction Laborers. The sunshine of Friday brought out scores of laborers who have been shut in because of mud and rain during the past week. Street cleaners are raking the partly dried leaves from gutters of the avenues and are opening up all street drains. Paving work is being renewed. Park laborers are again spraying trees along the streets and planting shrubs in the open plots. Water in the St. Joseph river has receded to the point that the sewage pumps are no longer needed in the Lakeside region. The pumps were stopped on Thursday night.

NO LET UP.

Vaccinating Goes on in Health Board Office.

The corridors of the city hall continue to ring with the voices of children who have gathered to be vaccinated. More than 100 bare arms were scratched by the city physicians on Friday morning. There were also several adults who reported for the inoculation. Health officers wish it known that the vaccinating work is carried on at the city building from 9:30 o'clock in the morning until 12 o'clock and from 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon until 5 o'clock.

New cases of the disease reported on Friday morning are in the Sharp family, 1412 Broadway; the Potts family, 1127 Sinclair street, and at 421 Fourth street.

More to Grace Avenue. Grace construction company workmen have completed the paving of

"Battling Dan," Who Put Out T. R.'s Eye

Here's Colonel Dan Moore, the battler with the awful wallop, the army and navy gent who put out Roosevelt's eye. Now with the 310th Field Artillery at Camp Meade, he is waiting patiently for a chance to "hang a wallop" on the Kaiser's jaw. Colonel Moore served as aide while Roosevelt was president, and was one of his regular boxing partners.

We sell best quality heavy white back overalls for $1.25; will cost you $1.75 elsewhere.

Here the World's Best Merchandise Values Never Quite As Helpful

—It's a satisfaction in one's Winter shopping to know that "The Store" is big and broad, that its stocks are ample and generous; that its service is courteous and obliging. To shop, however, now and save money is a consideration that cannot be disregarded. In the natural scheme of economizing that's the supreme test of service. Tepper leadership has never been more strongly emphasized than it has been, than it is, in its war-time values. So successfully has it been able to control price advances that in many instances goods are being sold over the counter here at less than it takes mills to produce similar grades and qualities. In this way, people making this store their shopping home are being helped as never before.

2-Day Sale of Woolens, Velvets, Silks

Comfy Wool Velour Coats ---and just think of it Only $19.95

No, indeed, they're not $19.95 Coats. The very fact that they are featured as the most important of Saturday's "Better Values" tells you that—but it would take a more forceful headline than we have seen on any advertisement for a week of blue moons to carry to you an idea of the unusualness of these Velour Coats for Saturday—Of fine quality all-wool Velour; high waist line, with pleated back; belted side and front; large collar inlaid with Kerami Plush; slash pockets and body lined; colors—Green and Brown.

A Splendid All-Wool Kersey Coat 22.50

The fine stylish lines and the excellent quality of this "Better Value" Coat of all-wool Kersey will be much admired by all who try one of them on—a clever, high-waisted effect with shirred back; large collar inlaid with velvet; belted sides and front turnback cuffs trimmed with large black buttons; slash pockets, of course; body lined and in colors of brown, navy and black.

$25 and $27.50 Newest of the New Suits $18.95

—If you've been listening closely to what Fashion has had to say you know about the new lines that make for slenderness—and you'll realize why they've been adopted so enthusiastically when you see them exemplified in these suits that have been reduced to $18.95.

—Let your fancy run almost where it will in regard to style, fabric or color—there is small chance but you will find what you want here—all sizes.

Every Cloth and Velvet Suit In The Store Marked 'Way Down!

Save $8 to $10 on any one of these Beautiful Satin Frocks, $23.75

—wonderful from the fact that they are brand new—the very last things that Fashion has sent Fort Wayne—and wonderful, too, from the fact that we have reduced them to this low price to make them worthy as headliners for Saturday—of soft and shimmering Charmeuse Satins that fairly radiate beauty and richness—and still others of soft, clingy Georgettes—others that are combinations of both! Dresses for afternoon wear—scores of them—and there are just as many of them for street wear—others for evening wear, too. You'll wonder and wonder why we marked them so low as $23.75.

In making this announcement it is necessary that you should bear in mind peculiar trade conditions existing in these lines

Never have the better grades of high-class silks, velvets, and woolen dress goods been more difficult to secure. Textile experts are bewildered, and this applies from the buyers of the raw material to those handling the finished product. In the face of these conditions we usher in November with unusual buying opportunities in all three sections of silks, velvets and woolen dress goods. Furthermore, the stocks are complete with a showing of the season's newest were in the basement room partaking of refreshments word was quickly circulated among the men that a fire was in progress in the room above. Quickly slipping out and locking the doors behind them, the men went to the auditorium and found a lot of drapery and decorations burning. The flames were quickly subdued.

The fire started from a candle in a Japanese lantern burning a hole in the bottom of the lantern and dropping down to the drapery and decorations below. The damage was slight. Prizes were awarded to the best and most difficult costume to unravel. Miss Lydia Kirch, of Decatur, was given the prize for lady costume, and Clifford Kirkpatrick was given the gentlemen's prize.

FROSTS KILL MEXICAN CORN.

Mexico City, Nov. 2.—Recent heavy frosts have destroyed three-quarters of the corn crop on the central plateau of Mexico, according to estimates by the National Chamber of Commerce. It is stated that the corn this year will be about 25 per cent. of normal throughout the country. The city council of Mexico City is planning steps to prevent undue profits on any articles of prime necessity.

ADDED INTEREST IN RED CROSS WORK

Latest Way of Aiding Local Chapter is Through Donation of Old Silver.

Since the advent of the American soldier in the front line trenches the Red Cross work has taken on an added interest and the workers are exerting all speed to complete as many articles of comfort as possible. The local warehouse is sending a car load of supplies every twenty days to an eastern port for use by these fighting men. The warehouse is the distributing point of the various Red Cross work shops of northern Indiana and large shipments are received daily from a number of chapters. The DeKalb county Red Cross organization, Indiana Harbor and Peru sent a number of articles Friday to go with the next car.

E. C. Moderswell has introduced a new way of aiding the local workers. He brought a package to the workshop as a donation, which, when unwrapped, proved to be a number of spoons and table ware of solid silver. These articles were heirlooms of the family and had not been used for years, but their sale as old silver will be a material aid to Red Cross work.

The Perry sisters, working for the Foster factory, have done their bit by sewing 3,870 button holes in 774 different garments. They have been doing this work for the Red Cross since July 18. Little Elizabeth Muir donated $2.20 to the local chapter in the form of a subscription to the Boys' Citizen.

MILITARY NEWS

FINE OPPORTUNITIES IN REMOUNT SECTION

Openings for Blacksmiths,
Horseshoers, Saddlers,
Stenographers, Etc.

A number of Allen county farmer boys, horse lovers, blacksmiths, saddlers and horseshoers, who are interested in following up their chosen work, have inquired to learn more about the remount section of the national army. This is one branch of the service that volunteers will not be likely to have to leave the country, and this phase has attracted a number of enlistments.

The government has erected thirty-four remount depots in different sections of the country to supply the army with animals, such as cavalry horses, field artillery and draft horses and mules. These horses and mules are being purchased all over the country and shipped to the various depots, where they will be cared for until shipped to the different commands for service.

The officers at a remount depot consist of the quartermaster corps in command, ten other officers connected with this corps and the following non-commissioned officers: Quartermaster sergeant, senior grade; eight quartermaster sergeants of the quartermaster corps, thirty-six sergeants of different grades and thirteen corporals. There are also at each depot five cooks, ninety-one privates of the first class and 131 privates of the quartermaster corps. There is a difference of $3 a month in the salary of the two kinds of privates.

Each position has its own pay, which is increased according to the position, for instance, a blacksmith or horseshoer will be rated as a sergeant of the quartermaster corps and would receive $45 a month with board, lodging, clothes and medical service. These depots also provide schools for horseshoers, teamsters and packers. Clerks, typewriters and time-keepers are wanted. Men who understand invoicing, property clerks, stenographers and checkers, blacksmiths and horseshoers are needed. Men who understand handling forage, feeding animals, carpenters, plumbers, furriers and saddlers may be used.

The remount offers a splendid opportunity, especially to those young men from the farms who love horses and their care. The men stationed at one of these depots are stationed in quarters and will not be subject to the hardships of campaigns and trenches, and as these depots are to be maintained throughout the war those stationed there are not likely to have to leave the country.

This branch of the service is filling fast on account of the excellent opportunities of advancement and the excellent chance for men with the trades listed to serve their country, and so it would be to the advantage of every young man who desires to get into the army to learn more of this section.

Six enlistments.

November started out with six enlistments for the army. The total number recruited during October was 108 and this month bids fair to outstrip even that splendid record. Fort Wayne was one of the few cities in the United States of its size to have a record of over a hundred enlistments during a month. Many of the branches of the army are still open and it is expected that they will close at any time. A number of colored men have left to join the quartermaster and engineer units, which need their service. More are still needed.

plain sight. We came through Washington, D. C., last night and I saw the capitol building, the white house and Washington monument. The city looks beautiful after night and was all lit up with different colored lights. Well, I guess this is all for this time.

"Fort Jay. Will write you a few lines this afternoon as I expect you are getting anxious to hear from me. Well, I am O. K. and getting along fine and couldn't be better. Expect to hear about the third so if you don't hear from me for a while don't be worried for I will be safe and having a good time. How is everybody? I would have liked very well to have come home and seen you, but we were expecting orders to leave all the time so I guess it is better that I did not. Give my regards and best wishes to the band boys for I would like to be with them, but I can't for some time yet. Received the socks and muffler and they are fine. I sure appreciate them. Address my mail the same as before and it will be forwarded to me. So good bye and answer soon.

"October—Went aboard ship today. Do not know when we will sail.

SOLDIER TELLS OF WORK OF Y. M. C. A.

Along the Cause.

Dear Editor: Enclosed please find an appeal from one of Uncle Sam's boys. I am writing it entirely on my own desire to see other boys more fortunate than I, helped. I like to help them write letters to their homes, and assist them in other ways. But I know what the Y. M. C. A. is doing for the boys, and I don't want to see the good work interrupted on account of lack of financial support. If you see fit, I would be happy if you would add to, or detract from, the enclosed letter and publish it conspicuously. Thanking you in advance for the smallest courtesy in regard to same, I remain,

Your friend,
A PVT. U. S. A., Q. M. C.
Gentle reader, I am in the service of Uncle Sam, trying to do my duty. I am wondering if the folks at home are doing their duty, in trying to back me up. Have you a brother, a son, or friend in the army or navy, any place in the whole world? If so, he is taking advantage of the conveniences and friendliness of a Y. M. C. A. building. Someone is paying for this paper, this pen, this ink. Someone is paying to make your soldier happy, and provide a place where he can come to enjoy lectures, concerts, athletic activities, religious services and the use of libraries and pianos. Are you helping? Cut out a bad habit, or in some way plan to help, plan to "do your bit," by helping furnish these conveniences to us.

The Y. M. C. A. stands for three things, primarily, to provide nourishment to the mind, body and spirit of every man. The "Y" secretary is a brother, sister, sweetheart, mother and father to us. The building over which he presides is a church, club room and theater. It is a place where a fellow likes to go when feeling blue, a good place to be on Sunday, a good place in the long winter evenings. What would we do without it? Now, it's up to you. Will you help?

ENLISTMENTS LOW DURING OCTOBER

Seven Men Join the Navy
and Thirty-Five File
Applications.

The navy recruiting station reports seven enlistments for the month of October. Thirty-five applications were filed and it is probable that some of the applicants will become enlistments. The navy department is desirous of obtaining as many recruits as possible, being 18,000 men short from actual war strength. A measure is being introduced to increase the naval quota 80,000. Of this number 20,000 are to be permanent and 50,000 temporary seamen.

The rate of enlistment has been unusually low on account of the poor facilities for new recruits. Within the last few months, however, camps as well as training ships have been prepared and the best of accommodations are now available. A recruiting campaign will be organized within a short time and will include a canvass of small neighboring towns as well as Fort Wayne.

BATTERY BOYS ARE PROBABLY IN FRANCE

Relatives of one of the boys of the Rainbow division from Rochester, Ind., have received a message that the boys of the 150th or Rainbow division have arrived safely in France. There is no official word given out, however. Both Fort Wayne batteries are members of the Rainbow division.

APELLA—"When the Frost is on the Pumpkin"

Apella is the Autumn drink, par excellence. Its aroma is that of fine ripe apples stored for winter use. It is sparkling and snappy like the crisp November air.

The pure unfermented juice of selected Autumn apples, Apella is clarified and made to sparkle and bubble like the finest champagnes. The taste is delightful. Apella is just sweet enough and just tart enough to fascinate you. It is healthful as the apples from which it is made.

Do not confuse Apella with cider. Rather, compare it with champagne, the great aristocrat of drinks, for Apella has

A Champagne Sparkle
A Champagne Flavor

One sip of this wonderful new drink will make you an enthusiast. Apella will delight the friends who gather about your fireside on an Autumn evening.

Try Apella at the soda fountain, cafe or club, or have your grocer deliver it to your home.

"GARDEN OF EDEN" IN CEMENT MAKES KANSAS HOME WEIRD

Cain and wife and other figures in cement "Garden of Eden" at Dinsmoor home in Lucas, Kas. Photo of S. P. Dinsmoor inset in upper left hand corner.

(Special Dispatch.)

Lucas, Kas., Nov. 2.—The wierdest home in the United States is that of S. P. Dinsmoor, here in Lucas. It is built like a log cabin, only the "timbers" are of stone from the native ledges. One of the porches is ornamented with cement beer bottles and jugs and mugs as a sort of merry gibe at Kansas' prohibition law.

But it is on the grounds that Dinsmoor has spent most of his time and displayed his queer genius. He has a cement Garden of Eden. He is an artist in cement and has used 873 sacks of cement to make many figures of Adam and Eve, the devil who tempted Eve and also of other characters taken from the Old Testament.

A garden on the west of the home represents the creation and the fall of man according to Moses. There are eight cement trees 40 feet high, lighted with 19 electric lights.

These cement effigies make a ghostly collection when seen at night, especially when a great illuminated eye on the top of a cement pole commences to wink, and horrible human sounds come from the hollow cement figures that are connected by speaking tubes with Dinsmoor's workshop.

Dinsmoor, 73, is now busy building a cement mausoleum shaped like a pyramid.

Miss Elizabeth Harkenrider to Teach Classes in Surgical Dressings.

A class in Red Cross work will be organized Friday night at the Y. W. C. A. by the Business Girls' league. The meeting will be held following the Bible study class and the regular monthly business meeting. Miss Elizabeth Harkenrider, who has had considerable practical experience in Red Cross work, will instruct the class in the manner of making surgical dressings. A number of tables have been provided at the Y. W. C. A. building so that the work can be done there. Already a number of girls have pledged to help in the work and so a large and enthusiastic class is assured. The Bible study class will meet at 7:30 Friday night with Miss Cole as teacher. The lesson of the evening is in the first half of the second chapter of "The Social Principles of Jesus."

ed in Washington since the last report is $547,762, making the complete total 4,008,211.0

THE REASONS FOR IT.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Reasons why American corn, potato flour and other foodstuffs, which Herbert Hoover asked be substituted for wheat are not shipped to the allies so that they make the substitution thereby making it unnecessary for the people of this country to reduce their wheat consumption, are given in a statement issued by the food administration. The question had been raised by many persons in connection with the signing of food conservation pledges.

In answering this question, attention is called to the fact that European nations are already using from twenty to fifty per cent of corn, potato and other adulterants in the manufacture of their daily bread. The British government, the statement adds, requires a twenty per cent adulteration in all wheat bread and will permit a maximum of 50 per cent. Adulteration beyond 50 per cent it has been found does not make a healthful loaf. In the case of corn, it is pointed out that this commodity in the form of meal cannot be shipped because it would spoil in transit. As to the whole grain, there is the objection that the people on the other side have no mills in which to grind it. Furthermore, corn bread cannot be baked successfully in bakeries on which European people depend almost exclusively for their bread. In addition it does not keep well and with the dearth of paper it would be difficult for purchasers to carry it home.

in the meat orders for Friday. In many of the cases the butchers were told by their customers that the meatless day would be a permanent program at their house.

Restaurants Also Meatless.

Nearly all restaurants of the city joined the spirit of the meatless day on Friday. Fish and beans and other vegetables made up the staple portion of the lunch offers for the second meatless day of the week.

Hotel men have decided to observe one meatless day a week in the future. The day will be on Tuesday, starting next week, it is decided. The hotel managers have also decided to take sugar bowls from the dining room tables and to serve an allotment of he sweet with each beverage order.

Action in limiting the sugar to be used by each customer follows the request from the government that all possible sugar be saved. It is announced that hotel men are no longer able to buy the sugar by the barrel but must limit all orders to 100 pound sacks.

Food Administrator C. B. Tolan and Frank Hilgeman, head of the Allen county food relief organization, visited the parochial schools Friday and collected all signed food pledge cards. For each signed card they left a "kitchen war" pamphlet and a colored food administration card to be hung in the front window of the home of the family which agrees to keep the "waste not" pledge.

Mr. Colerick said that when Mr. Cut-shall declared he'll clean out the city hall he means that those now holding office under Mayor Honey will be replaced by others.

"Well, Maurice Niezer will do the same thing as far as that is concerned," he continued. "He has never asked a man in the city hall to remain with him in the event of his election and there isn't a man over there who has asked Mr. Niezer for a job or who expects a job if he is elected."

SUMMARY OF THE

apparently is General Cadorna's purpose unless the northern flank around Ampezzo and Tolmezzo is turned suddenly. In the Carnic Alps, the Austro-Germans seemingly have been making slow progress toward the upper reaches of the Tagliamento and the latest official communication mentions no activity in this region.

Even should the invaders succeed in crossing the Tagliamento in the region of Ampezzo, the lower course of the river would still be of great assistance to the Italians. In their retirement the Italians probably have destroyed all the bridges across the stream and small forces on the eastern bank might be able to hold back the invaders while General Cadorna prepares for a stronger stand on the line of the Piave river about twenty-five miles to the west of the Tagliamento, in order to make a supreme effort to save Venice.

The third Italian army has carried out its retreat to the eastern side of the Tagliamento, nearly complete as it left the Isonzo. The other armies did not fare so well and 60,000 additional prisoners are claimed by Berlin, bringing the total to 180,000 men and 1,500 guns. The Italians destroyed great scores of materials and ammunition in their retreat.

Three officers and a number of sailors were killed on the Kronprinz.

INVADERS OF ITALY

FIGHTING TO CROSS

Full Back Slowly.

Amid the onslaught of overwhelming masses the Italians fell back slowly. The correspondent who was fortunate enough to obtain a place in a British Red Cross automobile after remaining at the front until Saturday was able to observe the enormous movement westward. All the roads were packed with dense traffic with four or five lines abreast of teams, automobiles, trucks, pack mules, artillery wagons and caissons. The soldiers marched or rode singly, in groups, in regiments, in brigades or in divisions. It was such a time as the world has seldom witnessed. Even fields and by-roads were utilized for the colossal migration. It is not surprising that some congestion occurred amid such an exodus as the only wonder is that so great an army has been able to withdraw at all and not lost itself along the new line of defense.

Many heart-rending scenes were witnessed along the route as the torrential rain and the vast zone of mud increased the misery of the moving multitude. Food was scarce and many went without for days while sleep was impossible as the throng trudged westward. The military hospitals were evacuated together with all other establishments and pale and wounded patients were obliged to join in the rear guard march or fall into the hands of the enemy. The roadways were strewn with dead horses. Traffic moved by night and day often blocked for long intervals by the breaking down of some enormous artillery truck. But above all stands out the salient fact that the Italian army is on its feet, the broken detachments are reforming and the whole army is swinging into another line before the invading enemy.

The safe retirement to the Tagliamento was due to the unexampled heroism of large bodies of Italians of such spirit as the Alpini on Monte Nero who refused to surrender and the regiments of Bersaglieri at Monte Maggiore which perished to the last man rather than yield ground. It was because of such resistance in the face of overwhelming forces of enemy artillery and infantry that the civil population was able to retire. It was owing to the valor of Italian aviators, combating the Austro-German army of the air that fleeing women, children and old men who crowded the roads were not struck down by bursting bombs.

The spirit of the army now confronting the enemy is excellent. The troops are fired with the determination to expel the invaders from the Italian soil.

CAVALRY CHECKS TEUTONS.

Italian Headquarters, Nov. 1.—(By The Associated Press.)—The cavalry rear guard continues to screen the movement of the main body of the Italian army to its newly chosen position and at the same time to check the advance of the enemy lines. General Cadorna's bulletin last night given the first idea of where the advance is making itself felt along the hills connecting St. Daniele del Friuli, the Ledra canal and Pozzualo del Friuli, making a curved line some miles west of the Isonzo river. Military necessity still restricts rigidly the sending of the details of the operation and the mention of places, but within these close limits some general idea can be given of the heroic resistance the main part of the Italian army gave to the rush of overwhelming numbers. The greatest shock came on the north where the Isonzo first was crossed. Here occurred the weakening of certain detached German contingents and army which General Cadorna had bulletined with the frankness of a great commander. It was this weakening which gave the German contingents the opportunity at a critical moment to pass forward between portions of the army of the north and that on the line further south. The double exposure of the southern force to fire in the front and on the flank required a steady falling back until the entire army was in movement toward the newly established positions further west.

Terrific Shocks.

During this prodigious movement of the main front and the rear guard, which can only be sketched in the broadest outlines, some sections sustained shocks of exceptional intensity. The commanding height of Monte Nero, which the Italians had occupied after deeds of great valor, was defended against onslaughts from three sides which gradually developed to envelopment. Added to this was the suddenness of the surprise blow from the north, which developed into a steady fire, and also on their extreme flank, gradually extending to their rear.

Under such circumstances it was humanly impossible that any army would be tried sorely and it was to extricate the troops from this situation that the retirement began all along the extended advanced position occupied by the Italian army within Austrian territory. This line stretched roughly from Plesio (Plich), far in the north, southeastward through Gorizia to Montefalcone on the Adriatic. The second army occupied most of the front above Gorizia, the third army that below Gorizia.

Fast Stores Destroyed.

The retirement was accompanied by shelling operations of the rear guard, which poured a deadly fire into the advancing columns and at the same time destroyed powder depots, arsenals and bridges with the double purpose of giving time for the withdrawal of the Italian heavy guns and of preventing military stores falling into the hands of the enemy.

The Germans encountered stubborn resistance on the Bainsizza plateau and heaps of enemy dead mark the lines of their advance. Around Globo ridge a Bersaglieri brigade, outnumbered five to one, held back the enemy while the main line had an opportunity to get its retreat in motion.

In one of the mountain passes, a small village commanding the pass was taken and retaken eight times during desperate artillery, infantry and hand to hand fighting. Gorizia was shelled heavily and what remained of the town was reduced to ruins. Just what the correspondent saw there just a week ago today was further reduced to a mass of debris. One of the main bridges from Gorizia across the Isonzo was blown up by the Italians and the enemy movement was further impeded.

Artillery and arsenals were blown up, the whole sky was lighted with a red glare and dense masses of smoke formed in an enormous ball like the approach of an equinoctial cyclone.

Hard Rear Guard Actions.

Added to the fearful din and heavy shell fire on front and flank was the continuous explosion of powder supplies as the Italians slowly fell back, screened by a rear guard of Bersaglieri brigade, which threw up hasty breastworks and contested every foot of the way. This permitted much of the heavy artillery and munition supplies to be withdrawn, but it was a prodigious task in the face of such odds and over such steep inclines. Some of the gunners hastily improvised derricks out of ropes and hoisted and dragged the guns by hand from the advance line. The heaviest pressure began to be felt on the Carso front Friday. The Austrians then increased their bombardment to deafening intensity and supplemented this with huge volumes of poison gas and tear shells. The humid air and a light wind permitted great waves of the deadly gases to creep low toward the Italian lines, the rear guards protecting themselves with masks and by hiding in caverns.

RUSSIA NEEDS

TIME TO REST

right. He urged that the United States give aid, in the form of money and supplies and appealed to the world not to lose faith in the Russian revolution.

Russia, M. Kerensky added, was taking an enormous part in the struggle and those who said she was out of it must have short memories. "Russia has fought consistently since the beginning. She saved France and England from disaster early in the war. She is now worn out by the strain and claims as her right that the allies now shoulder the burden."

Thus Premier Kerensky explained Russia's position to the correspondent. The premier was seated in the library of the former private office of the emperor in the winter palace. The correspondent called attention to widely contradictory reports on conditions and asked that a frank statement be made. "It may be said that travelers returning from England and elsewhere to America that opinion among the people, not officially but generally, is that Russia is out of the war," it was explained.

Not Out of the War.

"Is Russia out of the war?" Premier Kerensky laughed. "That," he answered, "is a ridiculous question. That Russia is taking an enormous part in the war, one has only to remember history. While she was already fighting, England was only preparing and America was only observing. "Russia at the beginning bore the whole brunt of the fighting thereby saving Great Britain and France. People who say she is out of the war have short memories. We have fought since the beginning and they must now take the heaviest part of the burden on their shoulders."

Where Is British Fleet?

"At present Russian public opinion is greatly agitated by the question, 'Where is the Great Britain fleet, now that the German fleet is out in the Baltic?'"

THE MARKETS

STILL A CORN FACTOR

Fresh Weakness Develops in Market as Movement is Facilitated.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Fresh weakness developed in the corn market today as a result more or less of weather conditions likely to facilitate the crop movement. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/2 to 1/4 lower, with December 11.17 and May 11.12 1/2 to 11.13, were followed by moderate further declines.

Oats showed heaviness, influenced mainly by the action of corn. Provisions jumped in consequence of the big reduction in warehouse stocks here, announced in the monthly statement issued last evening.

OLD CORN REACHES TWO DOLLAR MARK

Value Listed at Double the New Corn, Which Brought One Dollar.

Old corn brought the highest price Friday morning of the season. Only one load was received but for that $2 a bushel was paid. This price was double the amount paid for one load of new corn. Hay and oats enjoyed another big run at the city scales. The bottom price for hay dropped $1, while the top price remained unchanged at $20. The low price of oats dropped 1c but the top price remained the same at 60c a bushel.

The scarcity of old corn was clearly shown by the gradual increase daily in the price paid for it. It has now reached a $2 price, and still can hardly be obtained. The country is now squarely backed against the food proposition and it is everyone's duty to guard against the waste of any food substance. The corn shortage has been stemmed to some extent by using as little corn as possible in the feeding of stock.

INAUGURATE ANOTHER EDUCATIONAL FEATURE

School for Study of Meters by General Electric Employees is Organized.

Another educational feature has been inaugurated at the General Electric works—the study of watt meters and demand meters—by the employees of the meter testing department under their foreman, B. P. O'Brien. The plan is to give a series of twelve lectures and to give those attending an opportunity to file written questions pertaining to the work of the meter department. It has also been decided to increase the range of subjects and to invite all of the employees of the meter department to attend the lectures on an equal footing with those of the testing department, the meetings to be held in the large office room adjoining P. C. Morganthaler's office, on the fifth floor of building 19, on Wall street, between the hours of 5 and 6, in accordance with the following schedule:

November 8, opening address, by P. C. Morganthaler.
November 22, "Meters and Metering," by J. L. Bireley.
December 6, "Watt-hour Meters," by J. M. Price.
December 20, "Production," by J. B. Mills.
January 10, "Demand System," by C. I. Hall.
January 24, "Demand System," by J. A. Laubenstein.
February 7, "Costs," by A. W. Berning.
February 21, "Relays," by M. J. Payton.
March 7, "Inspection," by N. C. Bucher.
March 21, "Instruments," by F. B. Owen.
April 4, "Drawings," by J. C. Ray.
April 18, "Factory Methods," by R. C. Knoll.
J. L. Bireley is the secretary who has charge of the enrollment and he has requested the foremen of the several departments to furnish him with the names and number of people they will have at the school.

General Electric Advises Safety First Always.

DR. FRED J. SCHULZ.

MISS FRANCES STEELE.

The October number of the Fort Wayne Works News, published in the interest of the company and the employees of the General Electric works, devotes a page to "Safety First Always." Beneath the portraits of Dr. Fred J. Schulz, the company's surgeon, and Miss Frances Steele, the trained nurse who has charge of the dispensary and the hospital at the big plant, the following advice is given: "These are two very busy people. We hope you make use of their services whenever there is the slightest reason for doing so. Every person who has received even a small scratch should have it cleaned and properly dressed at the dispensary. This may prevent a disastrous case of infection. On the other hand, you can lessen the work of the surgeon and the nurse greatly by getting the safety first habit. Think of the other fellow, yourself and your family. Do you realize that carefulness prevents more accidents than all other means? Think of yourself and the doctor and the nurse will not have to think of you."

The dispensary and hospital as now conducted at the General Electric works was opened to business in August, 1913, and it has grown in efficiency and importance until today the average number of patients is over forty per day. October was an ordinary month, so far as accidents and cases of sickness among the employees at the works were concerned, yet there was a total of 1,115 patients treated by Miss Frances Steele, the trained nurse, an average of forty-three a day. Only nineteen of these were injured or sick enough to necessitate treatment from Dr. Fred J. Schulz, the surgeon. The others were slight injuries which, through infection if not given prompt and proper treatment, might have been serious, resulting maybe in loss of limb or a fatality. The hospital, as stated, was established in August, 1913, and the first person to receive "first aid" was Charles Bradley, who had both legs crushed when caught between piles of sheet metal in a car which had been unexpectedly struck by a string of cars being handled by a Pennsylvania switch engine. The hospital was not then fully equipped, but Mrs. Turner, the nurse, was there and rendered the unfortunate man first aid. Mr. Bradley is still in the city, but is a permanent cripple as a result of the accident. Mrs. Nora Lee Turner, a trained nurse from California, was the first nurse and she remained there until October, 1916, when she resigned on account of poor health and was succeeded by Miss Frances Steele, a graduate from Hope hospital, who still has charge of the hospital. The employees at the big plant have been instructed to report to Miss Steele whenever injured, no matter how trifling the wound. This is to prevent infection and possible serious results. Since the establishment of the hospital cases of infected wounds inflicted at the works are very rare. Dr. Schulz, in addition to treating all patients who need the attention of a surgeon or physician, examines all the male applicants for employment at the plant. Dr. Carrie Banning performs a similar mission for the female applicants for employment.

BROTHERS COME TOGETHER.

Alvin and William Disler, both jitney bus operators on the Pontiac line, came together at 6:40 this morning. Bill was going west and Al was coming east when the accident happened. Both cars were slightly damaged, but no one was injured.

ARE BEING EXAMINED.

The employees of the Pennsylvania machine shop are being examined to ascertain whether or not they will have to submit to another vaccination. In the neighborhood of 300 men were examined today by the doctor in charge of this work.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

J. Golembiowski and P. Kaczmarczyk, truck repairmen at the Pennsylvania cast car shop, are on the sick list.

M. G. Hendricks has been given employment by Foreman W. H. Shorbondy as a crane operator at the Pennsylvania shop.

A. J. Huber, machine operator at the Pennsylvania planing mill, failed to appear for work this morning and gave illness as his reason.

Mrs. A. Kauffman, of the Pennsylvania storeroom at the east car shop, is unable to perform her duties due to illness.

T. R. King, head of the apparatus engineering board of the General Electric works, will make a business trip to Lafayette tomorrow.

P. H. Goda, Pennsylvania motive power inspector, has gone to Chicago and thence will go to Logansport on business for the company.

Guy Wolford, for seven years connected with the Illinois sales district, has been transferred to the Fort Wayne sales district.

C. C. Rodenbeck, clerk to W. M. Kamp, general foreman of the Pennsylvania old car shop, has resigned and will seek employment elsewhere.

M. Stauczyk, car repairman at the Pennsylvania east car shop, bruised the index finger of his right hand while at work yesterday, compelling him to quit work.

V. P. White, who had been here on business with the local officials of the General Electric works for a week, left yesterday for his home in Pittsfield, Mass. He is connected with the commercial department.

Frank Zollars, piece work inspector of the Pennsylvania machine shop, has resumed his duties after spending his vacation traveling through the east, taking in New York city, Boston, Buffalo and other places of interest.

E. C. Stanley, connected with the commercial department of the General Electric company, with headquarters at San Francisco, left yesterday for that city after spending several days with the local officials of the company.

F. H. Gaylord, blacksmith at the Pennsylvania shop, has resumed his duties after spending several days at Indianapolis, Ind., attending a celebration of the United Brethren church. Mrs. Gaylord, who was with her husband, also returned.

Bulletins from Cleveland announced that C. E. Denny has been appointed assistant to President Benet, R. W. Michner is appointed general superintendent and A. A. Pearson to superintendent of freight transportation on the Nickel Plate.

Mrs. E. F. Thompson, of Lafayette, Ind., accompanied by her daughter, Harrybell, and son, Robert, surprised sor parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Havland, by paying them a visit. Mr. Havland is employed at the Pennsylvania shops as a machinist.

The local branch of the American Road Machine company has been advised of the resignation of F. R. Scheffer from the sales department in Pennsylvania to become sales manager of the Sharon branch of the Savage Arms company.

DAILY LIFE OF EVERY MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD IN UNITED STATES HANGS ON RESULT OF GEN. CADORNA'S BATTLES IN NORTH ITALY

Special Dispatch from Basil M. Manly, of Our Washington Bureau.
Washington, D. C., Nov. 2.—The cable dispatches from Italy for the next two weeks will carry the most important news Americans have read since we declared war, in the opinion of authorities in Washington.

It is hard for the peaceful, easy-going American citizen to realize, but it is true; that the manner of life of every man, woman and child in the United States, for years to come, the sacrifices they will be called upon to make, the number even who will be called upon to give up their lives in the nation's service, is at this very minute being determined, 3,500 miles away, by Italian troops.

Only two battles of the war—the Marne and Verdun—equal the present struggle in importance.

There are three great turns which this decisive battle may take, each of which is fraught with enormous consequences.

First, Cadorna's army may be crushed, Italy overrun and cut to pieces.

Second, Cadorna's troops, which are reported to be making an orderly retreat, may be able to stop Mackensen's drive by holding the prepared positions, which are understood to rest on Udine, until the French and British have time to rush big guns, ammunition and, if need be, troops from the western front.

Third, Mackensen, in the ardor of pursuit, may outrun his lines of communication, just as Von Kluck did in the drive toward Paris, and give Cadorna a chance to administer a defeat comparable in many elements to the battle of the Marne.

In a week or two, we shall know which of these turns the battle will take. Let us, therefore, see just what the big effects of each of these possible eventualities on the progress of the war and our own plans will be.

The black line in above map shows the front as Italian troops had pushed it onto Austrian soil; blocked line marks the Austro-Hungarian drive from above Tolmino to the Gulf of Trieste, touching Udine. The dotted line along the Tagliamento River is probably where Italy will make her next determined stand against the German drive. The arrow points to Ploceen pass through which Teutonic troops have poured, threatening the flank of General Cadorna's forces.

States will have to spend hundreds of thousands of lives and billions of dollars before Germany can be crushed.

With Italy crushed, the Austrian submarine operating from the Dalmatian coast, which have for more than a year been held under control by the Italian navy, would again resume their activity in the Mediterranean. The transport line that supports the allied army at Salonika could then be maintained only with the greatest difficulty.

To maintain this transport line and protect the ships carrying grain and cotton from Egypt and the east, Britain would be forced to increase greatly her force of destroyers and patrols in the Mediterranean, and by so much weaken her Atlantic patrol, with grave menace to trans-Atlantic shipping.

With Italy crushed, or driven into the plains of the peninsula, Germany would be free to transfer huge numbers of effective troops to the Russian and Rumanian fronts, and push her conquests there to the point where she would cease to be menaced from that direction, leaving Britain, France and the United States to be met with augmented forces on the strongly entrenched western front.

If Cadorna, however, can stop the Germans on the Udine line, or any similar series of prepared intrenchments, until the allies can bring strong reinforcements, it may be possible to inflict such heavy losses on the masses Austro-German troops that it will be a victory gained at a cost as dear as the early advance at Verdun.

If, finally, Cadorna, in some way, which cannot now be foreseen any more than the turn at the Marne could be, should turn his defeat into victory and inflict severe losses on the Mackensen's forces, the effect in Germany would be tremendous.

SAMMIES ENJOY LIFE IN BIG BRITISH WAR TRAINING CAMP

Special Letter from Kenneth W. Payne, the Daily Sentinel's London Correspondent.

American Training Camp, Eng., Oct. 10.—This is Sammie's halfway station on the route to the French front.

After slipping secretly away from America and being lost to the world for days, thousands of American troops come to light here for a short time and get their first real taste of war conditions.

Then they disappear again, and the next that is heard from them in the states may be a casualty list from France. In the meanwhile a new American contingent takes their place here.

I came here for the Sentinel to get the first view of the life and spirit of Uncle Sam's soldiers midway between home and the firing line.

Their good cheer, grit, and enthusiasm are astonishing. English officers in charge say of each new batch of American troops:

"They treat us fine," is the American tribute to their British hosts.

Historically, this camp is an astounding feature of the war. For the first time in Britain's annals, armed foreign forces have taken possession of many acres in the heart of one of her prettiest bits of country.

Side by side from the same pole in the center of camp the Union Jack and Old Glory are flying. This is the first sight that greets the eyes of American troops as they march into their camp after long, wearisome days on crowded transports.

In the hills all around them are the British trench schools. On their first day while pitching their tents and getting settled they hear the roar of trench mortars and hand grenades used in the neighboring training camps. The wind waits to them the rattle of machine gun fire and the crackling of rifles in the British sniping schools.

Overhead a warplane runner is using his machine gun in signal practice. Not far away at an artillery barracks a sweating group of Tommies is laboring to drag a heavy gun out of a mudhole, in practice for the real job at the front. Others are rushing trenches with the bayonet.

Our men aren't yet at war, but they're in the midst of the next thing to it. And they're as happy about it as children. Friendliness and good cheer are the keywords of the camp life. In odd moments on the outskirts of the camp and at the stations they hit up an acquaintance with Tommy.

"We never had a grumble out of the men on the whole trip over," said one of the American officers. "They didn't even complain when the tobacco supply ran short."

A birdseye view of the camp at about 5 in the afternoon reveals the following activities:

Next in popularity, the Y. M. C. A. library and writing room, in a big tent near the music hall. At every green balze covered table crowds of men are writing home. Some are reading literary books, and others are deep in old newspapers from home.

There are two big canteens which do a continuously rushing business in soft drinks, cakes, candy, cigarettes and coffee. There's a piano on the platform in the music hall tent. In a recent gale the tent was blown down and the piano upset into the mud. But it still produces music and all afternoon succeeding groups cluster round it while some musical genius of the regiment hammers out ceaseless ragtime.

"The grub here is first rate," said a youngster from Pittsburg. He claimed to like the British war bread and the sugar shortage hasn't extended to this American camp.

Daily drill takes up a great deal of Sammie's time, but in off moments you'll find him playing baseball. The whole camp is a complete American tent city in the heart of England. Its residents keep shifting week by week, but its Americanism remains and each day grows more pronounced.

THE EVENING SENTINEL FILLS WOMEN'S NEEDS

Just now, in addition to the many reasons prevailing in ordinary times, there are numerous special reasons why the women who buy food and other supplies for the family should not let a day pass without a careful reading of every page of the Evening Sentinel.

Skip nothing. Read the news columns, editorials, selected women's features, the market page, store news of Fort Wayne merchants, want-ads—everything—as all hold money-saving suggestions.

NEW HEAD FOR STATE HOME.

Knightstown, Ind., Nov. 2.—Luther Short, of Franklin, Ind., has been selected to succeed Temple H. Dunn, superintendent of the Indiana soldiers' and sailors' orphan's home; it was announced here today. Mr. Dunn's resignation takes effect Dec. 31. He became superintendent of the home July 1, 1913. His resignation was a surprise.

STRONG FOR THE WAR.

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—Resolutions, one sentence of which reads, "A blow for America in this world's war is a blow for God's kingdom," were unanimously adopted at the closing session of the state congress of the United Brethren church here. The resolutions pledged to "the leaders of our state and nation" the entire membership and means of the denomination during the war. The abolition of the liquor traffic also was advocated at the closing session. The congress closed late last night.

CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our appreciation for kindness and sympathy shown by our friends and associates in the recent great bereavement of our loved husband and father. MRS. TIMOTHY MCGRATH AND FAMILY.

Slump in Prices is Help to Effort of County Agent Hutchins.

County Agent A. J. Hutchins is bending every effort to induce Allen county farmers to go on fattening their little pigs. The high price offered for the tender pork has been an inducement to farmers to sell their young pigs, despite the government appeal that more fat and meat be produced.

The local market has slumped several cents on the price paid for small sized porkers and the fall to ten and twelve cents for the meat is a great aid to County Agent Hutchins in his work. Many Allen county farmers have promised to raise their pigs to maturity, Hutchins has been told of late.

The county agent is making an effort to induce farmers who have small pigs and no corn with which to go on feeding them, to sell their stock to farmers who do have the fattening corn instead of taking the baby porkers to market, where they will be destroyed.

WAR DEPLETES OXFORD.

Oxford, Nov. 2.—Oxford university is very depleted in the matter of students, the Americans, both Rhodes scholars and others having now gone to join their country's call to arms. There are now only a very few young students under military age, some neutrals and Indians in residence. The Scientific Museum is largely given up to the flying corps, but the chemical laboratory is full of research and war work while physiology and pathology are not neglected. The colleges have been hard hit financially but still keep open. Merton is a nurses' home and Oriel partly a women's college. Others are full of cadets and airmen. There are the usual number of women students but a large proportion are engaged on some sort of war work.

Our First Anniversary Sale

Is Bringing Into Bold Relief the Value-Giving of this Store

This anniversary celebration provides exceptional values, for an event of this kind would be of no avail if there would not be an actual performance of the claims made. The fact that this anniversary has brought us an unusual amount of extra business so far this week is proof of the confidence our customers have in this store's announcements and its merchandise.

As we mentioned in our opening ad, many of the best values were not advertised, due to the style exclusiveness of the garments, yet greatly varied collections and price ranges—we never plunge in buying quantities of any particular garment just because we could sell quantities of them. It would rob the purchasers of that exclusiveness which we aim to maintain for them. Exclusiveness with us is the spice and life of our business success—variety is our great motto. And our chief effort is to provide style and quality with a nominal cost to you.

The growth of our business in one year has proved that our efforts are in the right direction—a healthy business growth caused by an endless chain of satisfaction. We are elated over the results, and inaugurated this ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION SALE to further the interests in a mutual way between this store and its customers through its extraordinary values—to add new patrons to its list—to act as a stepping stone to a greater second year.

The very garments you need now and want to buy are here.

PEOPLE ARE BUYING BONDS

War Loans Teaching Americans How to Economize and to Invest.

BANKER VANDERLIP
POINTS THE LESSON

World Amazed by Revelation of America's Investment Capacity.

The United States is becoming a nation of bond-owners. The floating of two Liberty Loans, which have made everybody familiar with bonds and what they stand for, is certain to be followed by much buying of bonds on the part of our plain American people, who formerly left these issues to be taken up by banks and capitalists.

"A bond in every home" is not impossible development of the American future.

No American is a better authority on this subject than Frank A. Vanderlip, president of the National City Bank, New York—the biggest bank in America, and one of the five biggest in the world.

Vanderlip is now a volunteer worker in the United States treasury department at Washington. His patriotic job is to sell two billion dollars worth of war savings certificates, which will be ready perhaps in December.

The Sentinel sent Milton Brommer of its Washington bureau to interview Vanderlip. Here is Brommer's article:

FRANK A. VANDERLIP,
In an Interview With Milton Brommer of Our Washington Bureau.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—The great success of the second offering of the Liberty Loan bonds has in it a deep significance in regard to the future of investment business in the United States.

FRANK A. VANDERLIP.

The education which these Liberty Loan campaigns are giving the people of this country in regard to investment securities and the experience which the people are gaining will, I believe, have a profound effect in the future upon the market for securities other than government offerings.

When the first Liberty Loan campaign was being organized some figures were collected from the great bond selling houses, with a view of ascertaining how many people in the United States were in the habit of investing in securities. The conclusion was reached that all the names on the books of all the important bond houses did not aggregate much if any more than 300,000 persons. Subscribers to the first Liberty Loan numbered 4,000,000. A vast number of additional subscribers to the second loan will learn for the first time what a bond looks like, and will get their first lesson in the acquisition of a sound investment. I believe the result of this is going to be of fundamental importance to our future. It means growing habits of thrift for our people, and it means vast accumulation of capital.

Lovely White Skin!

Strain lemon juice well before mixing and massage face, neck, arms, hands.

By all means, girls, prepare a lemon lotion to keep your skin flexible and young looking. You will soon realize that true loveliness does not mean the powdery look or waxen colorlessness of some hot house flower, but is typified by the velvety softness of your peach-like complexion and rosy-white hands.

At the cost of a small jar of ordinary cold cream one can prepare a full quarter pint of the most wonderful lemon skin softener and complexion beautifier, by squeezing the juice of two fresh lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white. Care should be taken to strain the juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan, and is the ideal skin softener, smoothen and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any pharmacy and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands. It should naturally help to whiten, soften, freshen and bring out the roses and hidden beauty of any skin. It is simply marvelous to smoothen rough, red hands.—Advertisement.

America is in a position to take a place of financial pre-eminence in the world, but whether she does take that place or not lies not with the bankers, not with the government, but in the will of the people to save.

If some of the vast earning power of this country can in a fair proportion be diverted through the channel of savings into new resources for investment, America will easily take the first position in financing the reconstruction of the world.

We are going to discover through these sales of Liberty Bonds that the investment capacity of the United States is beyond anything heretofore dreamed of. The first Liberty Loan, four times larger than the largest loan ever placed in America before was in three months completely absorbed by investors.

Practically none of it remained in the hands of the banks, either in the form of investment or as collateral for customers' loans. No one familiar with investment conditions would have deemed that possible.

People have begun to save in order that they may invest. They are realizing that the war must be fought with future savings, that past savings are already invested and are in fixed forms of property that cannot be devoted to the purposes of the war. As that lesson gets thoroughly into the minds of 100,000,000 people and they begin with a will to save, in order that they may invest, the possibilities in the way of creating fresh investment funds will prove beyond the wildest imaginings of what might be the total investment fund in the country.

Sensible economy practiced by the people will not mean stagnation in business.

With the government seeking to buy goods and services for itself and the allies to an amount approximating $20,000,000,000 a year, there can be no idleness. There can only be the most extreme activity in nearly all lines of industry.

I doubt very much—and I express this only as a personal view—that the government will be able to spend the total appropriated. Not because it may not be needed in the promotion of the war, but because it will be impossible to produce the goods.

There will be a most imperative necessity that people analyze their expenditures, and buy nothing but what is useful; not so much that they may save money to lend to the government, as that they must save manpower from doing unnecessary work.

All this is not going to bring stagnation to business. The government's activities, the complete labor employment, high wages, high prices of all agricultural products, should make up a period of intense industrial and commercial activity. Business will be greater than ever before; but it will be somewhat different in character.

The maker of unnecessary luxuries may suffer for the time being, but he, and all of us, must recognize that we cannot go on producing all the things, necessary and unnecessary, that we have been producing, and in addition produce $20,000,000,000 worth of other things for the government.

The war is going to reveal our financial resources in such proportion that their extent will astound the world. It is going to extend a knowledge of investments to millions of people who never before saw a security. It will start habits of thrift which should take deep root in our national character, and will produce a profound effect upon our national lives long after the war is victoriously ended.

As far as food supplies are concerned, Alaska can be made self-sustaining. The soil of the territory is capable of producing grain, vegetables and berries, the greatest hindrance to large crops being the short summer season.

As many as 2,000 women a month, mostly from farms, are said to visit the restaurant established by the city of Phoenix, Ariz.

ITALIAN ARMY EXPERT ANALYZES FOE'S DRIVE

Shell Shortage Makes the Teuton Gain Possible,
But It Will Fail.

Special Dispatch from L. Harper
Leach, of Our Washington Bureau.
Washington, Nov. 1.—Germany's offensive against Italy, reduced to military essentials and stripped of its possible political significance, is an attempt to repeat the Duanje drive of 1915, which blasted Russia out of Galicia and Poland, and the Serbian drive
of the same year, which blew open
the road to Constantinople.
General Mackensen, the commander, who carried out the big snatches of 1915, and who is again heading the Germans, is the "pinch hitter" of the Prussian war machine.
The Germans believe the Italians
are caught in the same relative position as the Russians and Serbs in 1915.
The Russians had run out of munitions.
The Serbs had little artillery.
In both campaigns Mackensen literally
blasted his way by drum fire.
Italy has plenty of guns, and her
munitions and supply departments are
alert, but the submarine campaign
and ship shortage which have failed
to cripple France and Britain, have reduced Italy's munitions supplies far below the danger line. The Italian offensive of the early summer consumed
most of her reserve munitions. Italy
has neither coal nor iron and must get both by sea. For five months the Italian military commission in Washington has been struggling for American
wheat, steel and coal.
That the Italian army is hampered by a serious shortage of shells in the face of the big German offensive is freely admitted by Italian officers in the United States. Captain Count Lucerna de Campeggioni, who arrived here only recently, says the whole thing hangs on "Munitions, Munitions,
Munitions," paraphrasing Lloyd
George's "Ships, Ships, Ships" with
real Latin intensity.
The country, attached to the Italian military mission, says there is no reason to mind words about something the Germans know all about when they decided to launch their attack.
"Then they know about the conditions in the Italian army?" I asked.
"Certainly, German spies are on every street corner in Italy, or in Europe for that matter. We have done
our best to catch them, but where one
is caught, others take his place."
The count says the German offensive has been expected for some time
—in fact, it has been inevitable ever since the Russian army's disorganiza-
tion in July.
The first blow was expected on the Bainsizza plateau, where it fell. The next stroke on the upper Isonzo was not so clearly anticipated when the
count left Italy, because the complete demoralization of Russia and the safety with which Germany can withdraw troops from the eastern front
was not then apparent.
Asked whether the railroad facilities between France and Italy would allow the transfer of French, British and American troops to stem a German offensive on the Italian front, the
count said the railroads were available,
but that there was no need of allied
infantry.
Italy has plenty of men—also plenty
of cannon—but not enough shells.
The transfer of British and French
batteries to the Italian front, which has been going on for some time, is due to the lack not of Italian cannon or artillerymen, but of shells.
Britain and France have considerable reserve stocks of shells and their supply is being kept up, but their shells
will not fit the Italian cannon. To use the allied shells on the Italian front
requires allied cannon to fire them and allied artillerymen to handle the guns.
The Italian shell shortage made it self felt before the end of the recent Italian offensive, and the presence of 10 British batteries on the lower Isonzo at that time, with a large number of French batteries above Gorizia, was due solely to the necessity of using all ammunition.
That Italy will stop the German
drive, just as she stopped the German
"strafe expedition" from the Trentino
early last year, is Count Lucerna's confident prediction. He says that the German accounts of prisoners taken are altogether unreliable.

An Old Man's Stomach.
As we grow older and less active, less
and less food is required to meet the demands of our bodies. If too much is habitually taken, the stomach will rebel. When a man reaches the advanced age of 35 or 40, you will find that he is a light eater. Be as careful
as you will, however, you will occasionally eat more than you should and
will feel the need of Chamberlain's Tablets to correct the disorder. These tablets do not contain opium, but strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels.—Advertisement.

PLANS GROWING FOR NEW HAVEN EXHIBIT

Prizes Will Go for Every Variety of Fruit and Produce.

Plans for the farm production show
to be held at New Haven on November
26-30 are now complete, announces
County Agent A. J. Hutchins, who conferred with officers of the New Haven
organization on Thursday. Money
has already been gathered for giving nearly $20 0 in cash prizes for the best
displays of fruit and grain.

There will be speakers on every afternoon and night of the production
contest. Two of the best known professors for Purdue university are expected to be among those who deliver addresses. There will be music and demonstrations in scientific planting
and cultivating. Displays of new models of farm tools are expected. All sessions will be held in Meyer hall.

Directors of the New Haven association will meet on Monday evening to arrange for publicity and added feature events for the show.

Corn Is Wet.
County Agent Hutchins is spending

much of his time in conferring with farmers concerning the state of their crops. The corn fields are hub deep
in soft mud and access to the shocks
or uncut grain is impossible.
The soft, water-soaked condition of
the corn makes farmers fear for the outlook for seed corn for next year.
There is a doubt if much of the grain
will do for replanting.
Mr. Hutchins is advising that no effort be made to cut the corn at this time in cases where the grain is not already shocked. He believes the corn which is yet standing in the field is in a better shape than that which is cut and standing in shocks. The food value of the grain will not be impaired
when the corn has been properly dried.
Agent Hutchins states.

MUCH INTEREST TAKEN IN NEXT SUNDAY'S GAME

For Reason That Toledo Ma-rooms Have Defeated
Some of the Best.

Much interest is being taken among Fort Wayne fans in next Sunday's gridiron battle with the Toledo Maroons. Fort Wayne fans are reasonably familiar with the record of the Maroons and they know that if the Friars expect to win it will be up to them to put forth the best they have. The fact that the Maroons played the fast Massillon eleven to a scoreless tie, is sufficient evidence of their class. But that is not all. Last season they defeated the Pima Village team and this season have defeated the Detroit Heracles and other aggregations of the same standing.

Another end has been secured for the Friars in the person of H. C. Banjan, last year with Notre Dame. He is at present located at Camp Zachary Taylor and thus far this season has been playing with Pima Village. Last Sunday he sent word with "Deac" Jones that he would much rather be with the Friars. "Deac" was instructed to secure his services and a message from "Deac" says that Banjan will be here for next Sunday's game.

Hundreds of boys will be guests of the Friars next Sunday, it being boys' day. Tickets for Sunday's game may be secured at the usual places and also at Meyer Brothers' drug store at Calhoun and Wayne streets.

NOTRE DAME GOES EAST.

Notre Dame, Ind., Nov. 2.—"We're going to give them a battle and we don't concede them a victory by a long shot." This was the parting speech of Coach Harper, a she herded the Notre Dame eleven on an eastbound train yesterday afternoon. West Point is the destination of Harper and his twenty athletes, who are on their way to play the fifth revival of the annual intersectional clash with the Army Saturday.

The players, with few exceptions, are in excellent condition. The exceptions are Rydzewski, Madigan, Bahan and Brandy. Degree and Pearson, regulars, were left at home because of injuries.

BROWNS PLAN A SENSATION.

St. Louis, Nov. 2.—Robert Quinn, business manager of the St. Louis Browns, said today that an attempt would be made at the approaching American league meeting in Chicago to swing a deal that will put the St. Louis team near the top in next season's race.

"Mr. Ball is tiring of base ball clubs that do not measure up to the winning standard," said Quinn. "We have in mind a deal which, if consummated, will convert the team into a first-division club or a pennant winner. We stand as good a chance to land the deal as any other club in the league, and Mr. Ball will go as far as any of the rivals if it comes to a bidding contest."

ROSE POLY SHAKUP.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 2.—The Rose Polytechnic squad is braving the cold week in strenuous scrimmaging in preparation for the game with Franklin next Saturday on Rose field here. Coach Lefty Gilbert is considering shifting Floyd, the crack center, to the back field, as he has been dissatisfied with the playing of Dan Howard, the new recruit, and also Burns and Brophy, who have been tried out in the back field. Right Guard Henry will take Floyd's place at center, while Howard will be used on end. Other changes to be made are calculated to make the fighting engineers stronger than ever.

BOXING CLUB SOLD.

Minneapolis, Minn., Nov. 2.—Mike Collins, Hudson, Wis., fight promoter, and manager of Fred Fulton, John S. Johnson and William O'Brien, of Minneapolis, today purchased the Minneapolis Boxing club. Collins will be matchmaker. Fred Fulton will probably appear against some fast heavyweight for the first card, to be staged in two weeks.

SPORT SAVINGS

The Bluffton high school basketball teams opened the season at Petroleum this week. The boys won 21 to 25 and the girls won 21 to 5.

All this talk about the Hammond and Pima Village game next Sunday being for the state championship is the cheapest kind of press agent stuff.

The reason the Friars are not going to play Wabash this season is due to the fact that Wabash is not in the Friars' class. By which is meant that Wabash is not fast enough.

One more month of football. And then comes basketball.

The basketball team of the Fort Wayne high school will open the season this evening in Governor James P. Goodrich's home town of Winchester. The Winchester high has had a basketball team every season almost since the advent of basketball as one of the popular sports and the locals will be up against a real aggregation judging from past performances.

Already it looks as though there would be no Central league or any other kind of a league baseball team in Fort Wayne next season. However, as long as Mart Cleary is in our midst we should worry.

Somehow we haven't heard as much basketball talk as usual. However, there is plenty of time.

A large number from this city will see the Indiana-Ohio football game at Indianapolis tomorrow. As a matter of state pride we are all pulling for Indiana, but we're awfully afraid our pull won't be strong enough.

Purdue has made the poorest showing this season in years.

Remember in patronizing the Friars game here this season you are also contributing to some extent to war charities. The Friar management is hoping that a goodly sum will be left at the end of the season for this purpose.

The Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver Club's indoor range will be opened Saturday night. Practices will be held three nights a week, on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and also on Saturday afternoon.

Announcement is made that the outdoor shoot for the Fred Zollars trophy, postponed from last Sunday because of unfavorable weather conditions, will be held next Sunday, providing, of course, if the weather is fit.

A workout will be given the members of the Bachelor football team tonight. They are asked to meet at Library hall.

In a fast game of basketball last night the quintet representing the General Electric apprentice school defeated the F. O. P.'s at the Olympic gymnasium by a score of 35 to 24.

In the opening game of the season the Cupids basketball team defeated the Sentinels last night at the Olympic gymnasium by a score of 26 to 8.

MARQUETTE IN HAND DRILLS.

Milwaukee, Nov. 2.—Coach Jack Ryan of Marquette university is working his men hard to get them in the best possible condition for their game with St. Thomas on Saturday. He is drilling them on breaking up the forward pass, which he expects the St. Paul aggregation to use against his huskies. His defense in Bodine and Murray against Captain Dandlet and Neiter of St. Thomas is strong, and he expects to hold these two star men. It was through these two that the St. Thomas eleven made all their gains in the last year's game in which they defeated Marquette, 26 to 7.

LOOKS IMPOSSIBLE.

Nate Lewis, manager of Charlie White, does not believe a White-Leonard match possible now that both are boxing instructors in the government service. Lewis says he does not favor Milwaukee for the battle ground and doubts New York can stage such a go, now that the boxing law is near its end. Tom Andrews was in town yesterday trying to close White's end, but would not listen to Nate's financial terms.

LEACH CROSS TO ARMY.

HOW ABOUT 1918 MANAGERS?

Two St. Louis Clubs, Pittsburg and Maybe Boston, Will Need Pilots—Who Will Get the Jobs?

Two, perhaps three, new major league managers will be selected this winter.

The St. Louis Cardinals will have a new pilot to take the place of Miller Huggins, who has gone to the Yankees.

It is likely Barney Dreyfuss will be in the market for a manager for the Pirates, as it is scarcely probable he will allow Bezdek to remain in charge.

There have been repeated rumors that Flander Jones, disappointed at the failure of the Browns to make good, will retire from baseball to look after his lumber interests in the northwest, which would create a managerial vacancy with that club.

It also has been rumored that Magnate Harry Frazee is dissatisfied with Jack Barry's work at Boston and is seeking to fill his shoes, Dick Hobitzel being prominently named for the berth. It is quite likely this rumor is unfounded.

The Cardinal job is open and although there have been many applications the names of Ira Thomas and Jimmy Sheppard have received more favorable mention than any others.

Both are smart ball players. Thomas learned most of his baseball under Connie Mack and needless to say he learned it well—that's Mack's way of doing things. At one time Thomas was considered one of the most dependable catchers in the major leagues.

Sheppard is a smart ball player of the Chance school. His managerial experience is confined to a year with Toledo in the American association.

Should Sheppard get the job and succeed he would be the first of the Cub crew who has made good in a managerial capacity since the Chance steam roller broke down in 1910.

Tinker failed both at Cincinnati and with the Chicago Feds. Chance, after leaving Chicago was a false alarm with the Yankees. Brown did not do well with the St. Louis Feds.

If the other managerial berths mentioned are open the question of why Bill Clynner isn't selected presents itself. There has been no minor league manager with such success as Clynner, who for ten years has not had a team finish worse than third.

Clynner's experience has been confined for the most part in the American association and international leagues, but the success of Clarence Rowland and Lee Fohl proves that major league experience is not absolutely essential in major league managers.

Should Sheppard get the job and succeed he would be the first of the Cub crew who has made good in a managerial capacity since the Chance steam roller broke down in 1910.

17TH BATTALION TEAM WINS SENSATIONAL GAME

Defeat Eleven Representing 343rd Truck Company by Score of 20 to 13.

(Special to The Sentinel.)
Camp Zachary Taylor, Ky., Nov. 2.—Through successful line plunges and end runs aided by three or four sensational forward passes the 17th Battalion football team, composed mostly of Fort Wayne boys, triumphed over the football team representing the 343rd Truck Co. by a score of 20 to 13, Wednesday afternoon.

The victors were outweighed ten pounds to the man and although opposing some former famous college and professional football players they pulled the game out of the fire after the opposition had gotten the jump on the boys.

In the first quarter the Truck company boys intercepted an attempted punt on the twenty yard line and were successful in making a touchdown. They also kicked goal.

It was but a few minutes afterward that the score was tied when Quarterback Blair made a sensational forward pass to Right End Fruechte, who made a dash for a touchdown. He was given good interference and after dodging two opponents crossed the line. Vesey kicked goal tying the score.

Rooters were plentiful for both sides and the game created much interest from this time on.

The Fort Wayne boys seemed to be instilled with a great bunch of pep after the first touchdown, and in the second quarter played the opposition off their feet.

Line plunges by Vesey, Weisbecker, Mensch and Blair were numerous, all for gains of four to ten yards. End runs were broken up at times but nice gains were made frequently.

Left end Adams set the pace to howling when he plucked a forward pass out of the fire for a gain of fifteen yards.

Carrying the ball from past the center of the field to within the five yard line, Vesey made the second touchdown of the game by a line plunge in which the line men for the 17th tore a big hole in the line of the opponents.

In the same quarter both lines tightened up and there were some big pile ups. The ball was carried by the 17th to within the two yard line of the Truck boys and it is here where the real battle began. On three downs the Fort Wayne boys were only able to make a gain of a yard. On the fourth down one of the opposition players was off sides and a gain of a half yard was made with four down to make the distance. Weisbecker made the plunge for the third touchdown. Blair was injured at this point of the game and was forced to retire.

WHO WILL BE REGARDED AS HOARDERS OF FOOD

No Penalty for Housewives Who Have Preserved or Have Substituted.

Indianapolis, Nov. 2.—Special pains have been taken by Dr. Harry E. Barnard, Indiana food administrator, and the Indiana State Council of Defense, to make it clear that the federal administration specifically exempts from the list of food hoarders any person who has preserved or substituted for staples during the approaching winter. Dr. Barnard's warning against the hoarding of staples is further emphasized, however, in his statement exempting the patriotic housewife from the provisions of the bill. This statement serves to answer many questions that have come to the State Council of Defense, and should serve as a guide to hundreds of Indiana housewives who have been curious and fearing imposition by unauthorized individuals and statements.

"The government encourages and never criticizes the housewife who has conserved her own supply of perishables. The rule against hoarding applies peculiarly to such staples as sugar and flour.

"If the housewife has been accustomed to purchasing sugar in five pound lots and buys by the 100 weight or if she has been accustomed to buying flour by the 24 1/2-pound sack and takes to buying by the barrel, then certainly she may be justly charged with hoarding, but not otherwise."

Directing attention to the penal clause of the new bill prohibiting hoarding, Dr. Barnard says:

"This law does not apply only to dealers in food stuffs. It says any person and it is just as much a violation of the law for a housewife to buy more sugar than she needs as it is for a wholesaler to buy canned goods or sugar for the purpose of holding them for higher prices.

"Any information as to the practice of hoarding on part of individuals or dealers should be reported to me at once. An investigation will be started promptly by the department of justice on any complaints made by retailers against wholesalers or on information supplied by individuals against individuals or dealers."

The section fixing the penalty for violation of the hoarding provision of the food control bill follows:

"That any person who wilfully hoards any necessities shall, upon conviction thereof, be fined not exceeding $5,000 or be imprisoned for not more than ten years or both. Necessaries shall be deemed to be hoarded within the meaning of this act when held, contracted for or arranged for by any person in a quantity in excess of his reasonable requirements for use or consumption by himself or his dependents for a reasonable time."

MILK SHORTAGE. Prices Not Raised by Majority of Milk Dealers, However.

Although the local milk dealers have been forced to pay an advanced rate to the farmer for milk a number of them refused to raise the retail price to 13 cents a quart. Some dairymen are getting this price but most of the dealers are still holding to the October price of 11 cents. There is a shortage of milk, however, and a number of groceries and consumers were unable to get milk Thursday. The main cause of the shortage is the fact that many farmers are selling their cream for the butter fat.

The plan is to get certain sums of money from each city to provide proper recreation for the soldiers near the army camps.

AT THE PALACE

THE HUMAN FLY.

Harry H. Gardner is an Actor as Well as Athlete.

Harry H. Gardner, the Human Fly, is an actor as well as an athlete. For this remarkable man whose scaling of towering buildings throughout the country has made him nationally famous proved himself a clever storyteller in presenting a brief sketch of his life at the Palace yesterday. He will appear at each of the performances today and tomorrow, projecting some excellent films of himself climbing huge buildings, the while he maintains a running fire of comment.

The bill itself for the last portion of the week is a whizz. Harry Langdon, one of the educated nuts of vaudeville, is presenting a bit of automobile comedy entitled "Johnny's New Car," in which some snappy small talk is indulged in and some laughable automobile comedy keeps the house in an uproar. William Morrow and company's roadside divination skit in song and joke is a nifty diversion, the audience enjoying hugely the exchange of wits between the man of the world and the "simple" country girl. Pat Barrett, a talented delineator of character songs, has a whole grist of exclusive numbers which he sings in a manner all his own. Margaretta Anderson is presenting a swiftly moving splurge of girls, frocks, songs and dances entitled "The American All Girl Revue." Hector, a truly remarkable dog with a lot of assisting canine actors, is giving a novel dog act, using practically none of the stereotyped tricks. Walsh and Bentley's acrobatic turn is neatly staged, the two athletes appearing one as a bellboy and the other as a guest at a hotel. The big man looks like Jess Willard and seems to be just about as powerful.
